Kefauver Bows Out Of Race

Nixon Could Defeat Ike, Stassen Says

Favors "Open" Party Convention He Tells National Press Group

WASHINGTON, July 31 (AP) — Harold E. Stassen, seeking to bolster his anti-Nixon campaign, today raised the specter of possible defeat for President Eisenhower if Vice President Richard M. Nixon is renominated.

Stassen told an overflow audience at a National Press Club luncheon that Nixon's name on the GOP ticket would cost Eisenhower "millions of votes" in an election that will be no "cinch."

Favors "Open" Party

While he didn't openly predict Eisenhower would lose with Nixon as his running mate, Stassen told his hearers they would have to evaluate his one-man campaign to dump Nixon in terms of his own belief that no election is ever settled until all the votes are counted.

Stassen is trying to get Gov. Christian Herter of Massachusetts nominated for vice president in place of Nixon.

Even before Stassen spoke, Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall issued a statement saying that he, like Stassen, favors an "open" party convenion. He said he hoped Stassen "or any delegate in his behalf will come before the convention to place any name in nomination for the vice presidency."

Hall had said previously he regards an Eisenhower-Nixon ticket as a certainty. Hall played a major role in getting Herter to agree to place Nixon's name in nomination before the convention, opening at San Francisco Aug. 20. Eisenhower has said he was "delighted with" Nixon's decision to run again but has not foreclosed other possible candidates.

Request Is Granted

Eisenhower granted Stassen's request yesterday for a 30-day leave as presidential assistant on disarmament. This move was tagged by many Republicans as pushing the Stassen drive out from under the White House eaves and putting it on a go-it-alone basis.

Another view being expressed here is that in granting the leave-of-absence, Eisenhower did nothing to discourage Stassen's drive.

In Boston, Herter told a news conference he knows nothing about the leave and has not been in touch with Stassen. Herter reiterated he is not a candidate but added he will do "whatever the President asks."

Chinese Reds Occupy Part Of No. Burma

RANGOON, Burma, July 31 (AP)—Military sources said tonight Chinese Communist troops have occupied about 1,000 square miles of Burma's northern territory after clashes with Burmese forces. Some casualties were reported.

Burma's government said it was "seriously concerned" about the border area developments. A Foreign Office statement, confirming reports that Red Chinese troops established outposts in northeast Burma, said the government has brought the matter to the attention of the Chinese government in Peiping.

"Negotiations are now in progress with a view to the withdrawal of these Chinese troops to the Chinese side of the border," the Foreign Office said.

Premier Ba Swe has been conferring with the inner circle of his Cabinet and with Burmese military chiefs. The executive committee of the Premier's party, the Anti - Fascist Peoples' Freedom League, were informed of a "threat to Burma's security."

Military informants said troops of the two armies now faced one another across a strip of land no wider than 200 yards at many points in the mountainous area known as the Northern Wa State, about 100 miles east of Lashio.

Accurate reports on the strength of the Chinese force were not available, but it was estimated here at not less than 500 troops. The military sources said the Chinese occupied a triangular area with a 54-mile base after penetrating as far as 60 miles beyond the frontiers of the Kachin and Wa states. Additional small forces of Red troops are reported in the Kachin states to the north of the Wa area.

Marine Sgt. Breaks Down On Stand

McKeon Relives April Death March, Weeps During Testimony

PARRIS ISLAND, S.C., July 31 (AP)—S.Sgt. Matthew C. McKeon relived from the witness stand today the April 8 death march which cost the lives of six of his recruits. The memory left him weeping, atremble, unable for a time to go on.

"Oh, my God, what have I done?" was how McKeon said he reacted at the first stunning knowledge that the six recruits had drowned as he led a night march into Ribbon Creek.

He said he took Platoon 71 into the marshy creek because "nothing else had seemed to work."

"I thought it would teach them when I told them—or anybody told them—to do something, they'd do it," said the defendant, 31, in the most sensational court-martial in Marine Corps history.

Marches Not Prohibited

McKeon said that as a drill instructor at this 5,000-acre training base, nobody ever had instructed him on whether night marches into water were prohibited.

He said he led his platoon himself because "I didn't want anything to happen to them—I always believe never to ask troops to do anything I wouldn't do."

He testified he was never above his chest in the creek waters before the tragedy. But he swore a group of Platoon 71 recruits, the drowning victims among them, wandered some 30 feet out of the line of march toward the center of the stream.

McKeon used a pointer to trace the death march on an eight-foot square model of the Ribbon Creek terrain. He was telling how he tried to save a young Negro recruit as the boy floundered wordlessly to his death in deep water.

Court Is Recessed

"This kid let go and that's the last I seen him," McKeon blurted. Then emotion choked off his voice. Tears fogged his vision. He did not sob. But his body shook violently with tension. He could obviously not go on—by so much as a single word, a single gesture. It took a court recess to restore him.

Earlier, McKeon choked up momentarily as he assured his court-martial he has slapped his 5-year-old daughter harder than he ever slapped any member of recruit Platoon 71.

McKeon called the death march similar to one he underwent as a fledgling Marine "on several occasions."

In discussing the breaches of discipline of Platoon 71, defense attorney Emile Zola Berman asked McKeon at one point:

"Fundamentally, they were not bad boys, were they?"

"They Were Good Lads"

Without pause, McKeon leveled a gaze over the crowded courtroom and said in soft tones that encompassed both the living and the dead:

"They were good lads."

McKeon is accused of manslaughter, oppression of recruits and drinking on duty in connection with the death march. He can be dishonorably discharged and imprisoned if convicted.

Before McKeon testified on the 11th day of trial testimony, Berman announced he was requesting the Marine commandant, Gen. Randolph McC. Pate, as a witness for the defense.

In a statement last May 1, Gen. Pate expressed shock at Marine practices in force at the time of the death march and called for a shakeup of training methods.

A previous defense request for the appearance of retired Gen. Lewis B. (Chesty) Puller was granted. Puller, an outspoken advocate of tough training for Marines, is due to testify by Aug. 2.

Soviet Backs Egypt Move

Britain Alerts Military, Fears Suez Violence

LONDON, July 31 (AP)—Military leaders tonight alerted Britain's armed forces to be ready for immediate action in case Egypt's nationalization of the Suez Canal produces violence.

This action came after the Soviet Union moved into the canal dispute by throwing its support behind Egypt. Russia also urged everyone to keep cool.

Armed forces at home and in the Mediterranean were alerted for action. A statement said British military positions in the eastern Mediterranean were being strengthened.

President Eisenhower urgently dispatched Secretary of State Dulles to London to participate in the key concluding period of the American-French-British talks on the canal.

Prime Minister Eden planned to inform Parliament on Thursday of Britain's position in the dispute. He moved back his speech a day in order to talk with Dulles.

Military Precautions Taken

In the present tense International atmosphere Britain's War Office issued this statement:

"Certain precautionary measures of a military nature are being taken with the object of strengthening our position in the eastern Mediterranean area and our general ability to deal with any situation that may arise."

The statement contained no elaboration. But it was understood British military forces in Cyprus and elsewhere in the Middle East were told to be watchful and ready in event of trouble.

Earlier, the Admiralty placed several British warships, including two aircraft carriers, on a ready basis. These ships, in British home waters, were being prepared to sail on a moment's notice for the Mediterranean.

The British Shipowners Trade Assn. advised its members to keep on paying their canal tolls into accounts of the old International Suez Canal Co. and not to the new national company set up by Egypt. British ships were urged to be well supplied with stores when they approached the canal. The association has been in consultation with Prime Minister Eden's government.

Make Conciliatory Moves

Egyptian authorities have said that henceforth all checks for payment of canal tolls must be made out to the new Egyptian company.

But generally, the Egyptians were making other conciliatory moves, including a promise by President Nasser to keep the canal open to traffic.

Nikita S. Khrushchev, the Soviet Communist party boss, set fourth the Soviet position on President Gamal Abel Nasser's nationalization of the 103-mile waterway in a speech broadcast from Moscow shortly before Secretary of State Dulles headed for London to take part in Western strategy talks.

Exit The Candidate

An "exit" sign over the doorway in the background is a suitable symbol as Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn) tells gathered newsmen that he is withdrawing as a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination. The Tennessee senator told the news conference he would urge his supporters to back Adlai Stevenson in the latter's bid for the convention nomination. (AP Photofax)

Asks Backing Of Stevenson At Convention

Unity Move About Cinches Adlai's Demo President Nomination

WASHINGTON, July 31 (AP)—Sen. Estes Kefauver bowed out of the presidential race today, asking his supporters to back Adlai Stevenson in the interests of Democratic party unity and victory.

This gave Stevenson such a boost that many Democrats said he has their party's presidential nomination cinched.

There also were predictions Kefauver may get the vice presidential nomination. He said today he has made no "deals."

Kefauver's unity move came at a time when the Republicans are heading into a fight over their vice presidential nomination. Until recently, the Democratic National Convention was expected to provide all the fireworks. But now Harold E. Stassen is promising to set off some at the Republican conclave with his attempt to unseat Vice President Nixon.

Announces Withdrawal

Kefauver, who had amassed the second largest block of delegate strength for the Democratic convention starting in Chicago Aug. 13, announced his withdrawal at a late afternoon news conference.

He said he was convinced "Gov. Stevenson's delegate lead is such that he could be stopped only by throwing the convention into a deadlock."

"I would not want to be a party to this," Kefauver said. He added he felt he could make "a great contribution" to party unity and Democratic victory in the November presidential election by withdrawing as a candidate.

"Victory in November is more important than the victory in August," he said.

He reiterated he is not a candidate for vice president. Asked whether he would accept second place on the ticket, he replied that involved a lot of ifs.

At a special news conference in Chicago, Stevenson said he was pleased with Kefauver's "gracious and spontaneous expression of his support."

"Sen. Kefauver has expressed the hope—which I share—that we Democrats, united by a common purpose, can soon close ranks and get on with this fateful campaign," Stevenson said.

Made No Deal Reference

The 1952 Democratic presidential nominee made no reference whatsoever to any so-called deal with Kefauver.

Gov. Averell Harriman of New York, another candidate for the nomination, declared he has no intention of following Kefauver's lead and withdrawing.

"I will not withdraw — never. The Democrats want a fighting leader and I am sure I can fill that post," he said in New York.

He claimed many of Kefauver's delegates had shifted to him rather than Stevenson.

But in St. Louis, Marl R. Holloran, a Democratic national committeeman and backer of Sen. Symington (D-Mo) for the presidential nomination, suggested it might be well for Harriman to withdraw for the sake of party unity.

U.S. Clamps Freeze Upon Egypt Assets

WASHINGTON, July 31 (AP)—The government clamped a partial freeze on Egyptian assets in this country today as Secretary of State Dulles departed suddenly for London to join Anglo-French talks on the Suez Canal crisis.

The Treasury announced it has placed under temporary licensing controls all assets of the Egyptian government and the Suez Canal Co. located in the United States.

It was a surprise move. Controls will remain in effect, the treasury said, "pending determination of the ownership of these assets and clarification of the existing situation."

Earlier in the day, apparently at the urging of Britain and France, President Eisenhower decided to have Dulles participate personally in the London conference on what to do about Egypt's seizure of the Suez Canal. The waterway is of great strategic importance to the West.

The Treasury edict was not as sweeping as Britain's action Saturday in freezing assets of the Egyptian government and of all Egypt's banks, trading companies and individuals.

Private Egyptian funds will not be affected by the American order, the Treasury said.

But the order will prevent the Egyptian government and the canal company which it now apparently controls, from spending, transferring, withdrawing or otherwise using their American assets without advance Treasury authorization.

Neither the Treasury nor the Egyptian Embassy here could furnish an immediate estimate of how much money is involved. The order covers not only cash but gold, stocks and bonds and real estate. An Egyptian spokesman said it tied up all embassy and consulate funds, as well as those for the Egyptian mission to the United Nations.

The Treasury acted under the foreign assets control law, a World War II statute which has remained in force.

Federal Jury Convicts Six Commie Leaders

NEW YORK, July 31 (AP)—A federal court jury today convicted six second-strong Communist leaders of conspiring to teach and advocate overthrow of the U.S. government by force and violence.

Each faces a possible maximum sentence of five years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

The court fixed Sept. 17 for sengencing and denied a government request that bail of the defendants be increased.

Those convicted are Alexander Trachtenberg, 72, former Communist party national committeeman; George Blake Charney, 51, acting chairman of the New York State Communist party; Sidney Stein, 40, assistant national labor secretary; Fred M. Fine, 41, public affairs secretary; William Norman, 53, executive secretary of the state party; and James E. Jackson Jr., 31, Southern regional director of the party.

More Prisoners Break Legs In Prison Revolt

BUFORD, Ga., July 31 (AP)—Five more prisoners broke their legs with 10-pound sledge hammers today in protest against working conditions at the Rock Quarry State Prison.

Today's self-maiming came after 36 prisoners smashed their legs in the same quarry yesterday.

Meanwhile, Prison Director Jack Forrester asked the legislative penitentiary committee to investigate the Buford camp to "satisfy themselves about the situation."

Forrester said the self-injuring was a "frameup" by the prisoners to do away with the quarry prison but added he has no intention of doing so.

Warden Hugh Smith said today's incident came during the 30-minute afternoon work break.

Dr. Rueben Smith, the prison physician, administered first aid. The doctor quoted the prisoners as saying "they just didn't want to work."

Smith said bone breaking has been going on several months, presumably to avoid work. He told of treating 12 to 14 men in four months for injuries from dropping rocks on the feet.

Garroway Wedding License Delayed

NEW YORK, July 31 (AP)—Television actor Dave Garroway and his fiance, pretty brunette Pamela Wilde, tried to get a marriage license today but were turned down—temporarily.

The pair did not bring blood test certificates with them, apparently unaware that they were required before a license could be issued.

Garroway, 42, and Miss Wilde, 29, returned Saturday from a five-week vacation in Europe. Previous marriages of both ended in divorce, and each has a child by the previous marriage.

Military Service Remains Compulsory

It defeated 308-240 a Labor party motion calling on the government to end the draft system by stages over a period of four years.

NAACP Fine Upheld In Court

MONTGOMERY, Ala., July 31 (AP)—An effort by the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People to suspend a $100,000 contempt of court fine while it seeks a review was turned down today by the Alabama Supreme Court.

NAACP attorneys asked the court to suspend the fine, which was put into effect by Circuit Judge Walter B. Jones for the NAACP's refusal to hand over a list of its Alabama members.

The Supreme Court said it did not feel justified in interferring with Jones' order.

The NAACP lawyers said they would file a request for the Supreme Court to take over the contempt records and review them as soon as possible. They had until Aug. 24, 30 days from the day Jones assessed the fine last Wednesday.

Filing of a writ with the Supreme Court itself would stay execution of the fine. The attorneys asked for the temporary stay today, they said, to freeze the fine while they are drawing up the writ.

Steel Workers Await Pact

NEW YORK, July 31 (AP)—Some 650,000 striking steelworkers waited today to return to work while negotiators for the union and 39 companies struggled over details of new contracts.

The industry and the United Steelworkers of America (USW) reached basic agreement last week on settling the month-old strike, but work will resume only when contracts have been signed.

Representatives of the companies and the union, in separate meetings in the Hotel Roosevelt, were trying to reach contractual language agreeable to both sides.

Negotiators for Bethlehem Steel Co. and the union were among those who met after an earlier report—and denial—that a rift had developed between them.

Presidents of four union locals had said in Allentown, Pa., the union was unable to reach agreement with the company.

The master agreement reached by the union and industry Friday calls for a three year contract with wage increases and other benefits.

Mother, Baby Escape Arab Terror In Broken Marriage

ROME, July 31 (AP) — A young California mother and her baby escaped to Rome from Baghdad today — fugitive from a broken marriage. She reported a Moslem court had tried to keep the child under its control, and that a U.S. official who tried to protect her was slugged by an Arab crowd.

She is Mrs. Helen Subbagh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Johnstone of Palo Alto, Calif. Reporting to the U. S. consulate here, she was virtually penniless, with only the clothes she and her 22-month-old son were wearing.

Mrs. Subbagh said her flight from Iraq was made possible by U. S. Vice Consul James May, a fellow Californian. She gave these details:

She was working as an airline accountant in Seattle in 1953 when she fell in love with Abdul Jebbar Subbagh, an Iraqui student at the College of Pudget Sound. They were married the same year and 10 months ago moved back to Baghdad, where the groom's wealthy parents live.

"When we reached Iraq, my husband changed completely. I found myself in an Arab world, expected to live like an Arab," Mrs. Subbagh said.

She told consular officers of what she described as repeated physical mistreatment.

"If I had been treated the way women are in America, it would have been okay," she said. "But Abdul seemed afraid of what other Arabs would think if I was treated that way."

The U. S. consulate in Baghdad stepped in Thursday after Mrs. Subbagh reported there in panic and formally charged her husband had shown her a revolver and said "I have three bullets — one for you, one for the baby and one for me."

Urge UN Group Study Suez Problem

NEW YORK, July 31 (AP)— The American Assn. for the United Nations today urged the creation ot a U.N. commission to administer the Suez Canal and other strategic waterways.

Truman Remains "Neutral" In Race

KANSAS CITY, July 31 (AP)—"It does not change my position of neutrality," former President Harry S. Truman said today of Sen. Estes Kefauver's withdrawal from the race for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Truman has refrained from expressing any preference in the race.

"If the senator from Tennessee felt that he didn't have a chance and felt he had to get out," Truman said, "that is his business. He has the right to do whatever he wants."

Bobo Leaves For New York Trip

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., July 31 (AP)—Mrs. Barbara (Bobo) Rockefeller left here today—apparently on a trip to New York City—as she pondered the next step in her rekindled feud with ex-husband Winthrop Rockefeller.

Mrs. Rockefeller left here accompanied by her attorney, a nurse and friends, but she refused to give her destination. A hotel employe said the group had gone to New York City.

Airman Arrested For Leak On H-Bomb Explosion Miss

WASHINGTON, July 31 (AP)—The Air Force arrested a 21-year-old airman today at Eniwetok for allegedly leaking confidential information that the H-bomb dropped at Bikini May 21 missed its target.

The Air Force, making the announcement here, said Airman Jackson H. Kilgore, Meadowview, Va., had admitted giving the information. It said the youth was being held on a preliminary, general, charge that he revealed classified information.

In the little Virginia town where Kilgore was graduated from high school, the youth was described as a good student. A former principal, T. C. Harrison, described Kilgore as "an average boy who never gave anybody any trouble." He lived on a small farm and was raised by his mother, who is divorced.

Secretary of the Air Force Quarles on June 16 acknowledged that the big bomb dropped by a B52 missed its intended target in the Pacific by "somewhat less" thar four miles. He said the miss was due to a "human error" in the manipulation of bombing equipment.

Quarles made his statement to a reporter the day after the Honolulu Star Bulletin published a story quoting a "technician based at Eniwetok" but then in Honolulu as saying the H-bomb missed the target islet of Namu in the Bikini atoll by seven miles.

The Air Force said Kilgore was arrested after completion of an investigation into published reports on June 15 that an unidentified nuclear test technician had told civilians that the bomb had missed its target.

The Air Force conducted an investigation in Honolulu and returned Kilgore to Eniwetok. He was a helicopter mechanic assigned to the recently completed nuclear tests.

Kilgore will be held in custody at Eniwetok, the Air Force said. The Air Force commander there will conduct a pretrial investigation to determine the nature of charges and whether they will warrant a formal trial by court-martial.

Marine Sgt. Breaks Down On Stand

McKeon Relives April Death March, Weeps During Testimony

PARRIS ISLAND, S.C., July 31 (AP)—S.Sgt. Matthew C. McKeon relived from the witness stand today the April 8 death march which cost the lives of six of his recruits. The memory left him weeping, atremble, unable for a time to go on.

In discussing the breaches of discipline of Platoon 71, defense attorney Emile Zola Berman asked McKeon at one point:

"Fundamentally, they were not bad boys, were they?"

"They Were Good Lads"

Without pause, McKeon leveled a gaze over the crowded courtroom and said in soft tones that encompassed both the living and the dead:

"They were good lads."

McKeon is accused of manslaughter, oppression of recruits and drinking on duty in connection with the death march. He can be dishonorably discharged and imprisoned if convicted.

Before McKeon testified on the 11th day of trial testimony, Berman announced he was requesting the Marine commandant, Gen. Randolph McC. Pate, as a witness for the defense.

In a statement last May 1, Gen. Pate expressed shock at Marine practices in force at the time of the death march and called for a shakeup of training methods.

A previous defense request for the appearance of retired Gen. Lewis B. (Chesty) Puller was granted. Puller, an outspoken advocate of tough training for Marines, is due to testify by Aug. 2.

Urge UN Group Study Suez Problem

NEW YORK, July 31 (AP)— The American Assn. for the United Nations today urged the creation of a U.N. commission to administer the Suez Canal and other strategic waterways.

The private foreign policy group announced that it had called its plan to the attention of Secretary of State Dulles, U.S. Chief Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. and Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold.

Dinosaur Bones Found

MEXICO CITY, July 31 (AP)—The National University said today bones of a dinosaur almost 100 feet long have been found near Cofradia, a village in the west coast state of Sinaloa.

Soviet Backs Egypt Move

Britain Alerts Military, Fears Suez Violence

LONDON, July 31 (AP)—Military leaders tonight alerted Britain's armed forces to be ready for immediate action in case Egypt's nationalization of the Suez Canal produces violence.

This action came after the Soviet Union moved into the canal dispute by throwing its support behind Egypt. Russia also urged everyone to keep cool.

Armed forces at home and in the Mediterranean were alerted for action. A statement said British military positions in the eastern Mediterranean were being strengthened.

President Eisenhower urgently dispatched Secretary of State Dulles to London to participate in the key concluding period of the American-French-British talks on the canal.

Prime Minister Eden planned to inform Parliament on Thursday of Britain's position in the dispute. He moved back his speech a day in order to talk with Dulles.

Military Precautions Taken

In the present tense International atmosphere Britain's War Office issued this statement:

"Certain precautionary measures of a military nature are being taken with the object of strengthening our position in the eastern Mediterranean area and our general ability to deal with any situation that may arise."

The statement contained no elaboration. But it was understood British military forces in Cyprus and elsewhere in the Middle East were told to be watchful and ready in event of trouble.

Earlier, the Admiralty placed several British warships, including two aircraft carriers, on a ready basis. These ships, in British home waters, were being prepared to sail on a moment's notice for the Mediterranean.

The British Shipowners Trade Assn. advised its members to keep on paying their canal tolls into accounts of the old International Suez Canal Co. and not to the new national company set up by Egypt. British ships were urged to be well supplied with stores when they approached the canal. The association has been in consultation with Prime Minister Eden's government.

Make Conciliatory Moves

Egyptian authorities have said that henceforth all checks for payment of canal tolls must be made out to the new Egyptian company.

But generally, the Egyptians were making other conciliatory moves, including a promise by President Nasser to keep the canal open to traffic.

Nikita S. Khrushchev, the Soviet Communist party boss, set fourth the Soviet position on President Gamal Abel Nasser's nationalization of the 103-mile waterway in a speech broadcast from Moscow shortly before Secretary of State Dulles headed for London to take part in Western strategy talks.

NAACP Fine Upheld In Court

MONTGOMERY, Ala., July 31 (AP)—An effort by the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People to suspend a $100,000 contempt of court fine while it seeks a review was turned down today by the Alabama Supreme Court.

NAACP attorneys asked the court to suspend the fine, which was put into effect by Circuit Judge Walter B. Jones for the NAACP's refusal to hand over a list of its Alabama members.

The Supreme Court said it did not feel justified in interferring with Jones' order.

The NAACP lawyers said they would file a request for the Supreme Court to take over the contempt records and review them as soon as possible. They had until Aug. 24, 30 days from the day Jones assessed the fine last Wednesday.

Filing of a writ with the Supreme Court itself would stay execution of the fine. The attorneys asked for the temporary stay today, they said, to freeze the fine while they are drawing up the writ.

Wanda Heading For Okinawa

NAHA, Okinawa, Wednesday, Aug. 1 (AP)—Typhoon Wanda was reported early today heading closer to this U.S.-base island. Winds with gusts up to 80 miles an hour were felt on Okinawa. Service personnel were ordered indoors. Little damage was reported.

Exit The Candidate

An "exit" sign over the doorway in the background is a suitable symbol as Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn) tells gathered newsmen that he is withdrawing as a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination. The Tennessee senator told the news conference he would urge his supporters to back Adlai Stevenson in the latter's bid for the convention nomination. (AP Photofax)

U.S. Clamps Freeze Upon Egypt Assets

WASHINGTON, July 31 (AP)—The government clamped a partial freeze on Egyptian assets in this country today as Secretary of State Dulles departed suddenly for London to join Anglo-French talks on the Suez Canal crisis.

The Treasury announced it has placed under temporary licensing controls all assets of the Egyptian government and the Suez Canal Co. located in the United States.

It was a surprise move. Controls will remain in effect, the treasury said, "pending determination of the ownership of these assets and clarification of the existing situation."

Earlier in the day, apparently at the urging of Britain and France, President Eisenhower decided to have Dulles participate personally in the London conference on what to do about Egypt's seizure of the Suez Canal. The waterway is of great strategic importance to the West.

The Treasury edict was not as sweeping as Britain's action Saturday in freezing assets of the Egyptian government and of all Egypt's banks, trading companies and individuals.

Private Egyptian funds will not be affected by the American order, the Treasury said.

But the order will prevent the Egyptian government and the canal company which it now apparently controls, from spending, transferring, withdrawing or otherwise using their American assets without advance Treasury authorization.

Neither the Treasury nor the Egyptian Embassy here could furnish an immediate estimate of how much money is involved. The order covers not only cash but gold, stocks and bonds and real estate. An Egyptian spokesman said it tied up all embassy and consulate funds, as well as those for the Egyptian mission to the United Nations.

The Treasury acted under the foreign assets control law, a World War II statute which has remained in force.

Truman Remains "Neutral" In Race

KANSAS CITY, July 31 (AP)—"It does not change my position of neutrality," former President Harry S. Truman said today of Sen. Estes Kefauver's withdrawal from the race for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Truman has refrained from expressing any preference in the race.

"If the senator from Tennessee felt that he didn't have a chance and felt he had to get out," Truman said, "that is his business. He has the right to do whatever he wants."

Federal Jury Convicts Six Commie Leaders

NEW YORK, July 31 (AP)—A federal court jury today convicted six second-strong Communist leaders of conspiring to teach and advocate overthrow of the U.S. government by force and violence.

Each faces a possible maximum sentence of five years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

The court fixed Sept. 17 for sengencing and denied a government request that bail of the defendants be increased.

Steel Workers Await Pact

NEW YORK, July 31 (AP) —Some 650,000 striking steelworkers waited today to return to work while negotiators for the union and 39 companies struggled over details of new contracts.

The industry and the United Steelworkers of America (USW) reached basic agreement last week on settling the month-old strike, but work will resume only when contracts have been signed.

Representatives of the companies and the union, in separate meetings in the Hotel Roosevelt, were trying to reach contractual language agreeable to both sides.

Negotiators for Bethlehem Steel Co. and the union were among those who met after an earlier report—and denial—that a rift had developed between them.

Presidents of four union locals had said in Allentown, Pa., the union was unable to reach agreement with the company.

The master agreement reached by the union and industry Friday calls for a three year contract with wage increases and other benefits.

Bobo Leaves For New York Trip

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., July 31 (AP) —Mrs. Barbara (Bobo) Rockefeller left here today—apparently on a trip to New York City—as she pondered the next step in her rekindled feud with ex-husband Winthrop Rockefeller.

Mrs. Rockefeller left here accompanied by her attorney, a nurse and friends, but she refused to give her destination. A hotel employe said the group had gone to New York City.

More Prisoners Break Legs In Prison Revolt

BUFORD, Ga., July 31 (AP)—Five more prisoners broke their legs with 10-pound sledge hammers today in protest against working conditions at the Rock Quarry State Prison.

Today's self-maiming came after 36 prisoners smashed their legs in the same quarry yesterday.

Meanwhile, Prison Director Jack Forrester asked the legislative penitentiary committee to investigate the Buford camp to "satisfy themselves about the situation."

Forrester said the self-injuring was a "frameup" by the prisoners to do away with the quarry prison but added he has no intention of doing so.

Warden Hugh Smith said today's incident came during the 30-minute afternoon work break.

Dr. Rueben Smith, the prison physician, administered first aid. The doctor quoted the prisoners as saying "they just didn't want to work."

Smith said bone breaking has been going on several months, presumably to avoid work. He told of treating 12 to 14 men in four months for injuries from dropping rocks on the feet.

Asks Backing Of Stevenson At Convention

Unity Move About Cinches Adlai's Demo President Nomination

WASHINGTON, July 31 (AP)—Sen. Estes Kefauver bowed out of the presidential race today, asking his supporters to back Adlai Stevenson in the interests of Democratic party unity and victory.

This gave Stevenson such a boost that many Democrats said he has their party's presidential nomination cinched.

There also were predictions Kefauver may get the vice presidential nomination. He said today he has made no "deals."

Kefauver's unity move came at a time when the Republicans are heading into a fight over their vice presidential nomination. Until recently, the Democratic National Convention was expected to provide all the fireworks. But now Harold E. Stassen is promising to set off some at the Republican conclave with his attempt to unseat Vice President Nixon.

Announces Withdrawal

Kefauver, who had amassed the second largest block of delegate strength for the Democratic convention starting in Chicago Aug. 13, announced his withdrawal at a late afternoon news conference.

He said he was convinced "Gov. Stevenson's delegate lead is such that he could be stopped only by throwing the convention into a deadlock."

"I would not want to be a party to this," Kefauver said. He added he felt he could make "a great contribution" to party unity and Democratic victory in the November presidential election by withdrawing as a candidate.

"Victory in November is more important than the victory in August," he said.

He reiterated he is not a candidate for vice president. Asked whether he would accept second place on the ticket, he replied that involved a lot of ifs.

At a special news conference in Chicago, Stevenson said he was pleased with Kefauver's "gracious and spontaneous expression of his support."

"Sen. Kefauver has expressed the hope—which I share—that we Democrats, united by a common purpose, can soon close ranks and get on with this fateful campaign," Stevenson said.

Made No Deal Reference

The 1952 Democratic presidential nominee made no reference whatsoever to any so-called deal with Kefauver.

Gov. Averell Harriman of New York, another candidate for the nomination, declared he has no intention of following Kefauver's lead and withdrawing.

"I will not withdraw — never. The Democrats want a fighting leader and I am sure I can fill that post," he said in New York.

He claimed many of Kefauver's delegates had shifted to him rather than Stevenson.

But in St. Louis, Marl R. Holloran, a Democratic national committeeman and backer of Sen. Symington (D-Mo) for the presidential nomination, suggested it might be well for Harriman to withdraw for the sake of party unity.

Airman Arrested For Leak On H-Bomb Explosion Miss

WASHINGTON, July 31 (AP)—The Air Force arrested a 21-year-old airman today at Eniwetok for allegedly leaking confidential information that the H-bomb dropped at Bikini May 21 missed its target.

The Air Force, making the announcement here, said Airman Jackson H. Kilgore, Meadowview, Va., had admitted giving the information. It said the youth was being held on a preliminary, general, charge that he revealed classified information.

In the little Virginia town where Kilgore was graduated from high school, the youth was described as a good student. A former principal, T. C. Harrison, described Kilgore as "an average boy who never gave anybody any trouble." He lived on a small farm and was raised by his mother, who is divorced.

Secretary of the Air Force Quarles on June 16 acknowledged that the big bomb dropped by a B52 missed its intended target in the Pacific by "somewhat less" than four miles. He said the miss was due to a "human error" in the manipulation of bombing equipment.

Quarles made his statement to a reporter the day after the Honolulu Star Bulletin published a story quoting a "technician based at Eniwetok" but then in Honolulu as saying the H-bomb missed the target islet of Namu in the Bikini atoll by seven miles.

The Air Force said Kilgore was arrested after completion of an investigation into published reports on June 15 that an unidentified nuclear test technician had told civilians that the bomb had missed its target.

The Air Force conducted an investigation in Honolulu and returned Kilgore to Eniwetok. He was a helicopter mechanic assigned to the recently completed nuclear tests.

Kilgore will be held in custody at Eniwetok, the Air Force said. The Air Force commander there will conduct a pretrial investigation to determine the nature of charges and whether they will warrant a formal trial by court-martial.

Maryland Demo Votes Released

BALTIMORE, July 31 (AP)—Maryland's 18 votes slipped into the "uncommitted" column today when Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) withdrew from the Democratic presidential race.

Norman P. Ramsey, deputy attorney general, said the Tennessee senator's withdrawal released Maryland delegates from their legal commitment to support him on at least the first ballot in Chicago at the national party convention.

Kefauver drew 112,668 votes in the State's presidential primary last May 7. No one else was on the ballot, but 58,342 Democrats voted in favor of sending the delegation to Chicago without instructions.

State law requires the delegates to vote for the primary winner as long as, in "their conscientious judgment," he has a chance to win the nomination.

Ramsey said Kefauver's withdrawal means the Marylanders now are not required to go through the formality of voting for him on even the first ballot.

An informal poll of the delegation last month showed a majority of its members were Stevenson supporters and planned to switch to him on the second ballot.

However, leaders of the delegation said after Kefauver's withdrawal announcement there will be no delegation caucus until Aug. 12, the eve of the convention, in Chicago.

Harriman Mails Records To Delegates

NEW YORK, July 31 (AP) — A phonograph record by Gov. Averell Harriman has been mailed to each of the delegates and alternates who will attend the Democratic National Convention. The Harriman-for-President headquarters here began mailing out the records about 10 days ago.

Expressing hope of meeting the delegates at the Chicago convention starting Aug. 13, Harriman said in the record that he is "absolutely sure" the Democrats can win if they present "a genuine alternative to Eisenhower" and wage a fighting campaign.

Segregation Injunction Is Granted In Va.

ALEXANDRIA, Va., July 31 (AP)—Federal Judge Albert V. Bryan today granted an injunction restraining Arlington County from practicing racial discrimination in enrolling pupils in public schools.

Judge Bryan directed that his District Court injunction become effective Jan. 31, 1957 in respect to elementary schools and in junior and senior high schools at the beginning of the 1957-58 school term.

It was the second ruling in Virginia against segregation in schools. The State's legal arguments were turned down recently in a ruling from Charlottesville Federal Court.

Judge Bryan's ruling, coming on top of the Charlottesville case, gave the segregation-integration controversy in Virginia new urgency.

Gov. Thomas B. Stanley and other State leaders are on record in recent statements against integration anywhere in Virginia and Stanley has called a special legislative session to deal with the subject starting Aug. 27. His proposals include a recommendation the State be authorized—if necessary—to cut off money to any school district.

The injunction restrains the Arlington County School Board — after the edict becomes effective—"from refusing on account of race or color to admit to, or enroll or educate in, any school under their operation, control, direction, or supervision any child otherwise qualified for admission to, and enrollment and education in such school."

Judge Bryan stipulated that the injunction is not to be construed as "nullifying any State or local rules, now in force or hereafter promulgated, for the assignment of children to classes, courses of study or schools so long as such rules or assignments are not based upon race or color."

AFTER LONG CONFERENCE — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, fresh from an unusually long conference with President Eisenhower on the Suez Canal crisis, walks past questioning reporters as he leaves the White House following the hour-and-a-half meeting with the chief executive. Radford Claims Tendency To Underrate Reds Power

WASHINGTON, July 31 (AP) — Adm. Arthur W. Radford says there is a marked tendency in this country to overestimate the airpower, missiles and other military strength of the Communists.

Radford, who holds the top military position as chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, gave this testimony before the Senate's Airpower Investigating subcommittee.

"There is good reason to believe that we normally overestimate the Communist capabilities in almost every respect," Radford said in closed door testimony made public by the subcommittee today after screening by the Pentagon. Radford testified June 21.

"I think we are in a dangerous position vis-a-vis the Communists in that respect today, because there has been an almost hysterical assumption of great capabilities on the part of the Communists, some of which, in my opinion, actually do not exist," he said.

Radford, chief military adviser to President Eisenhower and Secretary of Defense Wilson, stoutly defended the administration's defense policies.

He disagreed sharply with Sen. Symington (D-Mo), chairman of the Senate group investigating relative U.S. and Soviet airpower, and other Democrats who have been urging crash programs for stepping up production of the jet B52 bombers and long-range missiles.

Radford said new equipment would not bring the proper returns if there weren't qualified persons to operate them.

Instead of pouring more billions into additional B52 long-range jet bombers, Radford said "I would urge the Air Force to come up with a better airplane and I don't care whether it is medium or heavy (bomber)."

Radford said that Gen. Nathan F. Twining, top Air Force officer, "has told me that they (B52s) could not be assimilated into the Air Force at any faster rate than they are getting them today. That is partly on account of personnel problems."

Radford testified that new atomic and nuclear weapons will bring revisions in all the major services—Air Force, Navy and Army.

"We are moving with our atomic weapons capability toward a more powerful deterrent with smaller forces," Radford told the Senate group.

Truck Strikes Store, One Dead

POINT MARION, Pa. (AP) — The cashier was killed and six other persons injured, two perhaps seriously, when a runaway tractor-trailer crashed through the front of a grocery store here today.

The cashier, identified as Miss Dora Ross, 58, died at 1:30 p. m. in Vincent Pallotti Hospital, Morgantown, W. Va., 12 miles from Point Marion.

Police Chief William Moser of Point Marion said the tractor-trailer was pulling a similar vehicle which had been junked. It was driven by Robert Powell of Greensburg, Pa.

The chief quoted Powell that he was approaching Point Marion from the direction of Morgantown on U. S. 119 and as he started down the steep incline into town, his brakes failed.

Powell was quoted that he started to turn into an alley but some boys were playing there. He straightened out again, tried to make a curve and crashed through the front of Ross Brothers Grocery on Penn St.

The front of the ponderous truck went through the plate glass window and ran over the cashier's booth. Miss Ross, a sister of the store's owners, was directly in the truck's path.

Among those hurt was an 11-year-old boy, Paul Handley of Point Marion, who was found pinned underneath the truck but may not have been seriously hurt.

Mrs. Zella Weaver of Smithfield, Pa., was hospitalized for a possible skull fracture.

AEC Predicts Harnessing Of H-Bomb Near

WASHINGTON, July 31 (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission today predicted eventual success in harnessing the hydrogen bomb reaction for peaceful purposes. And it said such nuclear power plants promise to be "extremely safe."

In its semiannual report, the AEC spoke of research looking to a method of controlled thermonuclear energy—taming the furious force now used in the world's mightiest weapons. It said this research, now being conducted at five laboratories, "certainly is on a very long-term basis, but it is probable that success will be achieved eventually."

The thermonuclear process involves fusion of atomic materials. Present-day atomic power plants are based on fission, or splitting, of atoms.

The report, covering the first half of this year, also said that:

1. The United States' "family of weapons in various stages of research, development, and production engineering, is increasing rapidly."

2. In the 1956 series of full-scale teyts of fission and fusion weapons at the Eniwetok proving grounds in the central Pacific there was "testing of devices leading toward development of defensive weapons, as well as testing of thermonuclear devices to verify the state of understanding of these weapons." The reference, otherwise unexplained, seemed to mean that the AEC had tried out, among other things, an atomic antiaircraft missile.

3. The United States is now "the free world's leading producer" of uranium ore and concentrates. Ore production in this country has reached nearly three million tons a year and is expected to mount to five or six million a year. This compares with the annual production in 1948 of only about 70,000 tons.

Spreading Fire Kills 12 In Home

PUXICO, Mo., July 31 (AP)— A rapidly spreading fire that apparently caught everyone asleep converted a nursing home into a blazing furnace last night and killed 12 persons. Only one occupant escaped.

Authorities expressed belief the fire might have started when a smouldering cigarette fell onto a sofa on the first floor of the old three-story frame building, once a residence.

Mrs. Charity Frederick, 77, a mental patient from nearby Poplar Bluff, was the only survivor. She was dragged to safety by two men who climbed to the front porch roof and smashed a window of her second floor room in the only portion of the building not in flames.

All of the dead were from Puxico or nearby towns in southeast Missouri. This town of 750 is 160 miles south of St. Louis.

Burns Appears Secure In UN Post For Awhile

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., July 31 (AP)—Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, U.N. truce supervisor in Palestine whom Jordan wants to oust, seems secure in his job for at least five more months.

U.N. sources said today Burns' contract, due to expire Aug. 31, was extended recently until the end of the year. Burns, a Canadian, took over the post Aug. 3, 1954.

The informants said the extension—negotiated before a Jordan Defense Ministry spokesman announced yesterday Jordan would ask the U.N. to replace Burns on ground of bias in favor of Israel—edmonstrated U.N. confidence in Burns and that there has been no change in this confidence.

An Arab source here said Jordan was not finding support from other Arab states for the ouster move.

Aluminum Pact Heads Confer

NEW YORK, July 31 (AP)—Union negotiators and officials of the nation's two largest aluminum producers conferred today over a new labor contract as a midnight strike deadline neared.

The Aluminum Co. of America and the Reynolds Metals Co. met here with representatives of the United Steelworkers of America. The Aluminum Workers International Union negotiated with Alcoa in Pittsburgh and with Reynolds in Richmond, Va.

As they negotiated, company spokesmen said the two companies were removing metal from smelting pots and stacking it in pig form in preparation for a possible shutdown of operations. They turn out 75 per cent of the nation's aluminum.

Should there be a strike 44,500 workers would be idled. Of these 28,000 are USW members. The others belong to the Aluminum Workers.

U.S. Steel Earnings Up

NEW YORK, July 31 (AP) — United States Steel Corp. today reported record earnings for the first six months of 1956 and record shipments of steel during the same period.

The company, preparing to resume operations after the month-long steel strike, expects to get back close to full capacity within two weeks after workers are on their jobs.

In the second quarter which ended just before the strike began, the company operated at 89.4 per cent of capacity. Its production for the first six months totaled 18,324,172 net tons, a record for any year's first half.

Earnings for the first half were $208,550,441 or $3.66 a share. Previous record six months earnings were $192,319,665 or $3.35 a share in the last half of 1955.

Shipments for the second quarter totaled 6,742,937 net tons and for the first six months of the year were 13,585,054 tons. The previous six months record was 12,834,336 tons shipped in the first half of 1955.

The company's earnings and operating results were given after a board of directors meeting at which a dividend of 65 cents a share on common was declared.

Chandler Feels Chances Strengthened

FRANKFORT, Ky., July 31 (AP)—Gov. A. B. Chandler said today he felt his hand had been strengthened in the Democratic presidential nomination race by the withdrawal of Sen. Estes Kefauver.

Chandler told a press conference he expected to pick up many of Kefauver's pledged delegates and had been assured of some by telephone since the senator's announcement.

"This definitely moves me up into a better position," the governor said. "For one thing, it makes me one of three candidates instead of one of four."

The governor said one of Kefauver's "most important political leaders" was among the telephone callers. He declined to identify the man by name but said he agreed to meet Chandler at his headquarters in Chicago.

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, July 31 (AP)—Argentina today proposed that Brazil and Uruguay join her in a defense pact for the South Atlantic area of the Western Hemisphere.

Weather Bureau Orders 39 New Radar Machines

WASHINGTON, July 31 (AP)—The Weather Bureau today ordered 39 new tailor-made radars to be used in detecting hurricanes, tornadoes and other dangerous storms up to 250 miles away.

The new sets, to be delivered beginning early in 1958, in a sense will serve as electronic Paul Reveres. They are expected to provide weather observers with means of sounding storm warnings that may reduce the toll of lives and damage.

Their range will be perhaps 100 miles or more greater than small, obsolete sets now in use.

The stations will be set up at sites to be selected along the hurricane areas of the Gulf and Atlantic Coast and inland in the tornado belts.

Tibetan Tribes Massacre Many Hundred Chinese

KATMANDU, Nepal, July 31 (AP)—Reports from Tibet said today rebel Tibetan tribesmen massacred a delegation of several hundred Chinese Communists after peace talks broke up in a quarrel.

Usually reliable sources said the Communists were trying to reach a negotiated peace with warlike Himalayan tribesmen after tanks and aerial bombardment had failed to subdue them. The rebels were reported to have agreed to talk only if the Chinese came to the parley unarmed.

The reports said six rebel strongholds are holding out in the mountainous region southeast of Lhasa, the capital. There have been reports of rebellion against Chinese Communist occupiers of Tibet since last April.

Maryland Demo Votes Released

BALTIMORE, July 31 (AP)—Maryland's 18 votes slipped into the "uncommitted" column today when Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) withdrew from the Democratic presidential race.

Norman P. Ramsey, deputy attorney general, said the Tennessee senator's withdrawal released Maryland delegates from their legal commitment to support him on at least the first ballot in Chicago at the national party convention.

Kefauver drew 112,668 votes in the State's presidential primary last May 7. No one else was on the ballot, but 58,342 Democrats voted in favor of sending the delegation to Chicago without instructions.

State law requires the delegates to vote for the primary winner as long as, in "their conscientious judgment," he has a chance to win the nomination.

Ramsey said Kefauver's withdrawal means the Marylanders now are not required to go through the formality of voting for him on even the first ballot.

An informal poll of the delegation last month showed a majority of its members were Stevenson supporters and planned to switch to him on the second ballot.

However, leaders of the delegation said after Kefauver's withdrawal announcement there will be no delegation caucus until Aug. 12, the eve of the convention, in Chicago.

Harriman Mails Records To Delegates

NEW YORK, July 31 (AP) — A phonograph record by Gov. Averell Harriman has been mailed to each of the delegates and alternates who will attend the Democratic National Convention. The Harriman-for-President headquarters here began mailing out the records about 10 days ago.

Expressing hope of meeting the delegates at the Chicago convention starting Aug. 13, Harriman said in the record that he is "absolutely sure" the Democrats can win if they present "a genuine alternative to Eisenhower" and wage a fighting campaign.

Segregation Injunction Is Granted In Va.

ALEXANDRIA, Va., July 31 (AP)—Federal Judge Albert V. Bryan today granted an injunction restraining Arlington County from practicing racial discrimination in enrolling pupils in public schools.

Judge Bryan directed that his District Court injunction become effective Jan. 31, 1957 in respect to elementary schools and in junior and senior high schools at the beginning of the 1957-58 school term.

It was the second ruling in Virginia against segregation in schools. The State's legal arguments were turned down recently in a ruling from Charlottesville Federal Court.

Judge Bryan's ruling, coming on top of the Charlottesville case, gave the segregation-integration controversy in Virginia new urgency.

Gov. Thomas B. Stanley and other State leaders are on record in recent statements against integration anywhere in Virginia and Stanley has called a special legislative session to deal with the subject starting Aug. 27. His proposals include a recommendation the State be authorized—if necessary—to cut off money to any school district.

The injunction restrains the Arlington County School Board — after the edict becomes effective—"from refusing on account of race or color to admit to, or enroll or educate in, any school under their operation, control, direction, or supervision any child otherwise qualified for admission to, and enrollment and education in such school."

Judge Bryan stipulated that the injunction is not to be construed as "nullifying any State or local rules, now in force or hereafter promulgated, for the assignment of children to classes, courses of study or schools so long as such rules or assignments are not based upon race or color."

AFTER LONG CONFERENCE — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, fresh from an unusually long conference with President Eisenhower on the Suez Canal crisis, walks past questioning reporters as he leaves the White House following the hour-and-a-half meeting with the chief executive. Dulles left soon afterwards for London to confer with French and British leaders on developments in the Egyptian move. (AP Photofax)

Radford Claims Tendency To Underrate Reds Power

WASHINGTON, July 31 (AP) — Adm. Arthur W. Radford says there is a marked tendency in this country to overestimate the airpower, missiles and other military strength of the Communists.

Radford, who holds the top military position as chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, gave this testimony before the Senate's Airpower Investigating subcommittee.

"There is good reason to believe that we normally overestimate the Communist capabilities in almost every respect," Radford said in closed door testimony made public by the subcommittee today after screening by the Pentagon. Radford testified June 21.

"I think we are in a dangerous position vis-a-vis the Communists in that respect today, because there has been an almost hysterical assumption of great capabilities on the part of the Communists, some of which, in my opinion, actually do not exist," he said.

Radford, chief military adviser to President Eisenhower and Secretary of Defense Wilson, stoutly defended the administration's defense policies.

He disagreed sharply with Sen. Symington (D-Mo), chairman of the Senate group investigating relative U.S. and Soviet airpower, and other Democrats who have been urging crash programs for stepping up production of the jet B52 bombers and long-range missiles.

Radford said new equipment would not bring the proper returns if there weren't qualified persons to operate them.

Instead of pouring more billions into additional B52 long-range jet bombers, Radford said "I would urge the Air Force to come up with a better airplane and I don't care whether it is medium or heavy (bomber)."

Radford said that Gen. Nathan F. Twining, top Air Force officer, "has told me that they (B52s) could not be assimilated into the Air Force at any faster rate than they are getting them today. That is partly on account of personnel problems."

Radford testified that new atomic and nuclear weapons will bring revisions in all the major services—Air Force, Navy and Army.

"We are moving with our atomic weapons capability toward a more powerful deterrent with smaller forces," Radford told the Senate group.

Truck Strikes Store, One Dead

POINT MARION, Pa. (AP) — The cashier was killed and six other persons injured, two perhaps seriously, when a runaway tractor-trailer crashed through the front of a grocery store here today.

The cashier, identified as Miss Dora Ross, 58, died at 1:30 p. m. in Vincent Pallotti Hospital, Morgantown, W. Va., 12 miles from Point Marion.

Police Chief William Moser of Point Marion said the tractor-trailer was pulling a similar vehicle which had been junked. It was driven by Robert Powell of Greensburg, Pa.

The chief quoted Powell that he was approaching Point Marion from the direction of Morgantown on U. S. 119 and as he started down the steep incline into town, his brakes failed.

Powell was quoted that he started to turn into an alley but some boys were playing there. He straightened out again, tried to make a curve and crashed through the front of Ross Brothers Grocery on Penn St.

The front of the ponderous truck went through the plate glass window and ran over the cashier's booth. Miss Ross, a sister of the store's owners, was directly in the truck's path.

Among those hurt was an 11-year-old boy, Paul Handley of Point Marion, who was found pinned underneath the truck but may not have been seriously hurt.

Mrs. Zella Weaver of Smithfield, Pa., was hospitalized for a possible skull fracture.

Sails For Visit

NAPLES, Italy, July 31 (AP) — Former Premier Amintore Fanfani, secretary general of the Christian Democrat party, sailed today for a 20-day visit to the United States.

AEC Predicts Harnessing Of H-Bomb Near

WASHINGTON, July 31 (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission today predicted eventual success in harnessing the hydrogen bomb reaction for peaceful purposes. And it said such nuclear power plants promise to be "extremely safe."

In its semiannual report, the AEC spoke of research looking to a method of controlled thermonuclear energy—taming the furious force now used in the world's mightiest weapons. It said this research, now being conducted at five laboratories, "certainly is on a very long-term basis, but it is probable that success will be achieved eventually."

The thermonuclear process involves fusion of atomic materials. Present-day atomic power plants are based on fission, or splitting, of atoms.

The report, covering the first half of this year, also said that:

1. The United States' "family of weapons in various stages of research, development, and production engineering, is increasing rapidly."

2. In the 1956 series of full-scale teyts of fission and fusion weapons at the Eniwetok proving grounds in the central Pacific there was "testing of devices leading toward development of defensive weapons, as well as testing of thermonuclear devices to verify the state of understanding of these weapons." The reference, otherwise unexplained, seemed to mean that the AEC had tried out, among other things, an atomic antiaircraft missile.

3. The United States is now "the free world's leading producer" of uranium ore and concentrates. Ore production in this country has reached nearly three million tons a year and is expected to mount to five or six million a year. This compares with the annual production in 1948 of only about 70,000 tons.

Burns Appears Secure In UN Post For Awhile

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., July 31 (AP)—Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, U.N. truce supervisor in Palestine whom Jordan wants to oust, seems secure in his job for at least five more months.

U.N. sources said today Burns' contract, due to expire Aug. 31, was extended recently until the end of the year. Burns, a Canadian, took over the post Aug. 3, 1954.

The informants said the extension—negotiated before a Jordan Defense Ministry spokesman announced yesterday Jordan would ask the U.N. to replace Burns on ground of bias in favor of Israel—edmonstrated U.N. confidence in Burns and that there has been no change in this confidence.

An Arab source here said Jordan was not finding support from other Arab states for the ouster move.

Aluminum Pact Heads Confer

NEW YORK, July 31 (AP)—Union negotiators and officials of the nation's two largest aluminum producers conferred today over a new labor contract as a midnight strike deadline neared.

The Aluminum Co. of America and the Reynolds Metals Co. met here with representatives of the United Steelworkers of America, The Aluminum Workers International Union negotiated with Alcoa in Pittsburgh and with Reynolds in Richmond, Va.

As they negotiated, company spokesmen said the two companies were removing metal from smelting pots and stacking it in pig form in preparation for a possible shutdown of operations. They turn out 75 per cent of the nation's aluminum.

Should there be a strike 44,500 workers would be idled. Of these 28,000 are USW members. The others belong to the Aluminum Workers.

Spreading Fire Kills 12 In Home

PUXICO, Mo., July 31 (AP)— A rapidly spreading fire that apparently caught everyone asleep converted a nursing home into a blazing furnace last night and killed 12 persons. Only one occupant escaped.

Authorities expressed belief the fire might have started when a smouldering cigarette fell onto a sofa on the first floor of the old three-story frame building, once a residence.

Mrs. Charity Frederick, 77, a mental patient from nearby Poplar Bluff, was the only survivor. She was dragged to safety by two men who climbed to the front porch roof and smashed a window of her second floor room in the only portion of the building not in flames.

All of the dead were from Puxico or nearby towns in southeast Missouri. This town of 750 is 160 miles south of St. Louis.

States west of the Mississippi account for about 62 per cent of America's livestock production.

U.S. Steel Earnings Up

NEW YORK, July 31 (AP) — United States Steel Corp. today reported record earnings for the first six months of 1956 and record shipments of steel during the same period.

The company, preparing to resume operations after the month-long steel strike, expects to get back close to full capacity within two weeks after workers are on their jobs.

In the second quarter which ended just before the strike began, the company operated at 89.4 per cent of capacity. Its production for the first six months totaled 18,324,172 net tons, a record for any year's first half.

Earnings for the first half were $208,550,441 or $3.66 a share. Previous record six months earnings were $192,319,665 or $3.35 a share in the last half of 1955.

Shipments for the second quarter totaled 6,742,937 net tons and for the first six months of the year were 13,585,054 tons. The previous six months record was 12,834,336 tons shipped in the first half of 1955.

The company's earnings and operating results were given after a board of directors meeting at which a dividend of 65 cents a share on common was declared.

Chandler Feels Chances Strengthened

FRANKFORT, Ky., July 31 (AP)—Gov. A. B. Chandler said today he felt his hand had been strengthened in the Democratic presidential nomination race by the withdrawal of Sen. Estes Kefauver.

Chandler told a press conference he expected to pick up many of Kefauver's pledged delegates and had been assured of some by telephone since the senator's announcement.

"This definitely moves me up into a better position," the governor said. "For one thing, it makes me one of three candidates instead of one of four."

The governor said one of Kefauver's "most important political leaders" was among the telephone callers. He declined to identify the man by name but said he agreed to meet Chandler at his headquarters in Chicago.

Weather Bureau Orders 39 New Radar Machines

WASHINGTON, July 31 (AP)—The Weather Bureau today ordered 39 new tailor-made radars to be used in detecting hurricanes, tornadoes and other dangerous storms up to 250 miles away.

The new sets, to be delivered beginning early in 1958, in a sense will serve as electronic Paul Reveres. They are expected to provide weather observers with means of sounding storm warnings that may reduce the toll of lives and damage.

Their range will be perhaps 100 miles or more greater than small, obsolete sets now in use.

The stations will be set up at sites to be selected along the hurricane areas of the Gulf and Atlantic Coast and inland in the tornado belts.

Tibetan Tribes Massacre Many Hundred Chinese

KATMANDU, Nepal, July 31 (AP)—Reports from Tibet said today rebel Tibetan tribesmen massacred a delegation of several hundred Chinese Communists after peace talks broke up in a quarrel.

Usually reliable sources said the Communists were trying to reach a negotiated peace with warlike Himalayan tribesmen after tanks and aerial bombardment had failed to subdue them. The rebels were reported to have agreed to talk only if the Chinese came to the parley unarmed.

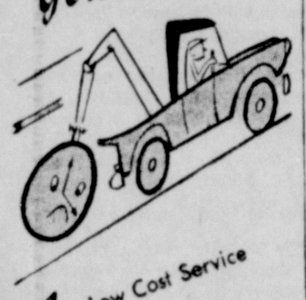

The reports said six rebel strongholds are holding out in the mountainous region southeast of Lhasa, the capital. There have been reports of rebellion against Chinese Communist occupiers of Tibet since last April.

State's Office Building Bids Opening Delayed

ANNAPOLIS, July 31 (AP) — Bids for construction of a new State Office Building here, originally scheduled to be advertised tomorrow, will not be called for until Dec. 1, it was learned today.

Sen. Louis N. Phipps (D-Anne Arundel) said he had been advised of the delay by State Comptroller J. Millard Tawes.

This marks the third postponement by the Board of Public Works this year in the three-million-dollar project authorized by the Legislature four years ago.

The bids originally were scheduled for advertising last May 1. This later was postponed until Aug. 1 and now Dec. 1. A board spokesman said it was necessary because final plans were not ready for the structure.

Architects said changes were requested by State agencies in the first designs submitted last spring.

Initial delays in the project resulted from trying to determine just what state agencies, now scattered in both Baltimore and Annapolis, would go in the new building. A larger State office center is to be built in Baltimore.

Agencies presently scheduled to come here from Baltimore include the departments of education, Welfare, Game and Inland Fish, Water Pollution Control Board and the State Board of Appeals. Conservation agencies now in the present State Office Building here also will go in the new building. The various divisions of the comptroller's office will remain in the present building.

There have been protests about moving the departments of Education and Welfare here but the Board of Public Works has never changed its original decision that they be transferred.

Disposition of the case was on motion of City Solicitor Cleo Jones.

A medical report was offered showing Marland to be ill. Thompson explained that illness accounted for his client's absence from court.

The contract will be for construction of the 10-span steel beam bridge, approach embankments, and bulkheads.

Record Set On Bay Bridge

BALTIMORE, Aug. 1 (AP) — The State Roads Commission today reported a new record of 46,300 vehicles and $85,000 in revenue was set by the Chesapeake Bay Bridge last weekend.

The record was set between Friday midnight and Sunday midnight, just in time for the fourth anniversary of the huge span's opening.

Since July 30, 1952, an estimated 8,432,500 vehicles have crossed the bridge, carrying an estimated 20½ million persons.

Total revenues for the four-year period, including an estimate for today, are $15,800,000. Passenger vehicles have supplied $10,300,000 of the total, trucks and buses $2,500,000 and extra passengers in vehicles $2,900,000.

The SRC said traffic and revenue totals for July and for 1956 are expected to set all-time highs.

The commission said the Susquehanna and Potomac River bridges also are increasing in traffic and revenue. All three bridges earned $135,000 last weekend and the July total from all three is expected to be in excess of a million dollars.

BALTIMORE, July 31 (AP)—Bernard August, 16, was in no mood to get up and go to work this morning.

His mother pleaded. His dad urged. Bernard (1) insulted his mother, (2) assaulted his father and (3) got in a fight with his brother.

Bernard was fined $25 on disorderly conduct charges in Police Court. And the court suggested Mrs. August let Bernard sleep off a few days in jail before paying the fine.

Trio Of Clerks Charged With Stealing Money

BALTIMORE, July 31 (AP)—Three former clerks at the Bainbridge (Md.) Naval Training Center have been charged with stealing money from the center's petty cash fund.

Harry J. McMullen, Jr., 29, of Oxford, Pa., and Emerson L. Crothers, 37, of Elkton, were held in $2,000 bail. McMullen was a procurement clerk in the public works office and Crothers had a similar job in the fiscal department.

Ginger Must Share Wealth With Others

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., Aug. 1 (AP)—Ginger the cat was well taken care of in his owner's will but he'll have to share approximately $300,000 with some needy humans.

In her will, admitted to probate today, Mrs. Laura W. Tyler of Ventnor left $6,500 to any animals in her possession at her death. Ginger was the only one when his 81-year-old mistress died last July 13.

Mrs. Tyler divided the rest of her estimated $300,000 estate in two parts. Half is to help wives and children of felons at Eastern State Penitentiary in Philadelphia.

Record Set On Bay Bridge

BALTIMORE, Aug. 1 (AP) — The State Roads Commission today reported a new record of 46,300 vehicles and $85,000 in revenue was set by the Chesapeake Bay Bridge last weekend.

The record was set between Friday midnight and Sunday midnight, just in time for the fourth anniversary of the huge span's opening.

Since July 30, 1952, an estimated 8,432,500 vehicles have crossed the bridge, carrying an estimated 20½ million persons.

Total revenues for the four-year period, including an estimate for today, are $15,800,000. Passenger vehicles have supplied $10,300,000 of the total, trucks and buses $2,500,000 and extra passengers in vehicles $2,900,000.

The SRC said traffic and revenue totals for July and for 1956 are expected to set all-time highs.

The commission said the Susquehanna and Potomac River bridges also are increasing in traffic and revenue. All three bridges earned $135,000 last weekend and the July total from all three is expected to be in excess of a million dollars.

Awarded Contract

WASHINGTON, July 31 (AP)—Ted Englehardt of Silver Spring, Md. today was awarded a $119,000 contract to design a new biologics laboratory building at the National Institutes of Health in Bethesda.

145 Persons Have Incomes Of Million Dollars Or More

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1 (AP) — There were 145 persons with incomes of a million dollars a year or more among the 58 million income tax returns filed for 1953, the government reported today.

In 1952, the Internal Revenue Service reported there were 148 in the "million or more" adjusted gross income class. This compared with 219 in 1950, the largest for the postwar period.

The preliminary report for 1953 showed the "millionaire" class had adjusted gross income of 275 million dollars in 1953 compared with 289 million in 1952. In 1953 this group paid 169½ million dollars in texas against 180 million in 1952.

Adjusted gross income is the amount remaining after deduction of such things as expenses, depreciation, depletion allowances and some other items.

Revenue Commissioner Russell C. Harrington said 731,000 corporations filed returns in 1953 against the record total of 705,500 in 1952 with net income increasing one billion dollars to 39 billion in 1953. The total tax paid by the corporations was 20 billion dollars in 1953, a gain of 4 per cent over the previous year.

Of the 58 million individual returns for 1953, Harrington said more than 45 million were taxable, a gain of 1,300,000 over 1952. The number of nontaxable returns remained about the same at 12,600,000.

Doctor Queries If Nation Told Of Ike's Ills

BOSTON, Aug. 1 (AP)—Dr. David B. Rutstein questions in a magazine article whether the American public is properly informed by medical men who care for our presidents when they are stricken ill.

He is head of Harvard Medical School's department of preventive medicine, and a vice president of the American Heart Assn.

Dr. Rutstein has previously publicly indicated he feels some interpretive reports on the outlook for President Eisenhower's health after his heart attack, and again after his intestinal operation, were out of line with scientific medical literature on the diseases.

White House press secretary James Hagerty has told news conferences there is no controversy "by the doctors in the case" over the President's operation. When a reporter quoted from some medical documents, he replied: "I can quote other doctors back."

Hagerty declared reports following both the President's heart attack and his operation "have been honest and completely factual."

Informed of Dr. Rutstein's article, Hagerty said there would be no comment on it by the President's doctors.

Writing in the August "Atlantic Monthly," on "Doctors and politics," Dr. Rutstein suggests that the proper role for a doctor caring for a president or a presidential candidate should be to stick to the medical facts and their precise interpretations.

"If the physician goes beyond this point, he then ceases to be an expert," writes Dr. Rutstein. "He becomes just an ordinary citizen subject to political influences in a field in which he has no expert qualifications. Political judgments by physicians have as little merit as medical judgments by politicians on the ability of a candidate to run for office."

Dr. Rutstein says the American public has fallen short of getting the best information in the illnesses of two previous Presidents—Wilson and Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

"The occurrence of severe illness in three presidents of the United States within a period of some 40 years raises the important question of the responsibility to the public of the physicians attending the president," comments Dr. Rutstein.

Dr. Rutstein concedes that news about President Eisenhower's heart attack "was handled in a strikingly different way," than the story of the illnesses of Presidents Wilson and Roosevelt.

News bulletins and conference, Dr. Rutstein said "gave the appearance of a full disclosure of all pertinent medical information." But he said "the public was not informed of the published scientific evidence" on the outlook for patients suffering such attacks.

Dr. Rutstein said the public was not told about three researches which showed "the five-year survival rate of such patients was approximately 50 per cent at the end of five years."

In connection with President Eisenhower's operation for intestinal obstruction—ileitis—Dr. Rutstein said that within hours after the operation the doctors were willing, even before the immediate effects of the operation were known, to issue a statement assuring the country that the President's health would in no way prevent him from carrying out his previous plans."

"At no time," comments Dr. Rutstein, "did they give any indication that ileitis is a chronic disease with a rate of recurrence varying between one-third and two-thirds of those on whom operation is performed, depending on the state of the disease, the type of surgery, and the duration of follow-up.

Delli-Pizzi Will Be Sentenced Aug. 3

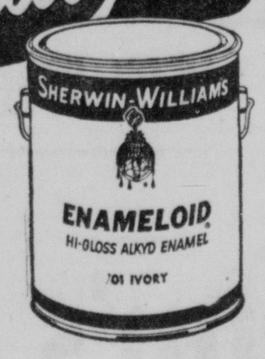

ANNAPOLIS, July 31 (AP)—Gregory M. Delli-Pizzi, convicted of manslaughter in the death of an Allentown, Pa. metallurgist, will be sentenced Friday. He faces up to 10 years in prison.

The 26-year-old medical student from Weirton, W. Va., was convicted by a jury after a one-day retrial yesterday. He was released in $10,000 until the sentencing date.

The jury found him guilty of causing the death of Richard M. Wick, Bethlehem Steel Co. executive by hitting him in the lobby of a downtown hotel. Wick's head struck the marble floor and died two days later.

YOU CAN WIN A GRAND PRIZE OF $10,000 CASH!

All you have to do is fill in the Entry Blank and mail it in. It's easy—every question is answered below.

In addition to the grand prize of $10,000 over 200 prizes will be awarded each month from May through September 1956. It's easy to win.

QUICK FACTS ABOUT HOUSEPOWER

The average home today uses about three times as much electricity as it did 15 years ago. Many more kinds of electrical appliances are now in daily use and need more HOUSEPOWER. What's more, today's appliances work faster and better—and so use more power than earlier models. The electric utility companies have more than kept up with this increased demand and can supply your home with all the power you need. But four out of five homes are not wired to handle increased appliance and equipment loads. They suffer from low HOUSEPOWER.

These conditions cause low HOUSEPOWER:

1. Inadequate "service entrance." Inadequate service entrance capacity is the basic barrier to full HOUSEPOWER. To meet today's demand for electricity, you should have service entrance capacity of at least 100 amperes. This requires 3-wire service from the street. Also sufficient fuses or circuit-breakers to accommodate all the necessary branch circuits.

2. Inadequate branch circuits. Using too many fixtures and appliances on the same circuit overloads it, and none of them get enough power. They work inefficiently. Motors may even burn out—making costly repairs necessary. If the overload is too great, the circuit's fuse will blow, or its circuit-breaker will trip. You should, therefore, have enough circuits to distribute electricity to all your appliances without any one circuit having to accommodate too many of them. Some appliances like ranges and clothes dryers need special circuits just for themselves.

3. Insufficient outlets. Some home owners try to avoid this situation by using extension cords and "Octopus" outlets (2- and 3-way plugs), or by plugging into lighting outlets. Such practices are unsightly and inconvenient and may be dangerous. Rearranging furniture to suit the location of outlets is, of course, no solution either. The only safe solution is to add more circuits and outlets.

These are the symptoms of low HOUSEPOWER:*

1) lights dimming when appliances are turned on.
2) blown fuses or tripped circuit-breakers.
3) TV picture shrinking when other appliances are turned on.
4) appliances working inefficiently.
5) irons, toasters, other heating appliances taking too long to heat up.

* If any of these symptoms are present in your home, you need a wiring check-up! Call your electric company or electrician. In most cases, you can get a wiring check-up without obligation. Adding the wiring necessary to give your home full HOUSEPOWER can often be done in a day; is not messy nor destructive to walls when done by a qualified electrician or electrical contractor. Remember, modernizing your wiring not only contributes to your comfort, but increases the value of your home, and equips it for appliances you may plan to buy in the next few years.

CONTEST RULES

WHO MAY ENTER: Any user of electricity in their place of residence in the continental U. S. or Hawaii except employees (and their immediate families) of Electric Power Companies, Electric Leagues and Associations, their Advertising and Contest Agencies.

DURATION OF CONTEST: Entries must be received no later than last day of month to be eligible for that month's contest. Entries received after last day will be included in following month's contest.

Final month's contest ends Sept. 30, 1956. Entries postmarked after Sept. 30, 1956 or received after Oct. 5, 1956 will not be accepted. Multiple entries will be accepted, provided an Official Entry Blank is used each time. Entry blanks may be obtained from local Electric Power Company.

HOW TO ENTER: Read carefully "Quick Facts About Housepower." Then complete entry blank below. Answer all questions. Fill in your name and address twice. Mail entry blank to "HOUSEPOWER CONTEST", P.O. Box 1888, Grand Central Station, New York 17, N.Y.

JUDGING: Judging will be done monthly by the Contest Division, Richard Manville Research, an independent research organization. Judging will be based on most correct answers to the multiple choice questions, and the degree of interest, aptness, originality, and sincerity of the statement completion. Grand prize winner will be selected from among the 25 top prize winners (five per month).

Monthly winners will be notified by mail approximately 6 weeks from closing of each month's contest. Only one prize per household per month. Grand prize winner will be notified approximately 10 weeks from final closing date. Winners' lists may be obtained by enclosing a self-addressed, 6-cent stamped envelope with your entry.

It's easy to win.

QUICK FACTS ABOUT HOUSEPOWER

The average home today uses about three times as much electricity as it did 15 years ago. Many more kinds of electrical appliances are now in daily use and need more HOUSEPOWER. What's more, today's appliances work faster and better—and so use more power than earlier models. The electric utility companies have more than kept up with this increased demand and can supply your home with all the power you need. But four out of five homes are not wired to handle increased appliance and equipment loads. They suffer from low HOUSEPOWER.

These conditions cause low HOUSEPOWER:

1. Inadequate "service entrance." Inadequate service entrance capacity is the basic barrier to full HOUSEPOWER. To meet today's demand for electricity, you should have service entrance capacity of at least 100 amperes. This requires 3-wire service from the street. Also sufficient fuses or circuit-breakers to accommodate all the necessary branch circuits.

2. Inadequate branch circuits. Using too many fixtures and appliances on the same circuit overloads it, and none of them get enough power. They work inefficiently. Motors may even burn out—making costly repairs necessary. If the overload is too great, the circuit's fuse will blow, or its circuit-breaker will trip. You should, therefore, have enough circuits to distribute electricity to all your appliances without any one circuit having to accommodate too many of them. Some appliances like ranges and clothes dryers need special circuits just for themselves.

3. Insufficient outlets. Some home owners try to avoid this situation by using extension cords and "Octopus" outlets (2- and 3-way plugs), or by plugging into lighting outlets. Such practices are unsightly and inconvenient and may be dangerous. Rearranging furniture to suit the location of outlets is, of course, no solution either. The only safe solution is to add more circuits and outlets.

These are the symptoms of low HOUSEPOWER:*

1) lights dimming when appliances are turned on.
2) blown fuses or tripped circuit-breakers.
3) TV picture shrinking when other appliances are turned on.
4) appliances working inefficiently.
5) irons, toasters, other heating appliances taking too long to heat up.

* If any of these symptoms are present in your home, you need a wiring check-up! Call your electric company or electrician. In most cases, you can get a wiring check-up without obligation. Adding the wiring necessary to give your home full HOUSEPOWER can often be done in a day; is not messy nor destructive to walls when done by a qualified electrician or electrical contractor. Remember, modernizing your wiring not only contributes to your comfort, but increases the value of your home, and equips it for appliances you may plan to buy in the next few years.

There is nothing to compare with the soft, shiny beauty of a girl's hair. A man will notice it every time.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Let Down Your Hair

Healthy hair is lovely hair. If your hair seems dull and you feel like a drab girl, this is the time to get busy. For shining, lovely hair is one of the first essentials of beauty.

Dull hair is often the result of inadequate rinsing. Clean hair will actually "squeak" when a damp strand is pulled through the fingers—be sure to rinse and rinse and rinse.

Nothing is more beneficial to normal hair than sunshine, so take advantage of it these weeks that you have it in such abundance. Dry your hair after a shampoo in the sun and fresh air. Sometimes long sessions under the dryer have a tendency to dry the scalp . . . something that doesn't happen if it dries naturally outdoors. Since hair is a living thing, it needs air to let its pores breath. It has been found that there has been nothing more detrimental to hair health than the babushka habit. The scalp perspires as other parts of the body do and needs air while the tight covering of a scarf worn constantly on the head hampers the pores from breathing.

Dull hair is often the result of an incorrect diet. An egg a day will help prevent dullness. Include one in your diet. It will lend its full nourishment to your tresses. Drab hair will also respond to egg shampoos.

The beauty future of your hair rests on one hundred strokes a day. Get better acquainted with your hairbrush at once. Use a good, clean brush with long medium-stiff bristles. In general, give it a going-over in both directions. Section by section, brush the entire head until the scalp feels live and tingling.

Tomorrow: A Woman's Figuring.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Dorothy Manners

(Substituting for vacationing Louella Parsons)

HOLLYWOOD, July 31—(INS)—The revitalized RKO continues to swing along into top production with top names, the latest being Henry Fonda and Susan Strasberg signed to co-star in "Stage Struck." Boss Bill Dozier says the picture, a remake of "Morning Glory," will be filmed in New York right after the first of the year. This permits the 18-year-old Susan to make the picture and at the same time continue in her Broadway hit, "The Diary of Anne Frank."

Sidney Lumet, young TV director who made his screen debut directing Fonda in "12 Angry Men" for UA, has been signed for "Stage Struck." It's a modern drama about an ambitious girl's struggle for success in the theatre and the movie takes us in and out of such nightspots as Sardis, Lindys, "21," Stork Club, Luchows, El Morocco, Copacabana and others.

The Sunday plane bearing most of the "Raintree County" company, plus Liberace and other passengers heading east, had already closed its door and had taxied out the run-way preparatory to taking off, when, suddenly, it taxied back.

A breathless Elizabeth Taylor dashed through the passenger-loading gate and stood first on one foot and then on another waiting for the steps to be put down and the door to open again.

As it did, onlookers were treated to the flushed and angry face of Director Edward Dmdryk in the doorway yelling, "Where have you been? WHERE HAVE YOU BEEN!??? as Liz scampered aboard.

From Louella in Majorca: "The weather has turned lovely after a miserably rainy season, and this place is a paradise of flowers, sunshine and leisure. There's little to do but lie in the sun and Bebe Daniels, Ben Lyon, Barbara and her bridegroom are all loving it.

"Looking back on London, it could be called 'Hollywood Jr.' Very hectic and exciting. I had dinner with the Douglas Fairbanks the night before I left. I can't tell you how charming their home is with its lovely garden right in the heart of town.

"Mary Lee tells me that she and Doug are coming back home next year with the three girls to put them in American schools. She says they are eager for their daughters to get home to know something of their own wonderful country.

"June Havoc called. She is opening at the Cafe De Paris. Vera-Ellen is another very busy girl working, as you know, with Tony Martin."

More from LOP: "Ingrid Bergman seems less restrained than she when I knew her before the Rossellini headlines. She talks more freely about herself.

"When she isn't before the cameras in 'Anastasia' she's hold up in her room at the Savoy Hotel perfecting her French for the Paris presentation of 'Tea and Sympathy.'

"Ingrid laughingly told me, 'I speak French fluently—but not grammatically enough to play the wife of a head master. So I'm working the verbs overtime!'"

Hollywood in shorts: Gary Crosby, on leave from the Army until August 10, at Ciro's and looking great, 20 pounds thinner.

Gregory Peck takes off with Sy Bartlett to scout locations for their independent "Thieves Market" the end of the month. But Greg will be back in plenty of time to be with Veronique when the baby is born in September.

The gossips who have been circulating rumors about Ginger Rogers and Jacques Bergerac should have seen them dancing cheek-to-cheek at the welcome-home party the Ferando Lamases gave them at the Beverly Hills Hotel.

Frank Sinatra planes into New York from Spain tomorrow a. m. But not in time to catch the "High Society" preem in Hollywood tomorrow night.

That's all today.

Regional Red Cross Blood Center failed to meet the quota set for the fiscal year which ended June 30, contributions were high enough to place the Allegany County Red Cross Chapter 11th in the ratings of the 30 participating chapters.

The quota for the period had been set at 2,679 pints, according to Mrs. George W. Legge, executive secretary of the chapter, while 2,535 pints were collected at 21 visits. A breakdown of the figures shows the chapter failed to meet its quota by 144 pints, and that the amount collected was 94.6 per cent of the county quota.

Neighboring Garrett County had a much smaller quota, but exceeded that figure, 409 pints, and ranked seventh among the 30 chapters.

There were 458 pints processed during six visits in Maryland's westernmost county, the figure amounting to 112 per cent of its quota.

Arthur Koster, administrator of the Red Cross Center at Johnstown, said that distribution point provided 1,971 pints of blood to the three hospitals in Allegany County.

Memorial Hospital was sent 1,326 pints of blood and 123 units of serum albumin. Of the whole blood provided to Memorial, there were 1,297 pints used and the balance returned to Johnstown for processing into blood derivatives.

Sacred Heart was provided 403 pints of blood, of which 370 pints were used, and was also sent 10 units of serum albumin.

Miners in Frostburg was sent 242 pints, of which 138 pints were used. Miners also received three units of serum albumin.

In addition to the blood provided county hospitals, the Johnstown center also sent 150 pints to out-of-region hospitals for use by residents of Allegany County. This is done, Koster explained, since the Red Cross blood program allows for use of free blood to residents of participating counties, even though the person is hospitalized away from home. The only charge connected with the blood would be a small fee by the hospital for administrative or laboratory work, he explained.

There were 425 pints of blood provided for Garrett County Memorial Hospital, Koster said, and of this amount, 264 pints were used. The hospital was also issued 48 units of serum albumin and 32 pints of blood were sent to out-of-region institutions for Garrett County residents.

Neighboring Bedford County, Pa., contributed 714 pints of blood at five visits of the mobile unit. This amount was 83.8 per cent of a quota calling for 852 pints and placed the county 15th in the ratings.

Bedford County Memorial Hospital used 437 pints of blood out of 506 pints allocated, and was also supplied with 40 units of serum albumin. There were 32 additional pints sent to out-of-region hospitals for Bedford County patients.

The mobile unit paid 16 visits to Somerset County, Pa., and collected 666 pints toward a quota of 1,215 pints. The amount collected was only 54.8 per cent of the quota and placed Somerset County at second to last among the 30-county ratings.

Driver Handed 6-Month Term

A local driver was sentenced to six months in the Allegany County Jail yesterday in Trial Magistrates Court when he faced trial on three motor charges filed after his car hit a building on West Oldtown Road last night, narrowly missing two women and a child.

Francis Joseph Weisenmiller, 137 Pennsylvania Avenue, pleaded guilty to reckless driving and failing to give his name and address after hitting a fixed object.

He pleaded not guilty to drunken driving, but was found guilty by Magistrate J. Milton Dick.

He was fined a total of $302.95, with $100.75 for leaving the scene of an accident; $50.75 for reckless driving, and $151.45 on the drunk driving charge.

The six-month sentence was tacked on to the drunk driving count. Officers testified that this is Weisenmiller's second offense on this charge.

Weisenmiller said he will appeal the magistrate's decision.

Sgt. Clarence Roby said Weisenmiller was rounding the turn from Thomas Street onto West Oldtown Road when his car struck the medial strip, throwing the machine out of control.

The car jumped the sidewalk and ran into the doorway of 225 West Oldtown Road, the sergeant added. He and Officers Royce Clayton and Gordon Hite stated that Mrs. Flora George and her child, of that address, and Mrs. Maynard J. Foreman, who lives at Gay Street and Oldtown Road, were forced to jump out of the way of the car to escape injury.

Police stated that Weisenmiller backed his car off the sidewalk and continued on his way home.

He was arrested at his residence and brought back to the scene of the mishap. Witnesses had obtained his license number and turned it over to police. Weisenmiller was identified at the scene as being the driver of the car.

Announcing Consolidation of
THE LIBERTY TRUST COMPANY and
THE COMMERCIAL SAVINGS BANK of Cumberland
Effective July 31, 1956

The consolidation of these 2 banks is another milestone in the history of banking in Cumberland. The Commercial Savings Bank and The Liberty Trust Company have both been noted for the friendly personal services rendered to the thousands of small accounts. The growth of both institutions has been due principally to the NUMBER of accounts served rather than the SIZE of the accounts.

This merger makes The Liberty Trust Company one of the largest banks in the state of Maryland, outside of Baltimore City. Total capital accounts and reserves amount to more than $2,250,000.00—a very sound ratio to deposit liabilities and considerably stronger than the average for banks throughout the United States. It will enable the Liberty Trust Company to better take care of the credit requirements of the community both large and small.

Customers of The Commercial Savings Bank will continue to handle all of their banking transactions in the same manner as heretofore and will be served by the same familiar faces. Any items on Commercial Savings Bank forms, such as checks, notes, deposit slips, Christmas Savings accounts, etc. will be handled by the merged institution. As the supply of forms becomes exhausted new forms of The Liberty Trust Company will be supplied.

The present location of The Commercial Savings Bank on N. Liberty Street will be operated as a branch temporarily. In addition, The Liberty Trust Company operates a branch office located on U. S. 40 adjacent to the new State Police barracks, under the management of Mr. Walter A. Fraley, Assistant Treasurer. This branch is modern in every respect and is completely air-conditioned, and in addition, maintains a Drive-In Window service through which customers can transact business without getting out of their cars.

Since 1939 The Liberty Trust Company has operated a branch in Lonaconing, Maryland under the management of Mr. James G. McElvie.

In terms of future service, the merger means that the braader facilities of the combined banks will be at your disposal with complete banking and trust services—ABLE to serve the largest account and EAGER to serve the smallest.

Yes And No:

Reddick Says Resignation Wasn't Accepted By Board

BALTIMORE, July 31 (AP) — Dr. Robert H. Reddick acknowledged today that he resigned as secretary-treasurer of the Maryland State Homeopathic Medical Society and its examining board, but added quickly that his resignation "was not acted on or accepted by the society."

Reddick gave the testimony before Circuit Judge Joseph R. Byrnes in court proceedings brought by the State to gain a permanent injunction against Dr. Reddick and his "rump" board of medical examiners which would prevent them from taking any official action.

Reddick interrupted other court proceedings last May 31 at Cambridge to resign as secretary-treasurer. The proceedings then were dropped. Last month he again was giving examinations to qualify applicants to practice homeopathy in Maryland.

During questioning by the prosecution about the resignation, Judge Byrnes interrupted to ask:

"Dr. Reddick, did you resign on May 31?"

"My signature appears on this document," replied Reddick, holding up a paper.

"Did you or didn't you resign?" Judge Byrnes demanded.

There was a long pause.

"The resignation," Reddick answered, "was purportedly effected in full knowledge of the fact that a new board of the society was due to take office under the constitution on the first Tuesday of June, 1956."

The judge had the court stenographer read back his question and again demanded an answer.

Reddick answered that he had signed the papers purporting to resign but added, "however, it was not acted on or accepted by the society."

Records were produced to show that the present board of directors of the homeopathic society now consists of four men from California and one from New York.

Reddick also testified that while his resignation statement bore a notary's affidavit, the notary had not been actually in the room when it was signed.

The longest muscle in the body is the sartorius, which runs from the upper hip to the knee.

Dystrophy Unit To Make Plans For Fall Drive

A meeting will be held soon by the Allegany-Garrett Muscular Dystrophy Association to map plans for the 1956 campaign, to be held in the early fall.

N. Chester Phillips, national representative in New York, has notified association officials that the Cumberland Fire Department and member companies of the Allegany-Garrett County Volunteer Firemen's Association have been designated to conduct the drive.

Central Fire Station will be headquarters here for the collection of contributions, while Frostburg and Oakland fire departments will be asked to collect contributions from communities of their areas.

To Distribute Envelopes

Local chapter officials said yesterday contribution envelopes will be distributed and the three fire stations will be collection points where funds will be tabulated and forwarded to Baltimore.

Previously contributions by envelope went direct to that city. All volunteer fire companies of the two-county association will be asked to cooperate in the drive.

Local Boy Scouts have been giving the firemen a hand in distributing the envelopes throughout the city. Canisters will be placed in business places and appeals will be made at dances and other public gatherings during the campaign.

Last Year's Drive Success

Last year's campaign was termed a success by officials. President of the two-county chapter is James E. Robertson, with Francis Kenney as secretary-treasurer.

State Senator Charles M. See and Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker are directors. Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan will be asked to serve as an honorary member during the 1956 drive.

Again this year, officials point out, funds are needed for research in combating the disease, which affects both young ald old.

The Vatican Sistine chapel was named for its founder, Pope Pius Sextus IV.

Massachusetts was the first state to form an historical society.

LaVale Zoning

the zoning committee with Kauffman, said he had served on an area planning committee of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce. This group has given some thought to the development of county-wide zoning but believes the cost greater than the benefit to be derived.

Favors County Plan

John M. Robb, attorney for the LaVale Civic Improvement Association, said he personally believed county-wide zoning would best solve the problem which concerns more than just LaVale.

Orr asked Kauffman how a zoning law would affect a trailer camp. Yesterday morning the LaVale Century Club submitted a letter to the county commissioners protesting establishment of a trailer court on Cash Valley Road near the Shortest Day Road intersection. Kauffman answered that the zoning regulations could not affect a trailer camp already in operation, but could require that any additional ones be prohibited from areas zoned for residential use.

Getty commented that under 66B of the State Code the county has the general authority now to set up a planning and zoning commission which would prepare a master zoning plan for the county. It could be done, but would be expensive and difficult to administer, Getty added.

"A Step Forward"

Lemmert said that he thought Kauffman's plan was a step forward and with more study a comprehensive program for LaVale could be agreed upon by fall after discussions with the County Delegation.

Wilkinson said he believed the people of LaVale should have what they want. Yesterday morning at the regular meeting of the board, Wilkinson said that LaVale was a nice residential section and buildings such as a trailer camp should be prohibited. Last week he similarly opposed construction of an Army Reserve Armory in LaVale.

Other members of the LaVale delegation last night were Walter N. Hedrick, Hubert B. Bloom, C. A. Lancaster, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Klosterman and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wagner. No one said he was opposed to the zoning plan.

City Tax Bills To Be Printed On Green Stock

They will bring a breath of spring into the home.

At least the color of the tax bills which will be mailed to city taxpayers next month will be cheerful.

George E. Davis, city collector, said the 1956 tax bills will be printed on "spring green" paper.

Shocking pink was selected last year.

Davis said supplies of paper for the statements have been ordered and will go to the printer as soon as the Mayor and Council sets the tax rate. August 25 is the deadline.

He said the city always selects a different color paper from that used by Allegany County to avoid confusion in the payment of bills.

Reddick Says Resignation Wasn't Accepted By Board

BALTIMORE, July 31 (AP) — Dr. Robert H. Reddick acknowledged today that he resigned as secretary-treasurer of the Maryland State Homeopathic Medical Society and its examining board, but added quickly that his resignation "was not acted on or accepted by the society."

Reddick gave the testimony before Circuit Judge Joseph R. Byrnes in court proceedings brought by the State to gain a permanent injunction against Dr. Reddick and his "rump" board of medical examiners which would prevent them from taking any official action.

Reddick interrupted other court proceedings last May 31 at Cambridge to resign as secretary-treasurer. The proceedings then were dropped. Last month he again was giving examinations to qualify applicants to practice homeopathy in Maryland.

During questioning by the prosecution about the resignation, Judge Byrnes interrupted to ask:

"Dr. Reddick, did you resign on May 31?"

"My signature appears on this document," replied Reddick, holding up a paper.

"Did you or didn't you resign?" Judge Byrnes demanded.

There was a long pause.

"The resignation," Reddick answered, "was purportedly effected in full knowledge of the fact that a new board of the society was due to take office under the constitution on the first Tuesday of June, 1956."

The judge had the court stenographer read back his question and again demanded an answer.

Reddick answered that he had signed the papers purporting to resign but added, "however, it was not acted on or accepted by the society."

Records were produced to show that the present board of directors of the homeopathic society now consists of four men from California and one from New York.

Reddick also testified that while his resignation statement bore a notary's affidavit, the notary had not been actually in the room when it was signed.

The longest muscle in the body is the sartorius, which runs from the upper hip to the knee.

Dystrophy Unit To Make Plans For Fall Drive

A meeting will be held soon by the Allegany-Garrett Muscular Dystrophy Association to map plans for the 1956 campaign, to be held in the early fall.

N. Chester Phillips, national representative in New York, has notified association officials that the Cumberland Fire Department and member companies of the Allegany-Garrett County Volunteer Firemen's Association have been designated to conduct the drive.

Central Fire Station will be headquarters here for the collection of contributions, while Frostburg and Oakland fire departments will be asked to collect contributions from communities of their areas.

To Distribute Envelopes

Local chapter officials said yesterday contribution envelopes will be distributed and the three fire stations will be collection points where funds will be tabulated and forwarded to Baltimore.

Previously contributions by envelope went direct to that city. All volunteer fire companies of the two-county association will be asked to cooperate in the drive.

Local Boy Scouts have been giving the firemen a hand in distributing the envelopes throughout the city. Canisters will be placed in business places and appeals will be made at dances and other public gatherings during the campaign.

Last Year's Drive Success

Last year's campaign was termed a success by officials. President of the two-county chapter is James E. Robertson, with Francis Kenney as secretary-treasurer.

State Senator Charles M. See and Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker are directors. Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan will be asked to serve as an honorary member during the 1956 drive.

Again this year, officials point out, funds are needed for research in combating the disease, which affects both young ald old.

The Vatican Sistine chapel was named for its founder, Pope Pius Sextus IV.

Massachusetts was the first state to form an historical society.

the zoning committee with Kauffman, said he had served on an area planning committee of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce. This group has given some thought to the development of county-wide zoning but believes the cost greater than the benefit to be derived.

Favors County Plan

John M. Robb, attorney for the LaVale Civic Improvement Association, said he personally believed county-wide zoning would best solve the problem which concerns more than just LaVale.

Orr asked Kauffman how a zoning law would affect a trailer camp. Yesterday morning the LaVale Century Club submitted a letter to the county commissioners protesting establishment of a trailer court on Cash Valley Road near the Shortest Day Road intersection. Kauffman answered that the zoning regulations could not affect a trailer camp already in operation, but could require that any additional ones be prohibited from areas zoned for residential use.

Getty commented that under 66B of the State Code the county has the general authority now to set up a planning and zoning commission which would prepare a master zoning plan for the county. It could be done, but would be expensive and difficult to administer, Getty added.

"A Step Forward"

Lemmert said that he thought Kauffman's plan was a step forward and with more study a comprehensive program for LaVale could be agreed upon by fall after discussions with the County Delegation.

Wilkinson said he believed the people of LaVale should have what they want. Yesterday morning at the regular meeting of the board, Wilkinson said that LaVale was a nice residential section and buildings such as a trailer camp should be prohibited. Last week he similarly opposed construction of an Army Reserve Armory in LaVale.

Other members of the LaVale delegation last night were Walter N. Hedrick, Hubert B. Bloom, C. A. Lancaster, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Klosterman and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wagner. No one said he was opposed to the zoning plan.

City Tax Bills To Be Printed On Green Stock

They will bring a breath of spring into the home.

At least the color of the tax bills which will be mailed to city taxpayers next month will be cheerful.

George E. Davis, city collector, said the 1956 tax bills will be printed on "spring green" paper.

Shocking pink was selected last year.

Davis said supplies of paper for the statements have been ordered and will go to the printer as soon as the Mayor and Council sets the tax rate. August 25 is the deadline.

He said the city always selects a different color paper from that used by Allegany County to avoid confusion in the payment of bills.

Business Activity Expected To Gain

Neither the fact that this is a presidential election year nor the steel strike has resulted in a perceptible slowing of the overall economy, although the former was formerly regarded as bad medicine for business, steel strikes have always raised apprehensions. And "the summer business solstice" which once was taken for granted exerted no universal influence.

In fact, business prognosticators have swung to the opinion that ending of the steel strike may set off a new spiral of inflation, and inflationary spirals never develop while the economy is in the doldrums. Business activity, in short, may be headed for a fall and winter upward swing.

A new high mark has been registered by the cost of living index, and it is universally agreed that prices generally will register an immediate if not substantial increase in the wake of higher steel prices. There is less agitation for government action to lower interest rates, a step regarded as only probable if there is a slowing of business activity.

What is expected now by financial and business experts is close scrutiny of price increases by Washington, where officials are more apprehensive of a new round of inflation than they are of possible deflationary trends.

The stock market, although no longer regarded as the business weather vane it formerly was, reflects such thinking. The market continued to advance while the steel mills were closed, an unusual occurrence. Buyers of stocks seem to be confident the boom will continue.

The healthy state of the economy is attested by indices revealing that the general trend has been upward regardless of a slowing of automobile production, shutdown of the steel industry and a slight slowing in new home construction. Obviously the steel mills will operate at capacity during the remainder of the year, and construction and auto manufacturing no doubt will swing into line.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Roots Of Hate

It is difficult to understand how anyone can hate his native land, its traditions, its way of life, as much as William Z. Foster, top Communist of the United States, displays in his book, "The Twilight of World Capitalism." Foster hates with passion, with unreasoned passion. Apparently, early in life, he revolted against his environment, his family and his religion. Foster tells of it himself:

"My break with religion had a considerable material effect upon the course of my life. My mother had long wanted to make a priest of me, and her wishes were seconded by Father Joseph O'Connor, a noted orator of St. Theresa's Church in Philadelphia, and a friend of mine. He offered to send me to a Jesuit college to be educated for the priesthood. He and my mother were both disappointed, however, when I let it be known to them that my reading had already taken me far and away beyond the control of the Catholic church."

This is what William Z. Foster wrote about the United States in 1949 when this nation had just emerged victorious from the most perilous war in its history:

"American imperialism is like a monstrous, all-consuming spider. It has sucked up most of the available gold supplies of the capitalist world and hoarded them away at Fort Knox; it has made nearly every capitalist nation in the world its debtor; it is stripping the various capitalist nations of their foreign markets, of their economic strength, and of their national independence. It has set up a more or less definite political control over all the important capitalist countries in the world. Now it is stretching out its claws for the USSR, the European new democracies, and the colonial and semi-colonial countries, in the hope that it can overwhelm them and devour them at its leisure. This is the parasitic, cannibalistic role of American capitalism in the world today."

This is not an alien living in the United States in sheep's clothes. These are not the words of a foreigner who came to this country because he believed that its streets were paved with gold and was disappointed that he had to work for a living. These are the words of a native born American, educated in our schools, spending his childhood not in the slums of our big cities but in the New England town life of Taunton, Mass. It is difficult to understand what influences, in school, at home, in church made him despise the land of his birth.

Further, in the same vein, he wrote:

"The United Nations is a casualty of American imperialism's drive for world empire . . . The United States, unable to utilize the U.N. effectively for its power policy game, proceeded to bypass that organization altogether in many important matters. Among these were its infamous Truman Doctrine of fomenting civil war in Greece and other countries; its Marshall Plan to bring all the capitalist countries of Europe under its economic, political, and military control; its arbitrary dumping of the Yalta and Potsdam agreements; its cultivation of reactionary regimes in Germany and Japan in order to use these countries as military bases against the USSR; its arbitrary interference in the Chinese civil war on the side of the feudalistic Chiang Kai-shek regime; its brutal subjugation and exploitation of the peoples of Latin America; and the formation of the military alliance, the North Atlantic Pact . . ."

Again, he said:

"The top men who are running our government, including President Truman, are tools of Wall Street. They don't want peace with the USSR; their objective is world domination by the United States, which they are convinced they can accomplish by destroying the Soviet Union . . ."

Harry Truman has been called many names, but tool of Wall Street certainly does not fit. Here is an irrational but passionate anger that breeds such thinking and such language and one would imagine that it would be self-defeating, Nevertheless, many trained minds have followed Foster's leadership and have risked their honor, their careers, and in a few instances, their lives, for the cause of which he has long been the American representative. They could not have believed what he wrote, but they accept the disciplines which his party imposed. Such men have taken the Fifth Amendment like parrots by order of the party which Foster heads.

Congress Blasted For Unprecedented 'Giveaway'

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — How can the American people get the whole story of what really happened in the 84th Congress which has just ended? How can they protect themselves in the future against wanton betrayal of the public interest by an extravagant Congress?

For despite all the boasts about the "fine record" and the speed with which many laws were passed, the truth is this was a "giveaway" Congress unprecedented in history. There was a supreme indifference to the fact that there are limits to what the taxpayer can afford. No attention was paid to the prospect that the burdens imposed in these times will prove unbearable in a period of economic recession.

Most notorious in this session were the brazen examples of "log-rolling — the deals by which many members of Congress support each other's projects on a plain basis of "you vote for my project and I'll vote for yours."

Self-Serving Materialism

More than $60 billions were appropriated for this fiscal year but committments were authorized that will mean billions more annually later on. It involved the widest variety of legislative items, but self-serving materialism was the note that ran through most all of them.

Congress was so reckless in its spending mood that it actually appropriated $900,000,000 more for airplane production than the executive asked for and now the Air Force is scrambling around trying to find ways to spend the money. This benefits, of course, the senators and representatives who come from states where these military appropriations are spent but it does seem fantastic that $900,000,000 can be appropriated when there isn't even a planned military project in existence on which to spend it.

All this is happening at a time when the American people are paying the highest income taxes in peacetime history. While the Treasury surplus was small and was wisely applied to cutting down the public debt, there could have been a sizable tax reduction this year if the Congress had decided to refrain from so much spending. It could have avoided at least $5 billion to $7 billion of extra spending.

Actually non-defense spending has increased by about $5 billions a year since the ending of the Korean War. As soon as armament expenditures are cut down, Congress thinks of many ways to spend what is saved.

Few members of Congress went home this time without something to which they could point with pride — government money for their constituencies. Some of the projects — like the law to build new roads — required some taxes to be paid by the users to help meet the costs of construction but many of the projects are local or regional and cannot be justified as national. The idea that local communities or adjacent states should join in paying for these improvements seems to a large extent to have been ignored.

Political Spending

The spending for farm groups was obviously political. The farmers now get about $5 billions a year from the U. S. Treasury and the "soil bank" may add another $1.2 billions.

If it hadn't been for the "segregation" issue there would have been a $1.6 billion appropriation for school construction. As it was $368,000,000 was voted for schools in areas where military installations have increased school populations. The excuses for invoking federal aid are growing each year.

Then there were the "welfare" appropriations with a start toward medical insurance and more of the "cradle-to-grave" paternalism. The administration fought some of these proposals as unsound and as likely to undermine the whole system of "social security" but was up against a political threat by those who on the stump describe any opposition to extravagant spending as "inhumane" or "hard-hearted." Yet if self-reliance and family savings are discouraged at a time of record-breaking prosperity, when is personal thrift to become logical?

Looking at the record of the 84th Congress the wonder is that so little was revealed in the press about the obvious raids on the federal treasury. One reason is that the people who know most about the projects don't like to line up against the sponsors or those who stand to benefit financially from the proposals. The local chambers of commerce either remain silent or plug for the appropriations that benefit their localities directly. Also in Congress whoever votes for a project in his own district or state is reluctant to criticize the other fellow's favorite scheme.

Controlled By Leaders

Certainly the 84th Congress followed a system of close control by a coterie of Democratic leaders in both houses who arbitrarily determined what should or shouldn't come to a vote. Not since the days of Speaker Cannon has such discipline been enforced on the members of the House — and lots of them knew their pet projects would get nowhere unless they obeyed the leaders and went "along with the crowd."

Congress spends loosely when the people are indifferent. And they are indifferent because they are uninformed. This is a domain in which the "right to know" crusaders could do a great deal of good.

Taxpayers' revolts seem to be the logical answer, but they cannot be effective without the facts. Maybe some day a public spirited foundation not so much interested in protecting the "civil liberties" of Communists and their dupes will put up a million dollars a year to analyze federal spending and turn a searchlight on the darkness that surrounds the waste of taxpayers money. For this Congress, nurtured by New Deal and Fair Deal ideas, really did make some kind of a record — it gave away more money than ever before and it postponed, if it didn't actually prevent, any sizable reduction in income taxes for years and years ahead.

Baering Down On The News

The Chicago and San Francisco conventions are preambles to a plebiscite. After the indictment by the partisan grand juries the case goes to trial November 6.

We have been exercising our equally born curiosity to find why the convention cannot nominate two guys from the same neighborhood. Is the Constitution scared of getting Abercrombie and Fitch, Clayton, Jackson and Durante or the Smith Brothers, Trade and Mark?

This codicil was written into the rules long before the amendments lumped up in the mashed potatoes. It is the consensus of second guesses that the Foundering Fathers were scared the Adams boys of Massachusetts would hog the show like a piano in a pawnshop window.

New Medications Available To Combat Bedsores

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Bedsores are in the news again with the announcement of a preventive and a new remedy. A silicon barrier cream is successful in protecting susceptible areas with an invisible covering. The new remedy contains an enzyme that eliminates infection and promotes tissue regeneration.

Most victims of bedsores are bedridden; the majority are older and recuperating from a heart attack, stroke, fractured hip, or paralysis. Bedsores develop along pressure points in persons with lowered vitality and the skin over the buttocks, lower spine, elbows, and heels are favored sites.

Prolonged pressure and uncleanliness are the usual causes. The skin becomes red and inflamed and then ulcerates because the circulation to these tissues is poor, decreasing their vitality. Unless pressure is relieved, the open sore enlarges and infection extends into neighboring tissues.

The lesions seldom develop if the ailing person is turned on one side or the other at frequent intervals. Lying on the tummy also helps. In addition, the back is cleansed thoroughly every day with soap and water followed by an alcohol rub to toughen the skin. Powder should be applied to keep the skin dry because perspiration encourages maceration.

When this plan is followed, bedsores rarely form. But time and effort are essential; it takes at least 15 minutes morning and night. This is difficult in large institutions where there is a shortage of nursing personnel. It is here that the silicone barrier cream may be of the greatest value.

The back is cleansed first and after it is dried, the area is covered with the silicone product, which adheres to the skin and forms a protective surface that lasts several days. The skin remains clean and the back need not be rubbed morning and night. Thus silicone not only serves as a preventive but saves time.

For existing lesions, a different plan of attack is recommended. Pressure is relieved by encircling the ulcer with a rubber doughnut or keeping the patient on the side or abdomen. Infection is eliminated with one of the antibiotics and by practicing scrupulous cleanliness.

Dr. E. W. Miller Jr., of Lincolndale, N. Y., found Panafil ointment an excellent adjunct in treatment It contains an enzyme that digests the diseased tissues, a prerequisite to wound healing. He tried it on 24 elderly mental patients with bedsores and considers it superior to any agent previously used.

CHANGING BABY'S BLOOD

Mrs. Z. writes: What is meant by an exchange transfusion?

REPLY

Babies born of an Rh negative mother and an Rh positive father may develop erythroblastosis. When this occurs, as a life saving measure, the baby's blood is withdrawn and replaced by blood from the mother.

LUNG INFECTION

R. M. writes: Does pulmonary infection mean tuberculosis?

REPLY

No. Various organisms, including fungi, are capable of causing pulmonary disease. Infection with the tubercle bacillus is the best known.

DEGENERATED RETINA

T. V. Z. writes: Are any eyeglasses helpful to an elderly person with degeneration of the retina due to hardening of the arteries?

REPLY

Glasses will not restore the function of a retina that has degenerated, but special lenses with high magnification may help.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellan will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me!

Harry Oliver tells about an Indian and two other men who were riding across a big desert waste. They'd been in the saddle since early morn and their talk got around to the big dinner they hoped for when they got to town. The Indian was asked if he was hungry. He all but grunted, "No."

After they reached their destination, they ordered steaks with all the trimmings, and the Indian was then first to scrape his plate absolutely clean. "Ho-ho!" laughed one companion, "when we asked if you were hungry just an hour ago you said no."

"No use hungry on desert," said the Indian calmly. "No grub there."

Secretary Dulles Accused Of Being Responsible For Appeasing Egypt

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — In the 1936-38 period when Adolph Hitler was gobbling up key areas of Europe, it was Great Britain and the umbrell-carrying Sir Neville Chamberlain who did the appeasing. The United States demanded a tough policy.

Today as President Nasser of Egypt bites off the Suez Cnal and threatens Israel, it is the British who demand a tough policy. The United States has done most of the appeasing.

Just one year ago, Secretary of Agriculture Benson proposed in a cabinet meeting to sell surplus American cotton on the world market at whatever price he could get. The proposal was blocked by John Foster Dulles on the ground it would hurt our friends abroad, especially Egypt.

This was in August 1955, approximately one month after Colonel Nasser had informed U. S. Ambassador Byroade in Egypt that he was trading Egypt's surplus cotton to Czechoslovakia for Communist arms.

In other words, the United States not only did little about stopping the Egyptian-Czech barter deal but actually refrained from selling our own cotton for fear of hurting Egypt.

Southern congressmen at that time were pushing Secretary Benson to curtail our growing cotton surplus by selling it abroad at below parity prices. Benson wanted to sell, but Dulles said no.

When the inside story of United States-Egyptian relations is written, it will also become known that former U. S. Ambassador Jefferson Caffery was instrumental in getting the Suez Canal turned over to Egypt. Caffery was so pro-Egyptian, during the Birtish hassle over the canal, that Prime Minister Churchill and Foreign Minister Eden both complained to Washington about his conduct.

Crime Prevention Doesn't Pay

This is a story about an Army officer who fought vice in Georgia and lost. It's a story that you don't like to write, but which has to be written.

Brig. Gen. Richard W. Mayo retired yesterday after 30 years in the Army, and after fighting an uphill battle to clean out the honky-tonks, the slot machines and the prostitutes that waylay soldiers outside Fort Stewart, an area described as the Phenix City of Georgia.

A West Point graduate, Gen. Mayo was transferred to Camp Stewart in 1953 where he found the VD rate the highest in the Army. Whereas the average Army VD rate was 67 VD cases per 1,000 men, Camp Stewart's rate was 428 cases per thousand. He launched a clean-up.

Camp Stewart is located 45 miles from Savannah, near the tiny town of Hinesville. GI's leaving the camp's gate had to walk through "Combat Alley," a row of dives where barmaids in shorts serve whisky and seduce soldiers.

Responsible for law enforcement in this area is Sheriff Paul Sikes, who has given Liberty County the reputation of being as wide-open as its name. Gen. Mayo's clean-up hit directly at Sheriff Sikes who is a political supporter of Sen. Richard Russell of Georgia, powerful chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee.

A grand jury, called to consider Gen. Mayor's demands for a clean-up, indicted 44 and charged that Sheriff Sikes "knowingly failed and neglected" to enforce the law.

The sheriff was called to Atlanta for an ouster hearing before Gov. Talmadge, but suffered a heart attack. He never attended that hearing or any other. Each time the governor called a hearing, the sheriff was ill. Three years passed. The sheriff never did face an ouster hearing, but he was well enough to continue being sheriff and to be re-elected in the spring of this year.

Queer Politics

Meanwhile some queer political maneuvers occurred to get the vice-fighting general out of Georgia. One day Gen. Alexander Bolling, commander of the Third Army, telephoned him.

"I've received a call from Washington that you've been offered command of Fort Totten," he said. "Did you ask your senator to get you out of here?"

Mayo had not. He said he liked Camp Stewart, wanted to clean it up, even though Fort Totten on Long Island is considered a prize post. The mysterious move to get him out of Camp Stewart was never cleared up. Gen. Mayo suspected it developed through local politicians and Senator Russell of the Senate Armed Services Committee.

Meanwhile, Sheriff Sikes had gone to Congressman Prince Preston to try to get Mayor transferred. Preston refused to intervene. He also asked local Assemblyman Roscoe Denmark to introduce a resolution in the Georgia Legislature asking for Mayo's recall. Denmark did not cooperate.

But in October 1954, Mayo came up before the Army Selection Board for promotion from brigadier to major general. Friends on the Selection Board said they recommended him. But nothing happened. His name would have come before Senator Russell. Higher-ups in the Pentagon never let it go that far.

Sheriff Wins Out

Meanwhile, Sheriff Sikes, re-elected in April, said he would end the career of General Mayo. He did. Or at least somebody did. Senator Russell denies that he had anything to do with General Mayo, has also told Georgia friends of Mayo that he could not intervene on Mayo's behalf.

Russell did, however, help to get Camp Stewart transferred from a temporary base or camp to a permanent fort; though General Mayo had warned that unless the area was cleaned up it might not become a fort. When this was accomplished, Russell sent a special telegram to Sheriff Sikes informing him of the victory.

So Mayo, with 30 years service and a brilliant record, was retired.

"He won plaudits for his magnificent struggle against the elements which play on the military population," wrote General Bolling, his commanding officer.

"He is an outstandingly competent officer who applies himself with vigor," wrote Gen. Tom Hickey of the General Staff.

Yet when he came before the Army Selection Board a second time, he was passed over. So yesterday General Mayo finally took off his uniform to become city manager of Gloucester, Mass., leaving "Combat Alley" with its slot machines and honky-tonks, its half-dressed barmaids, and its shocking VD rate under the supervision of Sheriff Sikes, who believes Liberty County should live up to its name.

On The Line

By Bob Considine

NEW YORK, July 31—(INS)—That bad penny, our shortage of engineers, has turned up again. We had a piece about it recently.

"Why should a boy work as hard as he must work to become an engineer and then wind up paying taxes to help Tito?" an irate lady from Los Angeles demands.

A Pittsburgh mother declares: "In order to graduate, the average engineering student puts in four tremendously difficult years of study. There is no question about getting a job. But the very companies that complain so much about the shortage of young engineers pay them $350 a month. Office boys command almost that much today. That is reason No. 1 for our engineer shortage, and why Russia is going ahead of us in that field. When parents spend about $5,000, and sometimes much more than that, for a son's education they have a right to expect a more promising start when the boy goes out into his field.

"Reason No. 2 — the military men appear to have only the faintest possible interest in utilizing the engineering training of graduate engineers who are drafted. It seems to them that they criminally neglect to do so. The engineer-draftee loses two years instead of gaining two years of experience that would be valuable to him and to his country.

"The engineer, after two years of service that has nothing to do with what he has been trained to do, comes out and finds he must start at the beginning again. My son has been the victim of this ordeal, but if my complaint is heeded it at least might help the coming engineer."

Dr. Joseph F. McCarthy, veteran teacher in several New York medical schools, writes:

"Recently in collaboration with Dr. Elmer Hess, past president of the American Medical Association, we have formulated a thesis which has been presented to President Eisenhower for study.

"Our thought is that the government underwrite the post-high school students, not on the basis of charity or a 'hand-out' but with the understanding that at the conclusion of the assistance the beneficiary would be available for government work in his field for two or three years after his graduation."

A piece here about the accidental electrocution on Eniwetok of the army sergeant who served as te hangman after the Nuremburg trials prompts John J. Iago of Baltimore to write:

"What has always griped me about Nuremburg is that any really valid and legitimate reason the U.S. could have had to hang a man like Von Ribbentrop was an equally valid and legitimate reason for hanging Molotov. If Von Ribbentrop was a war criminal (and I think he was), so was Molotov. The second world war was triggered by the deal which those two concocted and which created a partnership between the Fascist regime in Germany and the Communist regime in Russia. . .after 1941 I don't think that any American should ever have shared a platform with Molotov except for the purpose of springing the trap on the occasion of his execution."

Might as well end this with another quote from the mail. Little Stephen Barbaro, son of Lou Barbaro, popular golf pro at the Hollywood Club in Deal, N. J., has sent the following postcard from camp to his brother and sister:

"Dear Louie — I am having a wonderful time. I miss you and Chrissie very much. If you have gone into my room and messed it up I will kill you. Love — Steve."

Business Activity Expected To Gain

Neither the fact that this is a presidential election year nor the steel strike has resulted in a perceptible slowing of the overall economy, although the former was formerly regarded as bad medicine for business, steel strikes have always raised apprehensions. And "the summer business solstice" which once was taken for granted exerted no universal influence.

In fact, business prognosticators have swung to the opinion that ending of the steel strike may set off a new spiral of inflation, and inflationary spirals never develop while the economy is in the doldrums. Business activity, in short, may be headed for a fall and winter upward swing.

A new high mark has been registered by the cost of living index, and it is universally agreed that prices generally will register an immediate if not substantial increase in the wake of higher steel prices. There is less agitation for government action to lower interest rates, a step regarded as only probable if there is a slowing of business activity.

What is expected now by financial and business experts is close scrutiny of price increases by Washington, where officials are more apprehensive of a new round of inflation than they are of possible deflationary trends.

The stock market, although no longer regarded as the business weather vane it formerly was, reflects such thinking. The market continued to advance while the steel mills were closed, an unusual occurrence. Buyers of stocks seem to be confident the boom will continue.

The healthy state of the economy is attested by indices revealing that the general trend has been upward regardless of a slowing of automobile production, shutdown of the steel industry and a slight slowing in new home construction. Obviously the steel mills will operate at capacity during the remainder of the year, and construction and auto manufacturing no doubt will swing into line.

These Days

The Roots Of Hate

It is difficult to understand how anyone can hate his native land, its traditions, its way of life, as much as William Z. Foster, top Communist of the United States, displays in his book, "The Twilight of World Capitalism." Foster hates with passion, with unreasoned passion. Apparently, early in life, he revolted against his environment, his family and his religion. Foster tells of it himself:

"My break with religion had a considerable material effect upon the course of my life. My mother had long wanted to make a priest of me, and her wishes were seconded by Father Joseph O'Connor, a noted orator of St. Theresa's Church in Philadelphia, and a friend of mine. He offered to send me to a Jesuit college to be educated for the priesthood. He and my mother were both disappointed, however, when I let it be known to them that my reading had already taken me far and away beyond the control of the Catholic church."

This is what William Z. Foster wrote about the United States in 1949 when this nation had just emerged victorious from the most perilous war in its history:

"American imperialism is like a monstrous, all-consuming spider. It has sucked up most of the available gold supplies of the capitalist world and hoarded them away at Fort Knox; it has made nearly every capitalist nation in the world its debtor; it is stripping the various capitalist nations of their foreign markets, of their economic strength, and of their national independence. It has set up a more or less definite political control over all the important capitalist countries in the world. Now it is stretching out its claws for the USSR, the European new democracies, and the colonial and semi-colonial countries, in the hope that it can overwhelm them and devour them at its leisure. This is the parasitic, cannibalistic role of American capitalism in the world today."

This is not an alien living in the United States in sheep's clothes. These are not the words of a foreigner who came to this country because he believed that its streets were paved with gold and was disappointed that he had to work for a living. These are the words of a native born American, educated in our schools, spending his childhood not in the slums of our big cities but in the New England town life of Taunton, Mass. It is difficult to understand what influences, in school, at home, in church made him despise the land of his birth.

Further, in the same vein, he wrote:

"The United Nations is a casualty of American imperialism's drive for world empire . . . The United States, unable to utilize the U.N. effectively for its power policy game, proceeded to bypass that organization altogether in many important matters. Among these were its infamous Truman Doctrine of fomenting civil war in Greece and other countries; its Marshall Plan to bring all the capitalist countries of Europe under its economic, political, and military control; its arbitrary dumping of the Yalta and Potsdam agreements; its cultivation of reactionary regimes in Germany and Japan in order to use these countries as military bases against the USSR; its arbitrary interference in the Chinese civil war on the side of the feudalistic Chiang Kai-shek regime; its brutal subjugation and exploitation of the peoples of Latin America; and the formation of the military alliance, the North Atlantic Pact . . ."

Again, he said:

"The top men who are running our government, including President Truman, are tools of Wall Street. They don't want peace with the USSR; their objective is world domination by the United States, which they are convinced they can accomplish by destroying the Soviet Union . . ."

Harry Truman has been called many names, but tool of Wall Street certainly does not fit. Here is an irrational but passionate anger that breeds such thinking and such language and one would imagine that it would be self-defeating. Nevertheless, many trained minds have followed Foster's leadership and have risked their honor, their careers, and in a few instances, their lives, for the cause of which he has long been the American representative. They could not have believed what he wrote, but they accept the disciplines which his party imposed. Such men have taken the Fifth Amendment like parrots by order of the party which Foster heads.

Congress Blasted For Unprecedented 'Giveaway'

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — How can the American people get the whole story of what really happened in the 84th Congress which has just ended? How can they protect themselves in the future against wanton betrayal of the public interest by an extravagant Congress?

For despite all the boasts about the "fine record" and the speed with which many laws were passed, the truth is this was a "giveaway" Congress unprecedented in history. There was a supreme indifference to the fact that there are limits to what the taxpayer can afford. No attention was paid to the prospect that the burdens imposed in these times will prove unbearable in a period of economic recession.

Most notorious in this session were the brazen examples of "log-rolling — the deals by which many members of Congress support each other's projects on a plain basis of "you vote for my project and I'll vote for yours."

When the inside story of United States-Egyptian relations is written, it will also become known that former U. S. Ambassador Jefferson Caffery was instrumental in getting the Suez Canal turned over to Egypt. Caffery was so pro-Egyptian, during the Birtish hassle over the canal, that Prime Minister Churchill and Foreign Minister Eden both complained to Washington about his conduct.

Crime Prevention Doesn't Pay

This is a story about an Army officer who fought vice in Georgia and lost. It's a story that you don't like to write, but which has to be written.

Brig. Gen. Richard W. Mayo retired yesterday after 30 years in the Army, and after fighting an uphill battle to clean out the honky-tonks, the slot machines and the prostitutes that waylay soldiers outside Fort Stewart, an area described as the Phenix City of Georgia.

A West Point graduate, Gen. Mayo was transferred to Camp Stewart in 1953 where he found the VD rate the highest in the Army. Whereas the average Army VD rate was 67 VD cases per 1,000 men, Camp Stewart's rate was 428 cases per thousand. He launched a clean-up.

Camp Stewart is located 45 miles from Savannah, near the tiny town of Hinesville. GI's leaving the camp's gate had to walk through "Combat Alley," a row of dives where barmaids in shorts serve whisky and seduce soldiers.

Responsible for law enforcement in this area is Sheriff Paul Sikes, who has given Liberty County the reputation of being as wide-open as its name. Gen. Mayo's clean-up hit directly at Sheriff Sikes who is a political supporter of Sen. Richard Russell of Georgia, powerful chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee.

A grand jury, called to consider Gen. Mayor's demands for a clean-up, indicted 44 and charged that Sheriff Sikes "knowingly failed and neglected" to enforce the law.

The sheriff was called to Atlanta for an ouster hearing before Gov. Talmadge, but suffered a heart attack. He never attended that hearing or any other. Each time the governor called a hearing, the sheriff was ill. Three years passed. The sheriff never did face an ouster hearing, but he was well enough to continue being sheriff and to be re-elected in the spring of this year.

Queer Politics

Meanwhile some queer political maneuvers occurred to get the vice-fighting general out of Georgia. One day Gen. Alexander Bolling, commander of the Third Army, telephoned him.

"I've received a call from Washington that you've been offered command of Fort Totten," he said. "Did you ask your senator to get you out of here?"

Mayo had not. He said he liked Camp Stewart, wanted to clean it up, even though Fort Totten on Long Island is considered a prize post. The mysterious move to get him out of Camp Stewart was never cleared up. Gen. Mayo suspected it developed through local politicians and Senator Russell of the Senate Armed Services Committee.

Meanwhile, Sheriff Sikes had gone to Congressman Prince Preston to try to get Mayor transferred. Preston refused to intervene. He also asked local Assemblyman Roscoe Denmark to introduce a resolution in the Georgia Legislature asking for Mayo's recall. Denmark did not cooperate.

But in October 1954, Mayo came up before the Army Selection Board for promotion from brigadier to major general. Friends on the Selection Board said they recommended him. But nothing happened. His name would have come before Senator Russell. Higher-ups in the Pentagon never let it go that far.

Sheriff Wins Out

Meanwhile, Sheriff Sikes, re-elected in April, said he would end the career of General Mayo. He did. Or at least somebody did. Senator Russell denies that he had anything to do with General Mayo, has also told Georgia friends of Mayo that he could not intervene on Mayo's behalf.

Russell did, however, help in get Camp Stewart transferred from a temporary base or camp to a permanent fort; though General Mayo had warned that unless the area was cleaned up it might not become a fort. When this was accomplished, Russell sent a special telegram to Sheriff Sikes informing him of the victory.

So Mayo, with 30 years service and a brilliant record, was retired.

"He won plaudits for his magnificent struggle against the elements which play on the military population," wrote General Bolling, his commanding officer.

"He is an outstandingly competent officer who applies himself with vigor," wrote Gen. Tom Hickey of the General Staff.

Yet when he came before the Army Selection Board a second time, he was passed over. So yesterday General Mayo finally took off his uniform to become city manager of Gloucester, Mass., leaving "Combat Alley" with its slot machines and honky-tonks, its half-dressed barmaids, and its shocking VD rate under the supervision of Sheriff Sikes, who believes Liberty County should live up to its name.

On The Line

By Bob Considine

NEW YORK, July 31—(INS)—That bad penny, our shortage of engineers, has turned up again. We had a piece about it recently.

"Why should a boy work as hard as he must work to become an engineer and then wind up paying taxes to help Tito?" an irate lady from Los Angeles demands.

A Pittsburgh mother declares: "In order to graduate, the average engineering student puts in four tremendously difficult years of study. There is no question about getting a job. But the very companies that complain so much about the shortage of young engineers pay them $350 a month. Office boys command almost that much today. That is reason No. 1 for our engineer shortage, and why Russia is going ahead of us in that field. When parents spend about $5,000, and sometimes much more than that, for a son's education they have a right to expect a more promising start when the boy goes out into his field.

"Reason No. 2 — the military men appear to have only the faintest possible interest in utilizing the engineering training of graduate engineers who are drafted. It seems to them that they criminally neglect to do so. The engineer-draftee loses two years instead of gaining two years of experience that would be valuable to him and to his country.

"The engineer, after two years of service that has nothing to do with what he has been trained to do, comes out and finds he must start at the beginning again. My son has been the victim of this ordeal, but if my complaint is heeded it at least might help the coming engineer."

Dr. Joseph F. McCarthy, veteran teacher in several New York medical schools, writes:

"Recently in collaboration with Dr. Elmer Hess, past president of the American Medical Association, we have formulated a thesis which has been presented to President Eisenhower for study.

"Our thought is that the government underwrite the post-high school students, not on the basis of charity or a 'hand-out' but with the understanding that at the conclusion of the assistance the beneficiary would be available for government work in his field for two or three years after his graduation."

A piece here about the accidental electrocution on Eniwetok of the army sergeant who served as te hangman after the Nuremburg trials prompts John J. Iago of Baltimore to write:

"What has always griped me about Nuremburg is that any really valid and legitimate reason the U.S. could have had to hang a man like Von Ribbentrop was an equally valid and legitimate reason for hanging Molotov. If Von Ribbentrop was a war criminal (and I think he was), so was Molotov. The second world war was triggered by the deal which those two concocted and which created a partnership between the Fascist regime in Germany and the Communist regime in Russia. . .after 1941 I don't think that any American should ever have shared a platform with Molotov except for the purpose of springing the trap on the occasion of his execution."

Might as well end this with another quote from the mail. Little Stephen Barbaro, son of Lou Barbaro, popular golf pro at the Hollywood Club in Deal, N. J., has sent the following postcard from camp to his brother and sister:

"Dear Louie — I am having a wonderful time. I miss you and Chrissie very much. If you have gone into my room and messed it up I will kill you. Love — Steve."

New Medications Available To Combat Bedsores

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Bedsores are in the news again with the announcement of a preventive and a new remedy. A silicon barrier cream is successful in protecting susceptible areas with an invisible covering. The new remedy contains an enzyme that eliminates infection and promotes tissue regeneration.

Most victims of bedsores are bedridden; the majority are older and recuperating from a heart attack, stroke, fractured hip, or paralysis. Bedsores develop along pressure points in persons with lowered vitality and the skin over the buttocks, lower spine, elbows, and heels are favored sites.

Prolonged pressure and uncleanliness are the usual causes. The skin becomes red and inflamed and then ulcerates because the circulation to these tissues is poor, decreasing their vitality. Unless pressure is relieved, the open sore enlarges and infection extends into neighboring tissues.

The lesions seldom develop if the ailing person is turned on one side or the other at frequent intervals. Lying on the tummy also helps. In addition, the back is cleansed thoroughly every day with soap and water followed by an alcohol rub to toughen the skin. Powder should be applied to keep the skin dry because perspiration encourages maceration.

When this plan is followed, bedsores rarely form. But time and effort are essential; it takes at least 15 minutes morning and night. This is difficult in large institutions where there is a shortage of nursing personnel. It is here that the silicone barrier cream may be of the greatest value.

The back is cleansed first and after it is dried, the area is covered with the silicone product, which adheres to the skin and forms a protective surface that lasts several days. The skin remains clean and the back need not be rubbed morning and night. Thus silicone not only serves as a preventive but saves time.

For existing lesions, a different plan of attack is recommended. Pressure is relieved by encircling the ulcer with a rubber doughnut or keeping the patient on the side or abdomen. Infection is eliminated with one of the antibiotics and by practicing scrupulous cleanliness.

Dr. E. W. Miller Jr., of Lincolndale, N. Y., found Panafil ointment an excellent adjunct in treatment It contains an enzyme that digests the diseased tissues, a prerequisite to wound healing. He tried it on 24 elderly mental patients with bedsores and considers it superior to any agent previously used.

CHANGING BABY'S BLOOD

Mrs. Z. writes: What is meant by an exchange transfusion?

REPLY

Babies born of an Rh negative mother and an Rh positive father may develop erythroblastosis. When this occurs, as a life saving measure, the baby's blood is withdrawn and replaced by blood from the mother.

LUNG INFECTION

R. M. writes: Does pulmonary infection mean tuberculosis?

REPLY

No. Various organisms, including fungi, are capable of causing pulmonary disease. Infection with the tubercle bacillus is the best known.

DEGENERATED RETINA

T. V. Z. writes: Are any eyeglasses helpful to an elderly person with degeneration of the retina due to hardening of the arteries?

REPLY

Glasses will not restore the function of a retina that has degenerated, but special lenses with high magnification may help.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me!

By Bennett Cerf

Harry Oliver tells about an Indian and two other men who were riding across a big desert waste. They'd been in the saddle since early morn and their talk got around to the big dinner they hoped for when they got to town. The Indian was asked if he was hungry. He all but grunted, "No."

After they reached their destination, they ordered steaks with all the trimmings, and the Indian was then first to scrape his plate absolutely clean. "Ho-ho!" laughed one companion, "when we asked if you were hungry just an hour ago you said no."

"No use hungry on desert," said the Indian calmly. "No grub there."

Peter Lind Hayes, a golfer with a handicap under 10, has a sign on the wall of his study which reminds him, "A golf course is an insane asylum, peopled with madmen suffering from delusion that they will finally master the game. The more violent cases believe that they have mastered it."

Plans For Plant At Frostburg Hit New Snags

Council To Study Problem Further

FROSTBURG — Hopes for the construction of a factory for the M. Berkowitz Company received two setbacks Monday at a meeting of the Mayor and Council.

The "City Fathers" met to review a letter received last week from the company. The firm said its top price for a building is $89,619 and no assurance was given that the company would assume any cost exceeding that amount.

It was estimated by local contractors that the building, as proposed by the Berkowitz firm, could not be built for less than $90,000 or more and because of the delay in ordering materials and an expected increase in building supplies due to the raise in steel prices.

The second blow came when City Attorney Edward J. Ryan said that the constitutionality of that portion of the city charter giving the city power to issue bonds and construct a building for industrial purposes had been questioned by counsel for the bonding companies which must purchase the bonds before the building could be erected. To clear this point up, Ryan said, some local citizen would have to bring a friendly suit against the city, stating it did not have the power to use public money for private business. A decision would have to be handed down by Circuit Court. Then, whichever side lost the suit would have to file action with the Court of Appeals for a final decision.

Commissioner G. Franklin Martens pointed out that a similar suit was brought against Cumberland's proposed plan to erect the overhead bridge across the city. The Court of Appeals' final decision was that the city had the power to proceed.

Ryan said he would present a definite plan of action to the city at next Monday's meeting to contest this part of the charter in order to clear it for future use, even though the Berkowitz company would not go ahead with the city on the erection of a plant.

Out of town Rotarians at the meeting were Dr. John Hohing, Lonaconing and John A. Kreiling of Cumberland, and Louis A. Weld, Meyersdale. Guests of Rotarians present were James E. Bangerd, administrator of Miners Hospital, and Samuel Ritchie, Pontiac, Mich.

Rains Help Crops But Delay Some Harvests In State

COLLEGE PARK, Md., July 31 (AP)—The additional rains last week kept corn, soybeans, hay and other farm crops growing rapidly, but the showers hampered harvests of crops, especially grains.

The University of Maryland's extension service, in its regular weekly crop report, said that in the Western Maryland apple areas, Lodi, Dutchess and Wealthy apples were being picked, with limited quantities of early peaches being harvested in Washington County. The full peach harvest, however, was not generally underway.

The continued rainfall made yield prospects for corn especially favorable. The European corn borer was reported most prevalent in Howard, Carroll, Baltimore and Harford counties.

Wet weather has held up harvests of wheat and oats in the northern portion of the state for the last two weeks, and only limited progress has been made in the harvest of second growth alfalfa.

"This promises to be an outstanding convention, and those who have attended similar events in past years will want to be present again this year," Hyre commented. Plans For Plant At Frostburg Hit New Snags

Council To Study Problem Further

FROSTBURG — Hopes for the construction of a factory for the M. Berkowitz Company received two setbacks Monday at a meeting of the Mayor and Council.

The "City Fathers" met to review a letter received last week from the company. The firm said its top price for a building is $89,619 and no assurance was given that the company would assume any cost exceeding that amount.

It was estimated by local contractors that the building, as proposed by the Berkowitz firm, could not be built for less than $90,000 or more and because of the delay in ordering materials and an expected increase in building supplies due to the raise in steel prices.

The second blow came when City Attorney Edward J. Ryan said that the constitutionality of that portion of the city charter giving the city power to issue bonds and construct a building for industrial purposes had been questioned by counsel for the bonding companies which must purchase the bonds before the building could be erected. To clear this point up, Ryan said, some local citizen would have to bring a friendly suit against the city, stating it did not have the power to use public money for private business. A decision would have to be handed down by Circuit Court. Then, whichever side lost the suit would have to file action with the Court of Appeals for a final decision.

Commissioner G. Franklin Martens pointed out that a similar suit was brought against Cumberland's proposed plan to erect the overhead bridge across the city. The Court of Appeals' final decision was that the city had the power to proceed.

Ryan said he would present a definite plan of action to the city at next Monday's meeting to contest this part of the charter in order to clear it for future use, even though the Berkowitz company would not go ahead with the city on the erection of a plant.

Out of town Rotarians at the meeting were Dr. John Hohing, Lonaconing and John A. Kreiling of Cumberland, and Louis A. Weld, Meyersdale. Guests of Rotarians present were James E. Bangerd, administrator of Miners Hospital, and Samuel Ritchie, Pontiac, Mich.

Rains Help Crops But Delay Some Harvests In State

COLLEGE PARK, Md., July 31 (AP)—The additional rains last week kept corn, soybeans, hay and other farm crops growing rapidly, but the showers hampered harvests of crops, especially grains.

The University of Maryland's extension service, in its regular weekly crop report, said that in the Western Maryland apple areas, Lodi, Dutchess and Wealthy apples were being picked, with limited quantities of early peaches being harvested in Washington County. The full peach harvest, however, was not generally underway.

The continued rainfall made yield prospects for corn especially favorable. The European corn borer was reported most prevalent in Howard, Carroll, Baltimore and Harford counties.

Wet weather has held up harvests of wheat and oats in the northern portion of the state for the last two weeks, and only limited progress has been made in the harvest of second growth alfalfa.

"This promises to be an outstanding convention, and those who have attended similar events in past years will want to be present again this year," Hyre commented. Wynn Blanks Yankees, 5-0; Dodgers Trip Braves, 3-2

Tribe Hurler Gives Up Only Three Bingles

Early Bags 13th; Cleveland Rally In 7th Kayoes Kucks

CLEVELAND, July 31 (AP) — Knuckleballer Early Wynn hurled a three-hit shutout tonight as the Cleveland Indians beat the New York Yankees 5-0. For the runner-up Indians, who had lost eight straight to the Yanks, it was their sixth victory in 16 games with the league leaders.

The Yankees' winning streak was halted at six straight.

Rookie Rocky Colavito, Cleveland rightfielder, hit a homer in the seventh inning to start a two run rally that drove Johnny Kucks from the mound. Kucks, who had beaten the Indians in four out of five previous starts, was charged with his sixth loss against 14 wins.

Only hits off Wynn were scattered singles by Jerry Coleman, Yogi Berra and Mickey Mantle. Mantle struck out twice and walked in his other appearances tonight.

The Indians scored three in the second on walks to Al Rosen and Colavito, a triple by Hal Naragon and a sacrifice fly by Chico Carrasquel.

With one out in the seventh, Colavito drove one over the left field fence. Naragon, Carrasquel and Wynn followed with singles that drove Kucks to the showers and brought on Don Larsen. Larsen retired Avila to end the seventh, and set the Indians down in order in the eighth.

Wynn posted his 13th victory and fourth shutout in 18 decisions.

J. Ray Hull, head football coach at Beall High School for the past four years, informed friends yesterday that he is resigning his post at the Frostburg school to accept an assistant coaching job at Brentwood High School, near Pittsburgh.

In addition to his duties as football coach at Beall High School, Hull also coached the track and field team and the wrestling squad. Ray introduced the mat sport at the Frostburg school.

Giants Hold Redlegs Even In Twin Bill

New York Wins, 5-1, Drops Second, 7-3

NEW YORK, July 31 (AP) — Ray Jablonski's three-run homer triggered a five-run fifth inning as Cincinnati bounced back to defeat New York 7-3 tonight after the last-place Giants had ended the Redlegs' five-game winning streak 5-1 in the first game of a twi-night doubleheader.

The split edged the second place Redlegs to within two games of the National League leading Milwaukee Braves, who were beaten by Brooklyn 3-2.

In the second game the Redlegs led 2-1 going into the big fifth against lefthander Dick Littlefield, jumping out front on Roy McMillan's third homer in the first inning following a lead-off single by Johnny Temple, who had three hits for the night.

It was Temple who singled to open the fifth, in which George Crowe and Gus produced RBI singled ahead of Jabbo's 13th homer. Littlefield, 0-3, had allowed only four hits until the fifth and had struck out six, getting Crowe, Smoky Burgess and winning pitcher Hal Jeffcoat twice each.

Rookie southpaw Joe Margoneri allowed the Redlegs only five hits in the opener, while gaining his first major league complete game and becoming the first Giant pitcher to go all the way since July 8.

Doubles by Bill White and Bill Sarni off starter Art Fowler gave the Giants their first run in the second inning. Three successive singles and a wild pitch produced two more in the third.

Single In 9th By Robinson Decides Game

Jackie Also Belts 2-Run Homer; Clem Labine Is Victor

JERSEY CITY, July 31 (AP)—Jackie Robinson, returned to the Brooklyn lineup in a minor shakeup by Manager Walt Alston, swatted a two-run homer in the second inning and then drove in the tie-breaking run with a long single in the ninth tonight as the Dodgers defeated the National League leading Milwaukee Braves 3-2.

Robinson's bust-up single, his third hit of the game, scored Pee Wee Reese, who had singled to open the frame against reliefer Dave Jolly and then moved up to second on a sacrifice by Duke Snider.

The Braves, who had whipped the Dodgers seven straight times, had tied the count at 2-all in the top of the ninth on Eddie Mathews' 20th home run as Milwaukee got rid of righthander Carl Erskine, who sought his eighth straight victory.

The only other Milwaukee run came on Joe Adcock's 24th homer in the second inning, giving him 10 in nine consecutive games against Brooklyn.

It was Adcock, however, who ended Milwaukee's ninth-inning rally, proving an easy third out at the plate when he tried to score after Henry Aaron had been forced out at home.

The defeat left Milwaukee with only a two-game lead over the runnerup Cincinnati Redlegs, who split a twi-night doubleheader with the New York Giants. Brooklyn's third-place world champions pushed back to within four games of the Braves.

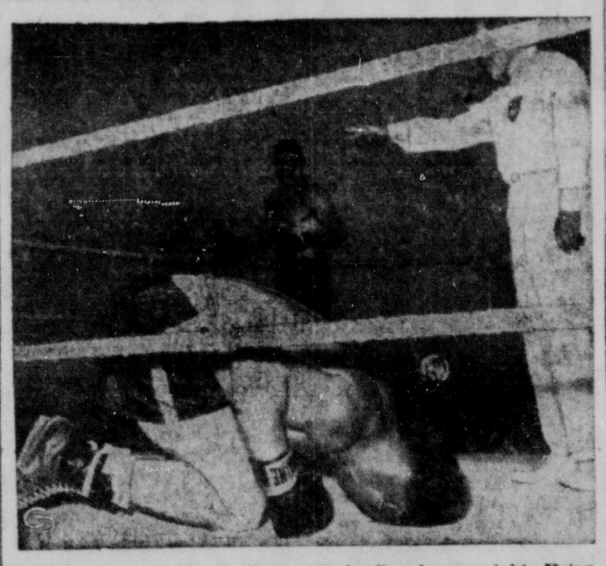

Erskine, who hasn't beaten the Braves since Aug. 4, 1955, and has lost three to them this season, had a three-hitter until Mathews' one-out smash over the low right-field fence. Aaron then followed with a double and Clem Labine came on in relief to get his eighth victory.

Athletes Get Full Ride At Nine Schools

Illinois Exception, Magazine Reports

CHICAGO, July 31 (AP)—A national magazine today made assertions of "full ride" football scholarships and financial aid athletic "loopholes" in the Big Ten.

The copyrighted story which will appear in Thursday's issue of Look magazine came virtually on the eve of a Big Ten meeting to make an "extremely candid and in the main critical" study of athletic practices.

Commissioner K. L. (Tug) Wilson commented the story was an exaggeration and the conference was honestly meeting its athletic problems.

Central figure in the article was Michigan's great all-round athlete, Ron Kramer, who reportedly received a $560 grant from his school last fall through an "escape" clause in the Big Ten code.

Look also said all Big Ten schools expect Illinois gave "full ride" scholarships to one or more football players last fall.

Michigan's dean of men conceded Kramer received a grant because of a football injury which kept him from his campus jobs, but denied Look's claim the stellar end had below a "C" average and thus got the unearned aid through a "loophole."

Tribe Hurler Gives Up Only Three Bingles

Early Bags 13th; Cleveland Rally In 7th Kayoes Kucks

CLEVELAND, July 31 (AP) — Knuckleballer Early Wynn hurled a three-hit shutout tonight as the Cleveland Indians beat the New York Yankees 5-0. For the runner-up Indians, who had lost eight straight to the Yanks, it was their sixth victory in 16 games with the league leaders.

The Yankees' winning streak was halted at six straight.

Rookie Rocky Colavito, Cleveland rightfielder, hit a homer in the seventh inning to start a two run rally that drove Johnny Kucks from the mound. Kucks, who had beaten the Indians in four out of five previous starts, was charged with his sixth loss against 14 wins.

Only hits off Wynn were scattered singles by Jerry Coleman, Yogi Berra and Mickey Mantle. Mantle struck out twice and walked in his other appearances tonight.

The Indians scored three in the second on walks to Al Rosen and Colavito, a triple by Hal Naragon and a sacrifice fly by Chico Carrasquel.

With one out in the seventh, Colavito drove one over the left field fence. Naragon, Carrasquel and Wynn followed with singles that drove Kucks to the showers and brought on Don Larsen. Larsen retired Avila to end the seventh, and set the Indians down in order in the eighth.

Wynn posted his 13th victory and fourth shutout in 18 decisions.

Hull Discloses His Resignation As Beall Coach

J. Ray Hull, head football coach at Beall High School for the past four years, informed friends yesterday that he is resigning his post at the Frostburg school to accept an assistant coaching job at Brentwood High School, near Pittsburgh.

Hull has been employed at McDonald, Pa., his home town, during the summer months.

The one-time Waynesburg (Pa.) College gridder, who came to Cumberland with the G. C. Murphy Company, was named assistant to Coach William P. Hahn at Fort Hill High School, August 24, 1949. He transferred to Beall High School in March 29, 1952 and there succeeded Joseph Hoopengardner as head grid mentor.

In addition to his duties as football coach at Beall High School, Hull also coached the track and field team and the wrestling squad. Ray introduced the mat sport at the Frostburg school.

During his four-year term as football coach at Frostburg his teams won 14 games and lost 24.

Giants Hold Redlegs Even In Twin Bill

New York Wins, 5-1, Drops Second, 7-3

NEW YORK, July 31 (AP) — Ray Jablonski's three-run homer triggered a five-run fifth inning as Cincinnati bounced back to defeat New York 7-3 tonight after the last-place Giants had ended the Redlegs' five-game winning streak 5-1 in the first game of a twi-night doubleheader.

The split edged the second place Redlegs to within two games of the National League leading Milwaukee Braves, who were beaten by Brooklyn 3-2.

In the second game the Redlegs led 2-1 going into the big fifth against lefthander Dick Littlefield, jumping out front on Roy McMillan's third homer in the first inning following a lead-off single by Johnny Temple, who had three hits for the night.

It was Temple who singled to open the fifth, in which George Crowe and Gus produced RBI singled ahead of Jabbo's 13th homer. Littlefield, 0-3, had allowed only four hits until the fifth and had struck out six, getting Crowe, Smoky Burgess and winning pitcher Hal Jeffcoat twice each.

Rookie southpaw Joe Margoneri allowed the Redlegs only five hits in the opener, while gaining his first major league complete game and becoming the first Giant pitcher to go all the way since July 8.

Doubles by Bill White and Bill Sarni off starter Art Fowler gave the Giants their first run in the second inning. Three successive singles and a wild pitch produced two more in the third.

Jackie Brandt's fifth homer in the seventh was good for the fourth tally.

Forest Hills Gets Davis Cup Prelim

MILAN, Italy, July 31 (AP)—The interzone Davis Cup finals between the United States and Italy will be played Sept. 28-30 at Forest Hills, N.Y., Ciro Aldo Tolusso, president of the Italian Lawn Tennis Federation, said today.

The United States first must eliminate Mexico in the American zone finals at Rye, N.Y. this weekend. It would be a mammoth upset if the Mexicans defeat Uncle Sam's veteran squad led by Vic Seixas a Ham Richardson.

Cardinals Blank Pittsburgh, 7-0

Dickson Hands Bucs 6th Straight Loss

PITTSBURGH, July 31 (AP)—Manager Bobby Bragan benched slumping first baseman Dale Long and shook up his lineup drastically but it all went for naught tonight as the St. Louis Cardinals clobbered the skidding Pittsburgh Pirates 7-0, sending them down to their 6th straight defeat. Veteran Murry Dickson, who formerly pitched for the Pirates, applied the whitewash brush as he scattered five singles.

Red Munger opposed Dickson in a battle of veterans but the Cards got to him for three runs in the first and knocked him out of the box in the fourth with a four-run attack.

Dickson, winning his eighth game in 15 decisions, was never in serious trouble. The Pirates helped him out on two occasions with faulty base running.

Four hits and a walk accounted for the three Card runs in the first inning. In the fourth, after one was out, Munger walked Don Blasingame and gave up consecutive singles to Alvin Dark, Stan Musial and Ken Boyer to account for two runs. Fred Waters replaced Munger and issued a walk to fill the bases and two more runs scored on an infield out and a throwing error.

Martinsburg Man Wins State Shoot

Eyler Wins Singles, Francis Gets Trophy

Ira E. Eyler, general insurance agent of Martinsburg, W. Va., who had shot at only 100 registered targets since 1929 when he was runner-up for the Maryland title, is the 1956 16-yard trapshooting champion of West Virginia.

A native Baltimorean, Eyler is a brother-in-law of Jacob S. Ailes, Romney attorney, and Eugene Ailes, Romney bank cashier, who with Mrs. Eyler are grandchildren of the late John Cornwell, former governor of West Virginia and chief counsel for the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad.

Eyler, 45, whose father won the Maryland trapshooting title in 1911 at Baltimore, has been a resident of Martinsburg since 1930, won the state singles title last weekend at White Sulphur Springs by defeating Dr. B. R. Kinter, Bluefield, in a shootoff after both gunners had broken 192 out of 200 targets. In the overtime session Eyler hit 49 out of 50 to Dr. Kinter's 48 out of 50.

Meador Scores Triple

E. Walton Meador, Bluefield, won trapshooting's "triple crown" at White Sulphur by breaking 85 out of 100 in the doubles, 94 of 100 from 21 yards in the handicap and nosed out Dr. Kinter for the all-around title, 368 to 365 on 400 targets.

Edger H. McDonald, Headsville, 1955 doubles and all-around champion, J. Calvin Collis, Bunker Hill, 1955 singles winner and H. A. "Pete" Downey, Martinsburg, 1955 handicap ace, were not present to defend their titles. It was the first time in many years McDonald was unable to compete.

Eyler's victory entitles him to represent West Virginia in the "Champion of Champions" event at the Grand American Handicap Shoot August 20-25 at Vandalia, Ohio.

Tony Francis, of Westernport, chairman of the Ridgeley Rod and Gun Club, scene of many state shoots in past years, broke 97 out of 100 in the State Preliminary Shoot on opening day to take Class "B" honors and with it went a trophy. Albert Suttle, Petersburg, Va., bagged Class "A" honors with a 97 and Helen Urban, Mentor, Ohio, posted a 97 to win in Class "C."

Carter-Satterfield Bout Set Tonight

SYRACUSE, N.Y., July 31 (AP)—Harold Carter today was installed an 8-5 favorite over unpredictable Bob Satterfield in their 10-round heavyweight fight tomorrow night.

It will be their third meeting this year. Carter won a decision and the other ended in a draw. Satterfield needs a win over the Linden, N.J. boxer to insure his position as the sixth ranked heavyweight.

Another victory for Carter probably will pull him up on the heavyweight ladder from his current ninth rung and put him in contention for the vacant title.

The bout will be nationally televised and broadcast (9 p.m. EST ABC).

Nashua Shuns Jamaica Race

Will Run Aug. 11 At Atlantic City

NEW YORK, July 31 (AP)—Trainer Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons said today that Nashua would make his next start in the $100,000 Atlantic City Handicap Aug. 11, and skip the $50,000-added Brooklyn Handicap Saturday at Jamaica.

The 82-year-old trainer said he had talked with Leslie Combs II, head of the syndicate which purchased the millionaire horse, and that the 4-year-old colt would not be allowed to carry more than 130 pounds in a race.

Frank E. (Jimmy) Kilroe, handicapper for New York tracks, assigned Nashua 132 pounds yesterday for the mile and one quarter Brooklyn on Saturday. Nashua won the Suburban with 128, the Monmouth Handicap with 129, both at a mile and one quarter.

Earlier this season Combs said Nashua would not race with more than 130 pounds.

Fitzsimmons had this to say of the syndicate's decision:

"They said they had a sound horse and they wanted to keep him that way, for breeding, rather than set any records carrying weight."

Tutwiler, Coffey Pace Golf Field

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., July 31 (AP)—State Amateur champ Ed Tutwiler Jr. of Charleston and Rut Coffey, Moundsville pro, each fired par 70s to pace the small field in the opening round of the West Virginia Open Golf Tournament here today.

Charleston professional Joe Taylor wound up in the runner-up spot, two strokes behind.

Amateur Dave Clovis of Parkersburg, and professionals Dazzy Vance of Bridgeport, Gary Nixon and Charles Beverage, both of White Sulphur Springs, had 73's.

Soggy fairways, wet greens and lengthened tees dampened prospects of low scores in the first round of the three-day, 72-hole event.

Carter-Satterfield Bout Set Tonight

SYRACUSE, N.Y., July 31 (AP)—Harold Carter today was installed an 8-5 favorite over unpredictable Bob Satterfield in their 10-round heavyweight fight tomorrow night.

It will be their third meeting this year. Carter won a decision and the other ended in a draw. Satterfield needs a win over the Linden, N.J. boxer to insure his position as the sixth ranked heavyweight.

Another victory for Carter probably will pull him up on the heavyweight ladder from his current ninth rung and put him in contention for the vacant title.

The bout will be nationally televised and broadcast (9 p.m. EST ABC).

Nashua Shuns Jamaica Race

Will Run Aug. 11 At Atlantic City

NEW YORK, July 31 (AP)—Trainer Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons said today that Nashua would make his next start in the $100,000 Atlantic City Handicap Aug. 11, and skip the $50,000-added Brooklyn Handicap Saturday at Jamaica.

The 82-year-old trainer said he had talked with Leslie Combs II, head of the syndicate which purchased the millionaire horse, and that the 4-year-old colt would not be allowed to carry more than 130 pounds in a race.

Frank E. (Jimmy) Kilroe, handicapper for New York tracks, assigned Nashua 132 pounds yesterday for the mile and one quarter Brooklyn on Saturday. Nashua won the Suburban with 128, the Monmouth Handicap with 129, both at a mile and one quarter.

Earlier this season Combs said Nashua would not race with more than 130 pounds.

Fitzsimmons had this to say of the syndicate's decision:

"They said they had a sound horse and they wanted to keep him that way, for breeding, rather than set any records carrying weight."

Tutwiler, Coffey Pace Golf Field

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., July 31 (AP)—State Amateur champ Ed Tutwiler Jr. of Charleston and Rut Coffey, Moundsville pro, each fired par 70s to pace the small field in the opening round of the West Virginia Open Golf Tournament here today.

Charleston professional Joe Taylor wound up in the runner-up spot, two strokes behind.

Amateur Dave Clovis of Parkersburg, and professionals Dazzy Vance of Bridgeport, Gary Nixon and Charles Beverage, both of White Sulphur Springs, had 73's.

Soggy fairways, wet greens and lengthened tees dampened prospects of low scores in the first round of the three-day, 72-hole event.

Middlekamp Is Winner In Mt. Lake Park Match

Larry Beats Miller, Hagerstown Player

MOUNTAIN LAKE PARK, Md., July 31 (AP)—John Harris and Larry Middlekamp, the only seeded players to see action won their matches as the Western Maryland tennis championships opened today.

Harris, a University of Michigan student from Washington who is seeded fifth, defeated William Harvey of Washington in a first-round match, 6-2, 6-1.

Middlekamp, from College Park, Md., formerly of Cumberland, drew a first-round bye and then whipped DeWitt Miller of Hagerstown, Md., in the second round, 6-2, 6-0.

Miller earlier had defeated E. H. Pollack of Wheeling, W. Va., 6-3, 6-2, in one of the five first-round matches played.

A father and son entry from Hagerstown had varying degrees of luck. Fred Wright Jr., the father, lost his match to Joseph Krock of Uniontown, Pa., 6-2, 2-6, 6-2. The son, Fred Wright III, moved to the second round with a 6-4, 0-6, 6-2 victory over Don Mercer of Wheeling.

In the fifth match, Robert Burgess of Hyattsville, Md., downed Bond Weber of Charleston, W. Va., 6-3, 6-4.

Only one women's match was played, with Pat Thomas of Washington topping Dorothy Rose of Windber, Pa., 6-4, 6-1.

Fred McNair of Washington, the second-ranked player in the Middle Atlantic district, is seeded No. 1 in the men's singles, with defending champion Phil Neff of Washington second.

Charlotte Decker of Washington, No. 2 in the Middle Atlantic rankings, is seeded first among the women, followed by Nancy Corse, also of Washington. Letty Ewing of Wheeling, the defending champion, is not competing this year.

Ned Garver Placed On Disabled List

DETROIT, July 31 (AP)—Ned Garver, ailing righthander of the Detroit Tigers, was placed on the disabled list today for the second time this season.

Garver has appeared in only five games for a total of 14 2-3 innings.

Crowds Down, Bets Up

OCEANPORT, N. J. (AP)—The first half of Monmouth Park's 50-day thoroughbred meeting showed a 2.3 per cent increase in wagering but a 2 per cent decline in attendance. During the first 25 days of the meeting $35,732,435 was wagered.

Reports Car Taken

Spencer A. Key, 2004 North Barclay Street, Baltimore, reported to City Police that his car was stolen from Glenn Street between 9:15 and 10:15 Saturday night. It contained a suitcase and a tuxedo with a white dinner jacket.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 no trump	Pass	2 no trump	Pass
3 no trump	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Ten of diamonds.

Today's tableau depicts a duel between two evenly matched contestants with the result in doubt until the very end of the hand.

With 18 points South barely got under the wire with his bid of one no trump and North had just about enough to justify a single raise. Form held up when the combined assets of 26 points offered declarer a reasonable play for his contract.

West opened the ten of diamonds, dummy ducked, and East overtook with the jack which declarer permitted to hold. East continued with the queen which went to dummy's ace. The jack of clubs was led and East covered with the king. This is the correct play, since it preserves West's entry if he happens to hold the ace of clubs and loses nothing if declarer has the ace. South won and played the eight of clubs, but West with an eye to shutting out the rest of dummy's clubs refused to take the queen.

At this point, declarer decided to abandon the club suit. Dummy's queen of hearts would prove to be an entry only if West held the king of hearts, but if declarer persisted with the establishment of the clubs the defenders would surely build up enough tricks to sink the contract, what with the established diamonds, the club, and the eventual king of hearts.

Declarer shifted his attack by leading a low heart. West took the king, then knocked out South's second stopper in diamonds. Declarer then led a heart to the queen and a heart back to his ace. On this trick West had to make an embarrassing discard. He must either unguard the spade queen, or the club queen, or discard one of his good diamonds. He chose to release a diamond whereupon declarer threw him in with a club. He could cash one diamond which was his fourth trick, but then had to lead from his queen of spades. On the low lead, the jack was put up and when it held, declarer took the last three tricks.

Reports Car Taken

Spencer A. Key, 2004 North Barclay Street, Baltimore, reported to City Police that his car was stolen from Glenn Street between 9:15 and 10:15 Saturday night. It contained a suitcase and a tuxedo with a white dinner jacket.

South	West	North	East
1 no trump	Pass	2 no trump	Pass
3 no trump	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Ten of diamonds.

Today's tableau depicts a duel between two evenly matched contestants with the result in doubt until the very end of the hand.

With 18 points South barely got under the wire with his bid of one no trump and North had just about enough to justify a single raise. Form held up when the combined assets of 26 points offered declarer a reasonable play for his contract.

West opened the ten of diamonds, dummy ducked, and East overtook with the jack which declarer permitted to hold. East continued with the queen which went to dummy's ace. The jack of clubs was led and East covered with the king. This is the correct play, since it preserves West's entry if he happens to hold the ace of clubs and loses nothing if declarer has the ace. South won and played the eight of clubs, but West with an eye to shutting out the rest of dummy's clubs refused to take the queen.

At this point, declarer decided to abandon the club suit. Dummy's queen of hearts would prove to be an entry only if West held the king of hearts, but if declarer persisted with the establishment of the clubs the defenders would surely build up enough tricks to sink the contract, what with the established diamonds, the club, and the eventual king of hearts.

Declarer shifted his attack by leading a low heart. West took the king, then knocked out South's second stopper in diamonds. Declarer then led a heart to the queen and a heart back to his ace. On this trick West had to make an embarrassing discard. He must either unguard the spade queen, or the club queen, or discard one of his good diamonds. He chose to release a diamond whereupon declarer threw him in with a club. He could cash one diamond which was his fourth trick, but then had to lead from his queen of spades. On the low lead, the jack was put up and when it held, declarer took the last three tricks.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of John William Woods, killed in action in France August 1, 1944.
Though death may part, it cannot break
The bond of love we knew,
And somewhere beyond this vale of tears
Our darling knows it too.
From the ones who miss his tender smile
But for this we thank thee Lord
Mr. & Mrs. Terrence P. Woods and Family

In Memoriam

In loving memory of John William Woods, killed in action in France August 1, 1944.
Though death may part, it cannot break
The bond of love we knew.
And somewhere beyond this vale of tears
Our darling knows it too.
Gone from those who loved him dearly
From the ones who miss his tender smile
But for this we thank thee Lord
For sharing him awhile.
Mr. & Mrs. Terrence P. Woods and Family

Oils, Metals, Aircrafts Lead Market To Advance

NEW YORK, July 31 (AP) — Oils, metals and aircrafts led the stock market to its most decisive advance in more than two weeks today.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose $1.30 to $190.70, with the industrials up $1.80, the rails up $1.50 and the utilities up 30 cents, to still another new high for the latter component.

U.S. Steel Corp., whose usual dividend was announced after the close of the market, was the day's most active stock, up 1⅜ at 65⅝ on 57,100 shares. Second most active was Sperry Rand, 70 ⅛ at 26¾ on 46,400 shares. Third was Republic Steel up 1⅜ at 51⅜ on 44,300 shares.

Next came Sunray Oil, up ⅛ at 29⅞ and Standard Oil (NJ) up 1 at 60.

Thirteen of the 15 most active stocks were higher.

Steels included gains of 2⅞ by Bethlehem, and 2⅛ by Youngstown Sheet & Tube.

International Nickel ran ahead 5¾ on news that the government will pay premium prices to encourage expansion of nickel production.

Kennecott was up 3, Anaconda ¼ and American Smelting 1⅞.

Among chemicals, Union Carbide was up 2¼, Du Pont ¾ and American Cyanamid 1½.

Television And Radio

By JOHN CROSBY

Miss Mansfield And GBS

You had to get up very early to watch Jayne Mansfield play Cleopatra in George Bernard Shaw's "Caesar and Cleopatra" on "Today" last week. By very early I mean 8:15 a. m. or so, if you planned to get breakfast down, and, good God, man, you wouldn't want to watch Miss Mansfield play Cleopatra on an empty stomach, would you?

The occasion was the hundredth anniversary of Shaw's birth and it was good of Miss Mansfield to crowd a memorial to the testy old Irishman into her busy schedule. Normally, she's opening supermarkets or appearing as Miss Subways or some such thing. She is one of the most indefatigable appearers at movie premieres, though, of course, she never gets around to seeing the movies, because she's in a play, "Will Success Spoil Rock Hunter," which, unfortunately, goes on just about the time the movies start.

Still, she's never been hesitant about praising a movie she hasn't seen to the TV cameras, or anything else that happens to be around. Just as a guess, I'd say her acquaintance with Shaw is about equal to her knowledge of those movies she hasn't seen. It was just a fragment of Cleopatra, but it was richly rewarding to those students who have watched Vivian Leigh, Claire Bloom and other lesser actresses struggle with this role.

"You must not talk to me now as if I were a child," she said, pouting prettily. Well, come to think of it, Shaw wrote the line to be said just that way, and maybe he would have liked it. Miss Mansfield went on to prate about a noble Roman whose "round arms shine in the sun like marble." She wasn't, it developed, talking about Mickey Hargitay — or whatever his name was — but about Marc Antony. Anyhow, Miss Mansfield got through the passage all right, staring limply into the cameras and knitting her brows only over the hard words.

"Oh, I loved it. I just loved it," she said afterwards to Jack Lescoulie, who played Caesar with a laurel wreath on his head and a microphone draped around his shoulders. Shaw would probably have loved it, too. Cleopatra probably spun in her grave — but not Shaw. He was a clown in his own rights and, like Miss Mansfield, he would go to almost any length to attract attention. When Shaw made his round-the-world trip in 1933, the late Clarence Day, author of "Life with Father," who was crippled with arthritis, hunched his way into his clothes and hobbled off to see Shaw in the newsreels. Day said he was convinced the old man would make a fool of himself in front of the cameras —and he did, skipping around the deck of the ship like a goat. (If Miss Mansfield had been available, Shaw would probably have cavorted around with her.)

On that same trip, Shaw made a speech at the Metropolitan Opera House, carried by NBC. He went on at such great length that NBC had to cancel a couple of commercials to get it all in. The playwright always claimed that the way for a writer to stay popular in America was to insult us at every turn, and that he had never said a decent word about Americans. That isn't true—he said many of them—but there were some digs in that speech that bear repetition. For one thing, he said it was easier than it ought to be to get a rise out of Americans by telling them things about themselves that were true, not only of Americans, but also of every other man on the globe. It's a failing we still have.

Shaw had many jokes at our expense, but we have had some on him. Not the least of these is the fact that Shaw has developed into one of television's most popular playwrights, something he certainly did not foresee when he started writing plays. In one of his first conferences, he complained that being a "popular playwright" — according to his own figures, that meant interesting an audience of from 70,000 to 100,000 playgoers—was "hopelessly out of my power," because he had "no taste for popular art, no respect for popular morality, no belief in popular religion, no admiration for popular heroics."

Yet, alas, Shaw's plays have been enormously popular on television, playing to audiences of 20 or 30 million people at a single clip. The "small and uppish group" —his own phrase—that he wrote plays for, has certainly grown to include all sorts of people that he had originally counted on. Eventually it may even include Miss Mansfield who may some day be persuaded to watch "Caesar and Cleopatra" as well as appear in it.

Girl Who Couldn't Stand Sunlight, Dies At Age 13

DETROIT, Aug. 1 (AP)—A girl who could not stand sunlight—13-year-old Diane Eaton—is dead.

Diane was stricken at the age of 7 months. Doctors discovered that little water blisters that broke out on her skin turned into sores when exposed to sunlight.

An operation was performed to remove the girl's spleen, which plays a part in forming blood content. That and the use of drugs to control infection gave Diane almost a normal life.

Diane reached the fifth grade in school. For recreation her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Pruett Eaton of East Detroit, took her for auto rides—but always in the evening after the sun had gone down.

However, Diane's face and hands, because they were most exposed to light, were nearly always infected. Her bones became extremely brittle and she suffered many fractures—14 in her legs alone.

The child, one of three in the family, died Friday. She was buried yesterday.

Oils, Metals, Aircrafts Lead Market To Advance

NEW YORK, July 31 (AP) — Oils, metals and aircrafts led the stock market to its most decisive advance in more than two weeks today.

Steels, which had demonstrated their ability to withstand profit-taking following the labor settlement, went ahead solidly.

Oils, especially those with heavy Near East interests, recouped a good part of their losses as developments in the Suez Canal situation remained fairly quiet.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose $1.30 to $190.70, with the industrials up $1.80, the rails up $1.50 and the utilities up 30 cents, to still another new high for the latter component.

Volume stepped to 2,520,000 shares compared with 2,100,000 yesterday, the highest since July 18.

U.S. Steel Corp., whose usual dividend was announced after the close of the market, was the day's most active stock, up 1⅜ at 65⅝ on 57,100 shares. Second most active was Sperry Rand, 70 ⅛ at 26¾ on 46,400 shares. Third was Republic Steel up 1⅜ at 51⅜ on 44,300 shares.

Next came Sunray Oil, up ⅛ at 29⅞ and Standard Oil (NJ) up 1 at 60.

Thirteen of the 15 most active stocks were higher.

Steels included gains of 2⅛ by Bethlehem, and 2⅛ by Youngstown Sheet & Tube.

International Nickel ran ahead 5¾ on news that the government will pay premium prices to encourage expansion of nickel production.

Facing a strike deadline, Alcoa gained 3¼ and Reynolds Metals ½. Aluminium Ltd., was up 3⅛.

Kennecott was up 3, Anaconda ¼ and American Smelting 1⅞.

Among chemicals, Union Carbide was up 2¼, Du Pont ¾ and American Cyanamid 1½.

Television And Radio

By JOHN CROSBY

Miss Mansfield And GBS

You had to get up very early to watch Jayne Mansfield play Cleopatra in George Bernard Shaw's "Caesar and Cleopatra" on "Today" last week. By very early I mean 8:15 a. m. or so, if you planned to get breakfast down, and, good God, man, you wouldn't want to watch Miss Mansfield play Cleopatra on an empty stomach, would you?

The occasion was the hundredth anniversary of Shaw's birth and it was good of Miss Mansfield to crowd a memorial to the testy old Irishman into her busy schedule. Normally, she's opening supermarkets or appearing as Miss Subways or some such thing. She is one of the most indefatigable appearers at movie premieres, though, of course, she never gets around to seeing the movies, because she's in a play, "Will Success Spoil Rock Hunter," which, unfortunately, goes on just about the time the movies start.

Still, she's never been hesitant about praising a movie she hasn't seen to the TV cameras, or anything else that happens to be around. Just as a guess, I'd say her acquaintance with Shaw is about equal to her knowledge of those movies she hasn't seen. It was just a fragment of Cleopatra, but it was richly rewarding to those students who have watched Vivian Leigh, Claire Bloom and other lesser actresses struggle with this role.

"You must not talk to me now as if I were a child," she said, pouting prettily. Well, come to think of it, Shaw wrote the line to be said just that way, and maybe he would have liked it. Miss Mansfield went on to prate about a noble Roman whose "round arms shine in the sun like marble." She wasn't, it developed, talking about Mickey Hargitay — or whatever his name was — but about Marc Antony. Anyhow, Miss Mansfield got through the passage all right, staring limply into the cameras and knitting her brows only over the hard words.

"Oh, I loved it. I just loved it," she said afterwards to Jack Lescoulie, who played Caesar with a laurel wreath on his head and a microphone draped around his shoulders. Shaw would probably have loved it, too. Cleopatra probably spun in her grave — but not Shaw. He was a clown in his own rights and, like Miss Mansfield, he would go to almost any length to attract attention. When Shaw made his round-the-world trip in 1933, the late Clarence Day, author of "Life with Father," who was crippled with arthritis, hunched his way into his clothes and hobbled off to see Shaw in the newsreels. Day said he was convinced the old man would make a fool of himself in front of the cameras—and he did, skipping around the deck of the ship like a goat. (If Miss Mansfield had been available, Shaw would probably have cavorted around with her.)

On that same trip, Shaw made a speech at the Metropolitan Opera House, carried by NBC. He went on at such great length that NBC had to cancel a couple of commercials to get it all in. The playwright always claimed that the way for a writer to stay popular in America was to insult us at every turn, and that he had never said a decent word about Americans. That isn't true—he said many of them—but there were some digs in that speech that bear repetition. For one thing, he said it was easier than it ought to be to get a rise out of Americans by telling them things about themselves that were true, not only of Americans, but also of every other man on the globe. It's a failing we still have.

Shaw had many jokes at our expense, but we have had some on him. Not the least of these is the fact that Shaw has developed into one of television's most popular playwrights, something he certainly did not foresee when he started writing plays. In one of his first conferences, he complained that being a "popular playwright" — according to his own figures, that meant interesting an audience of from 70,000 to 100,000 playgoers—was "hopelessly out of my power," because he had "no taste for popular art, no respect for popular morality, no belief in popular religion, no admiration for popular heroics."

Yet, alas, Shaw's plays have been enormously popular on television, playing to audiences of 20 or 30 million people at a single clip. The "small and uppish group"—his own phrase—that he wrote plays for, has certainly grown to include all sorts of people that he had originally counted on. Eventually it may even include Miss Mansfield who may some day be persuaded to watch "Caesar and Cleopatra" as well as appear in it.

Girl Who Couldn't Stand Sunlight, Dies At Age 13

DETROIT, Aug. 1 (AP)—A girl who could not stand sunlight—13-year-old Diane Eaton—is dead.

She suffered from a rare disease, called congenital porphyria, lack of a vital protein in the blood that deprived her skin of normal pigments.

Diane was stricken at the age of 7 months. Doctors discovered that little water blisters that broke out on her skin turned into sores when exposed to sunlight.

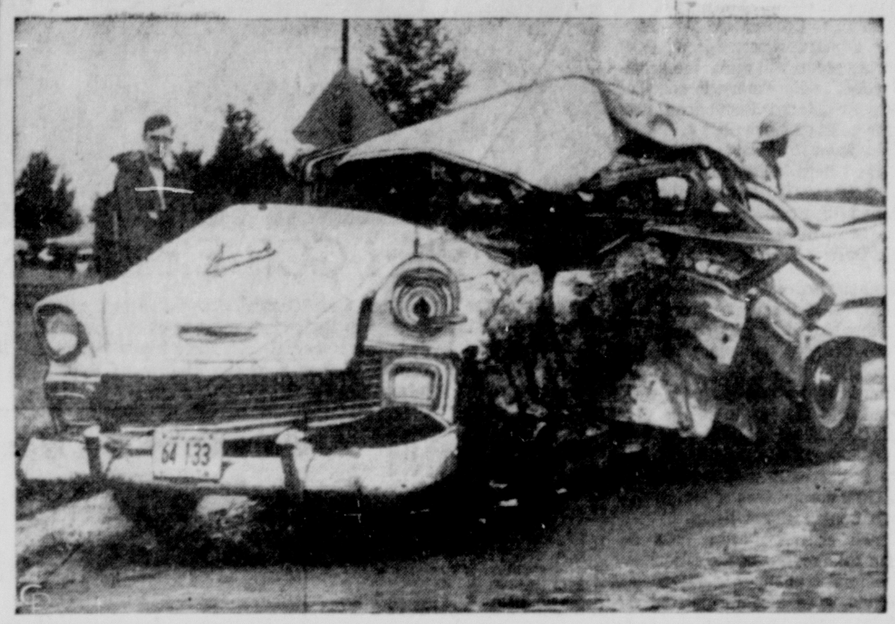

An operation was performed to remove the girl's spleen, which plays a part in forming blood content. That and the use of drugs to control infection gave Diane almost a normal life.

Diane reached the fifth grade in school. For recreation her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Pruett Eaton of East Detroit, took her for auto rides—but always in the evening after the sun had gone down.

However, Diane's face and hands, because they were most exposed to light, were nearly always infected. Her bones became extremely brittle and she suffered many fractures—14 in her legs alone.

The child, one of three in the family, died Friday. She was buried yesterday.

GOP Leaders Plan Active Fall Campaign

Getty Says Party Will 'Run Scared'

Leaders of Allegany County's Republican Party last night set plans in motion for making full use of the party's 5,500 majority in the November election.

James S. Getty, chairman of the Republican Committee for Allegany County, reported that GOP steering group will make the greatest effort in its history to see that every registered Republican gets to the polls on November 6.

"We know," he said, "that if we get the voters to the polls they will do their part" toward the re-election of President Eisenhower, Senator John Marshall Butler and Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde.

"Running Scared"

Getty said the party is not taking anything for granted in Allegany County, but is "running scared."

Plans for the fall campaign were formulated last night as the Central Committee met in the Fort Cumberland Hotel with Rep. Hyde, who is currently meeting with all the GOP committees of Maryland's Sixth Congressional District.

Much of the meeting was devoted to a review of the Eisenhower administration.

Plans were also formulated for raising funds to finance the campaign and for setting the vote-getting machinery in motion.

Special Events

A number of special events will be held here during October as the campaign gets rolling into high gear, Getty said.

Rep. Hyde will be in Allegany County during the week of September 10 for a week's campaign, and plans to make a number of brief visits to Western Maryland to check on the progress of the vote drive.

Senator Butler, Getty said, will spend a week in Allegany County but has not yet completed his campaign itinerary.

Getty said the committee is calling upon every Republican organization in the county to take an active part in the campaign.

Women's Republican clubs in Cumberland and Frostburg, he added, will be asked to provide workers for precinct organizations.

Confident Of Results

He said the party is confident of results if it can get all of its members to the polls.

Rep. Hyde conferred with the committee in one of the series of pre-election conferences in his district.

He met with Garrett GOP leaders Monday and today is slated to confer with the Washington County committee and next Monday with the Frederick County GOP steering group. Strategy in Montgomery County was mapped a week ago.

Rep. Hyde said he will open his active campaign after Labor Day and devote a week to each county in his district.

He said he expects to win but has "never run in an election that he did not run scared."

Plan GOP Election Strategy

Sen. See Will Follow Up On Traffic Count

State Senator Charles M. See reported yesterday that the Maryland State Roads Commission has advised that a traffic count at the intersection of U. S. 220 and Maryland Route 53 failed to justify installing a traffic control light at the point now served by a flashing signal.

He said he will follow through with a suggestion by G. Bates Chaires, district SRC engineer, that another survey be made this fall when school is in session.

The request for the traffic control, Sen. See said, was made by a Cresaptown citizens group through the Cresaptown Volunteer Fire Company.

The people, he added, believe the blinker light now installed at the intersection is inadequate and that the spot should be protected by a stop-and-go signal light, particularly when children are going to and from school.

It is necessary, he added, for a number of school children to cross the highway at that point.

Chaires, in advising of the result of the traffic study said he was requesting Lt. W. E. O'Hara, commander of the LaVale barracks of the Maryland State Police, to have one of his officers watch out for speeding or other traffic violations at that point.

Chaires enclosed a report from the SRC's traffic bureau on a traffic study made July 12 from 7 a. m. to 7 p. m.

George N. Lewis Jr., director, said he agreed with a department analysis that changing from a flashing signal to a traffic control system was not warranted.

Some accidents have occurred, he said, when motorists on the Winchester Road failed to grant the right of way to Route 220 traffic. He said he believed some of the mishaps were caused by the short sight distance.

This, he added, was brought about by vehicles being parked in violation adjacent to the intersection.

Lewis said the traffic count showed that of 645 vehicles which entered Route 220 from Maryland 53, a large proportion (429) turned right, which is not considered a hazardous move, and that only 97 vehicles crossed Route 220, and another 119 made left turns.

He said he believes the condition would improve considerably if police enforce strictly the reduced speed zone on Route 220 and the no stopping and no parking zones.

Parents' Help Needed:

Police To Wage Campaign Against Street 'Hot Rods'

Keegan Announces Anti-Speed Drive

The Cumberland Police Department is waging a campaign against "hot rodders" who are making a practice of speeding along city streets, "gunning" their motors and pulling away from intersections to the tune of screeching tires.

Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan said yesterday that the campaign will be intensified and that all offenders will pay the penalty.

Commissioner Keegan is seeking the full cooperation of parents in the drive against the street hot rodder. He pointed out that it would be wiser for parents to advise their children "over the breakfast or dinner table, instead of after they come off the operating table."

A large number of complaints of speeding and unnecessary noise have been received by Keegan, who said that radar equipment will be used more extensively to curb the offenders.

Among the streets where speeding is prevalent are Washington Street, Fayette Street, Greene Street, Williams Street and Maryland Avenue.

Even though the Police Department is short staffed at the present, radar, which requires two officers to operate, will be used more extensively in the campaign.

Cruisers patrolling the streets of Cumberland also will be on the lookout for speeding motorists. Unnecessary noise created by hot rod mufflers after the motor is raced will not be tolerated, Keegan added.

Better Phone Service Slated To Mt. Savage

The Board of Directors of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Maryland on Monday authorized the expenditure of $25,000 for increasing the number of circuits to handle additional calls between here and Mt. Savage.

For other parts of Western Maryland the board approved the expenditure of $200,000.

The funds will be used to expand outside cable and wire serving Oakland, and to provide additional circuits from Oakland to Accident, Friendsville and Gormania.

To Cost $1½ Million

Expenditures of $1,500,000 were approved for expanding and improving telephone service in the state.

For the Baltimore area, approval was given to spend $145,000 for new aerial and underground cables to meet the continuing demand for service in the north and northeast sections, principally along Hillen Road and Taylor Avenue and in Campus Hills.

New cable to care for continuing growth in the new Lexington Terrace Housing development will be provided under an authorization amounting to $21,500. An expenditure of $8,500 was approved for placing aerial cable along Turkey Point Road in Essex to meet the demand for service.

For new poles and cables, $99,000 will be spent in Elkton and $42,000 in Perryville. To care for continuing demand for service, $50,000 will be used to provide additional switchboards at Aberdeen.

Dial Expansion Set

For the Eastern Shore, the board authorized expansion of Salisbury's dial switching equipment at a cost of $93,000. An allocation of $70,000 will be used to increase the number of circuits from Easton and Cambridge to Baltimore to care for the increased volume of calls.

In the Maryland area suburban to Washington, an allocation of $139,000 was approved for new aerial and underground cables to care for subscriber growth in Hyattsville. In the Clinton area $16,000 will be spent for new poles and cable to provide for the connection of additional telephones.

The Travelers Aid Society was represented by Mrs. William Lee and Mrs. M. J. Fleming, executive secretary.

The committee has scheduled conferences this afternoon with the Keating Day Nursery and the Salvation Army.

Explaining their needs Thursday afternoon will be representatives of the Associated Charities, the Baby Welfare Society and the Boy Scouts.

LaVale Zoning Plan Receives County Approval

Group To Confer With Delegation

A plan for zoning regulations in the LaVale Sanitary District last night got the green light from all three members of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners.

William H. Lemmert, James Orr and C. N. Wilkinson all said they had no objection if the zoning committee of the LaVale Civic Improvement Association wishes to confer with State Senator Charles M. See and the six members of the Couny Delegation in the House of Delegates from this county.

Harry Kauffman, co-chairman of the association's zoning committee, was the chief spokesman for a delegation of 10 LaVale residents who met at the Court House with the three commissioners. Others present were Gorman E. Getty, attorney to the commissioners; J. Walker Chapman, county roads supervisor, and J. B. Dowling, state sanitarian.

Controls Are Needed

"It is apparent that a constantly expanding LaVale area is in serious need of zoning controls and regulations," Kauffman wrote in a letter addressed to the county commissioners.

"The most direct and seemingly best approach would apparently be to devise a zoning law for the LaVale Sanitary District. The law could be administered either by the LaVale Sanitary Commission or by an independent group. The simpler method would seem to be to designate an organization already in existence, the LaVale Sanitary Commission, as the zoning board, and I have drawn a suggested act to this effect as a basis for discussion only.

"It is, of course, possible also that the Allegany County Commissioners could implement a zoning law under 66B for the entire county, or that the legislature could pass a zoning law for the county as well as LaVale. This, however, raises problems which we in LaVale cannot propose to answer," Kauffman concluded in his letter.

"Orderly Growth" Law

In his suggested law, Kauffman calls for authority for the LaVale Sanitary Commission to adopt a comprehensive plan of zoning rules, regulations and restrictions affecting the erection, extension and use of land in the LaVale Sanitary District, which roughly corresponds to Election District 29.

The purpose of the zoning law would be promotion of health, safety, moral and general welfare, of enhancing safety from fire, panic and other dangers, of reducing traffic congestion, of providing adequate light and air, of preventing the overcrowding of land and undue concentration of population, of abetting provision of schools, parks and public facilities and to promote the orderly growth of the LaVale Sanitary District.

A fine not to exceed $100 would be imposed for violations of the regulations and appeals could be taken directly to Allegany County Circuit Court.

Kauffman emphasized that LaVale is the fastest growing area in the county. He said the LaVale Sanitary Commission, which had about 500 water users at its inception, now has more than 800 customers.

Existing Business Safe

With the generally residential development of LaVale there has been some business and industrial construction in that suburban area. Kauffman emphasized that any zoning regulations could not affect any existing business and industrial properties which would be allowed to continue as non-conforming uses. They would not be able to expand, however.

There was some discussion of the advisability of establishing county-wide zoning regulations but the LaVale group was primarily interested in its own immediate area.

Two Elementary Schools Will Have New Principals

Two new elementary school principal appointments were announced yesterday afternoon by Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of Allegany County public schools.

Mrs. Eleanor Porter Tennant, 717 Louisiana Avenue, who has been principal at Centre Street School since the fall of 1953, was promoted to the principalship at Gephart School.

At Centre Street Mrs. Tennant had a half day teaching schedule, but at Gephart she will devote her full time to her principalship duties.

Works On Master's

A native of Eckhart, Mrs. Tennant was graduated from Beall High School and from Frostburg State Teachers College. She is completing the requirements this summer for her master's degree at Columbia University in New York City.

Mrs. Tennant taught her first year at the old Swain School and was on the faculty at Virginia Avenue School until she received her promotion to Centre Street as principal in 1953.

She succeeds Miss Elizabeth I. Flake, 445 Baltimore Avenue, who became an elementary school supervisor this summer.

Succeeds Mrs. Tennant

Thomas M. Wagner, 905 Kentucky Avenue, who has taught in South End schools since graduation from Frostburg State Teachers College in 1953, was elevated to the principalship vacated by Mrs. Tennant at Centre Street School.

Wagner was graduated from Fort Hill High School in 1940. After completing his studies at Frostburg State Teachers College he divided his time for the next two years between John Humbird and Virginia Avenue schools. The past year he has taught sixth grade only at Virginia Avenue. He took his master's at Columbia University.

City Approves Social Security

Wallace G. Ullery, city clerk, said 119 ballots were cast in the referendum and that all were in favor of the proposal.

Eligible to vote on the issue were the 136 city workers who are enrolled in the state retirement system.

Adoption means that all city workers will be placed under the federal old age assistance program, retroactive to January 1, 1956.

Last year's budget contained an item of $8,000 to match employe deductions.

Bedford Road Man Burned By Kerosene

Sacred Heart Hospital said Raymond Drake, RFD 3 Bedford Road, was admitted for observation. Kerosene which was in the pile of brush ignited and exploded, burning Drake in the face.

Two Canadians Remain 'Critical' In Fatal Crash

A Canadian man and his wife were still in critical condition last night at War Memorial Hospital, Berkeley Springs, W. Va., where they were admitted Monday with injuries from a two-car crash in which two residents of Ebensburg, Pa., met death.

A sister of the two victims is reported in "pretty good" condition at the hospital. In semi-conscious condition at the hospital are Joseph Koessl, 51, of Windsor, Ontario, who sustained chest injuries; and his wife, Emily, also 51, who suffered a fractured skull and internal injuries.

Her two sisters, Miss Loretta E. Prindible, 75, and Miss Hanna A. Prindible, 88, both of 109 West Horner Street, Ebensburg, died in the crash.

Motorist Sees Collision

The accident occurred on Route 522 about eight miles from Berkeley Springs. It was witnessed by Charles N. Wilhelm of Pittsburgh, a Standard Oil Company executive, according to Cpl. Charles F. Burke of the West Virginia State Police detachment at Berkeley Springs.

Wilhelm told police he was following the northbound auto driven by Miss Loretta Prindible when he saw her slowly veer to the left side of the road in the southbound lane of traffic.

The Pittsburgh man said he figured the driver was asleep and blew his horn to try to awaken her, but didn't succeed. He said he knew an accident was imminent and brought his car to a stop.

Cars Hit Headon

The car driven by Koessl was traveling south at a moderate rate of speed and crashed headon into the Prindible car after coming over a slight rise in the highway.

Koessl's car came to a stop 60 feet from the point of impact, and the Pennsylvania car 20 feet from the point of impact.

Cpl. Burke said there were no tire friction marks leading to the point of contact. The accident occurred in the middle of a straight stretch of highway.

The surviving Prindible sister said they had left Roanoke Monday morning. They stopped in Winchester for lunch and a short shopping tour of the business district before continuing their trip home.

Miss Prindible said she fell asleep in the back seat, and when she next awakened she was on the floor.

State Welfare Officials Will See Camp Sites

To Inspect Areas In Garrett County

Five state welfare officials will be in Western Maryland Thursday to inspect the state's first rehabilitation camp for delinquent boys at Green Ridge State Forest and to examine two sites for prospective additional camps in Garrett County.

Thomas J. S. Waxter, director of the State Department of Public Welfare, said in Baltimore last night that the General Assembly has appropriated $100,000 for the organization of two more rehabilitation camps.

He and four of the eight members of the State Board of Public Welfare will come to the Green Ridge State Forest for lunch Thursday and then will proceed to Garrett County in the afternoon.

Conference Scheduled

The State Department of Public Welfare is interested in inspecting prospective camp sites throughout the state before making a decision on the definite locations. Judge Waxter emphasized that before any decistion on location of camps in Garrett County is made, the department will first confer with the Garrett County Board of Commissioners.

Both Garrett County sites were formerly CCC camps during depression days. One is located just two or three miles west of Lonaconing and the other is in the Savage River State Forest and not far from New Germany.

Members of the State Board of Public Welfare who will visit the camp sites are W. Thomas Kemp of Baltimore, Dr. Kenneth Jones of Cambridge, a psychiatrist; Dr. Sanford V. Larkey, a member of the staff of Johns Hopkins Hospital, and Joseph Meyerhoff, a Baltimore builder.

Used For Rehabilitation

The Green Ridge State Forest camp was started in May 1955 with Waynard O. Federline as director. About 20 to 25 boys who have been confined at the State Reformatory are transferred to the camp for the final three months of rehabilitation before they are returned to their homes.

The boys work six hours a day in logging operations under direction of an employe of the State Department of Forests and Parks and are paid 50 cents a day for their efforts.

State Forester H. C. Buckingham and District Forester William H. Johnson will meet with the state welfare officials.

Goldstein Fills Md. Democrat Delegation Post

BALTIMORE, July 31 (AP)—Senate President Louis L. Goldstein (D-Calvert) today was named a delegate to the Democratic National Convention. He filled the vacancy created when Millard E. Tydings dropped out of the delegation because of ill health.

Goldstein was aligned with Tydings last Spring in Tydings' successful campaign for the Democratic nomination to the U. S. Senate. His appointment by Harrington, a member of the rival party faction headed by George P. Mahoney, defeated by Tydings, appeared to be another move to seal the factional rift.

Tydings, senator for 24 years before he was unseated by Republican Sen. John Marshall Butler six years ago, resigned as a convention delegate because of an extended illness, apparently to conserve himself for the general election campaign.

Philip B. Perlman, former U.S. solicitor general in the Truman Administration and another Tydings backer, last week refused to accept the vacant seat in the delegation after diehard members of the Mahoney camp replaced him on the important platform and resolutions committee for the convention with a Mahoney supporter.

In his statement announcing the appointment of Goldstein, Harrington said:

"As presiding officer of the upper house of the General Assembly, Sen. Goldstein is deserving of recognition in party affairs, and I believe that his selection will meet with the approval of his fellow delegates and Maryland Democrats generally."

Paper Contract Talks Begin

WASHINGTON, July 31 (AP) — Proposals for a new wage contract were exchanged today at a meeting of management and union representatives of West Virginia Pulp & Paper Co.

A company representative said the negotiators will meet again tomorrow to begin discussions of the contract proposals for approximately 3,500 members of the United Paper Workers of America (AFL-CIO) employed at the company's plants at Covington, Va., Luke, Md., and Williamsburg, Pa.

The present contract expires Nov. 17.

The company official said the negotiations do not involve the company's plant at Mechanicville, N.Y., where another union, the United Mine Workers (Ind) has 930 employes on strike.

July Brought 5.09 Inches Of Rain On 22 Of 31 Days

In fact it was unusually wet—almost two inches above the normal rainfall of 3.26 inches. Robert R. Golden, official weather observer at Constitution Park, related a few soggy statistics yesterday on the precipitation.

He said some 5.09 inches fell this July, in comparison with 2.27 inches a year ago in July, when rain fell on four days of the month.

During July this year rain fell in Cumberland on 22 of the 31 days. The heaviest concentration of rain was July 19, 20, and 21, when a total of 1.93 inches drenched the city.

However, streams and rivers of the area were able to handle the extra precipitation and high water was not a major problem, although during a concentrated drenching some smaller streams left their banks and rural roads were underwater for awhile.

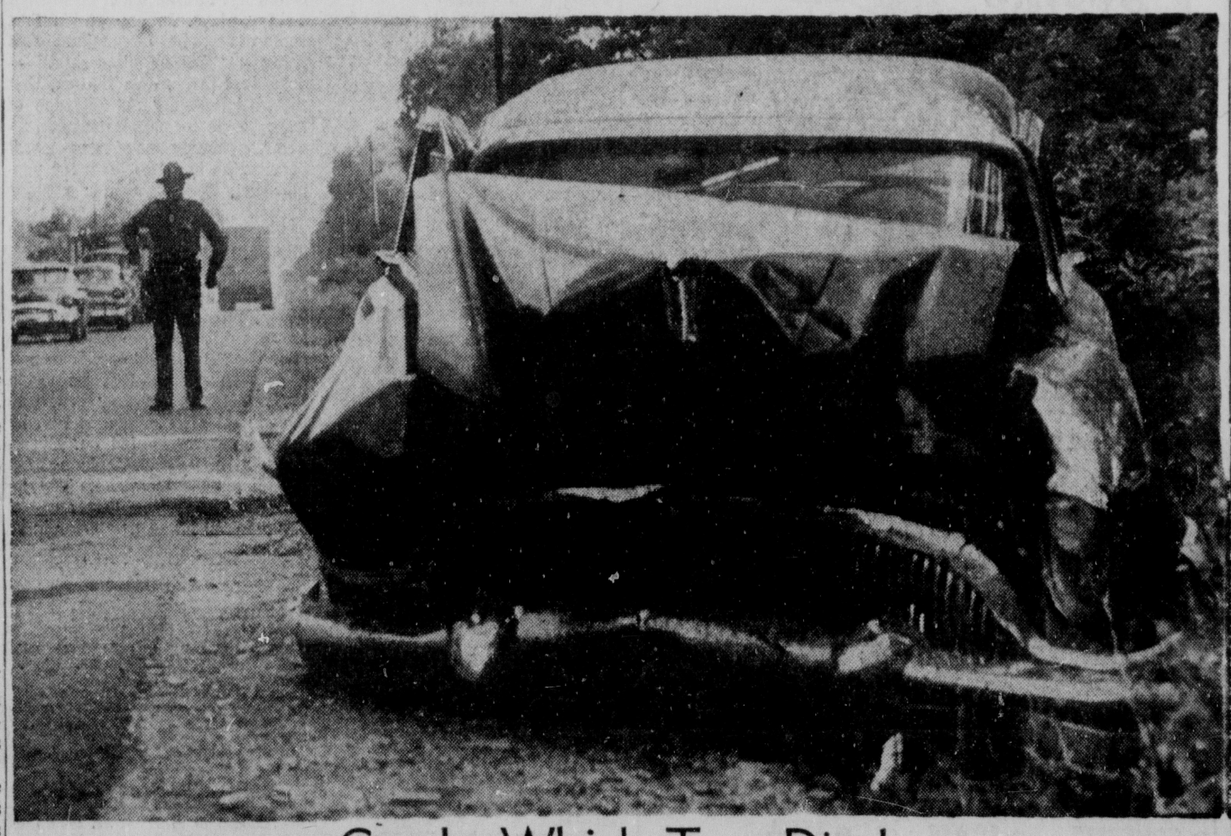

If the first day's forecast is an indication of weather which will prevail during the month, then the outlook for August is more rain.

The weatherman yesterday predicted possible thundershowers this afternoon or this evening. The temperature is expected to go into the mid-80s.

GOP Leaders Plan Active Fall Campaign

Getty Says Party Will 'Run Scared'

Leaders of Allegany County's Republican Party last night set plans in motion for making full use of the party's 5,500 majority in the November election.

James S. Getty, chairman of the Republican Committee for Allegany County, reported that GOP steering group will make the greatest effort in its history to see that every registered Republican gets to the polls on November 6.

"We know," he said, "that if we get the voters to the polls they will do their part" toward the re-election of President Eisenhower, Senator John Marshall Butler and Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde.

"Running Scared"

Getty said the party is not taking anything for granted in Allegany County, but is "running scared."

Plans for the fall campaign were formulated last night as the Central Committee met in the Fort Cumberland Hotel with Rep. Hyde, who is currently meeting with all the GOP committees of Maryland's Sixth Congressional District.

Much of the meeting was devoted to a review of the Eisenhower administration.

Plans were also formulated for raising funds to finance the campaign and for setting the vote-getting machinery in motion.

Special Events

A number of special events will be held here during October as the campaign gets rolling into high gear, Getty said.

Rep. Hyde will be in Allegany County during the week of September 10 for a week's campaign, and plans to make a number of brief visits to Western Maryland to check on the progress of the vote drive.

Senator Butler, Getty said, will spend a week in Allegany County but has not yet completed his campaign itinerary.

Getty said the committee is calling upon every Republican organization in the county to take an active part in the campaign.

Women's Republican clubs in Cumberland and Frostburg, he added, will be asked to provide workers for precinct organizations.

Confident Of Results

He said the party is confident of results if it can get all of its members to the polls.

Rep. Hyde conferred with the committee in one of the series of pre-election conferences in his district.

He met with Garrett GOP leaders Monday and today is slated to confer with the Washington County committee and next Monday with the Frederick County GOP steering group. Strategy in Montgomery County was mapped a week ago.

Rep. Hyde said he will open his active campaign after Labor Day and devote a week to each county in his district.

He said he expects to win but has "never run in an election that he did not run scared."

Plan GOP Election Strategy

Sen. See Will Follow Up On Traffic Count

State Senator Charles M. See reported yesterday that the Maryland State Roads Commission has advised that a traffic count at the intersection of U. S. 220 and Maryland Route 53 failed to justify installing a traffic control light at the point now served by a flashing signal.

He said he will follow through with a suggestion by G. Bates Chaires, district SRC engineer, that another survey be made this fall when school is in session.

The request for the traffic control, Sen. See said, was made by a Cresaptown citizens group through the Cresaptown Volunteer Fire Company.

The people, he added, believe the blinker light now installed at the intersection is inadequate and that the spot should be protected by a stop-and-go signal light, particularly when children are going to and from school.

It is necessary, he added, for a number of school children to cross the highway at that point.

Chaires, in advising of the result of the traffic study said he was requesting Lt. W. E. O'Hara, commander of the LaVale barracks of the Maryland State Police, to have one of his officers watch out for speeding or other traffic violations at that point.

Chaires enclosed a report from the SRC's traffic bureau on a traffic study made July 12 from 7 a. m. to 7 p. m.

George N. Lewis Jr., director, said he agreed with a department analysis that changing from a flashing signal to a traffic control system was not warranted.

Some accidents have occurred, he said, when motorists on the Winchester Road failed to grant the right of way to Route 220 traffic. He said he believed some of the mishaps were caused by the short sight distance.

This, he added, was brought about by vehicles being parked in violation adjacent to the intersection.

Lewis said the traffic count showed that of 645 vehicles which entered Route 220 from Maryland 53, a large proportion (429) turned right, which is not considered a hazardous move, and that only 97 vehicles crossed Route 220, and another 119 made left turns.

He said he believes the condition would improve considerably if police enforce strictly the reduced speed zone on Route 220 and the no stopping and no parking zones.

Parents' Help Needed:

Police To Wage Campaign Against Street 'Hot Rods'

Keegan Announces Anti-Speed Drive

The Cumberland Police Department is waging a campaign against "hot rodders" who are making a practice of speeding along city streets, "gunning" their motors and pulling away from intersections to the tune of screeching tires.

Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan said yesterday that the campaign will be intensified and that all offenders will pay the penalty.

Commissioner Keegan is seeking the full cooperation of parents in the drive against the street hot rodder. He pointed out that it would be wiser for parents to advise their children "over the breakfast or dinner table, instead of after they come off the operating table."

A large number of complaints of speeding and unnecessary noise have been received by Keegan, who said that radar equipment will be used more extensively to curb the offenders.

Among the streets where speeding is prevalent are Washington Street, Fayette Street, Greene Street, Williams Street and Maryland Avenue.

Even though the Police Department is short staffed at the present, radar, which requires two officers to operate, will be used more extensively in the campaign.

Cruisers patrolling the streets of Cumberland also will be on the lookout for speeding motorists. Unnecessary noise created by hot rod mufflers after the motor is raced will not be tolerated, Keegan added.

Better Phone Service Slated To Mt. Savage

Better telephone service between Cumberland and Mt. Savage is on the way.

The Board of Directors of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Maryland on Monday authorized the expenditure of $25,000 for increasing the number of circuits to handle additional calls between here and Mt. Savage.

For other parts of Western Maryland the board approved the expenditure of $200,000.

The funds will be used to expand outside cable and wire serving Oakland, and to provide additional circuits from Oakland to Accident, Friendsville and Gormania.

To Cost $1½ Million

Expenditures of $1,500,000 were approved for expanding and improving telephone service in the state.

For the Baltimore area, approval was given to spend $145,000 for new aerial and underground cables to meet the continuing demand for service in the north and northeast sections, principally along Hillen Road and Taylor Avenue and in Campus Hills.

New cable to care for continuing growth in the new Lexington Terrace Housing development will be provided under an authorization amounting to $21,500. An expenditure of $8,500 was approved for placing aerial cable along Turkey Point Road in Essex to meet the demand for service.

For new poles and cables, $99,000 will be spent in Elkton and $42,000 in Perryville. To care for continuing demand for service, $50,000 will be used to provide additional switchboards at Aberdeen.

Dial Expansion Set

For the Eastern Shore, the board authorized expansion of Salisbury's dial switching equipment at a cost of $93,000. An allocation of $70,000 will be used to increase the number of circuits from Easton and Cambridge to Baltimore to care for the increased volume of calls.

In the Maryland area suburban to Washington, an allocation of $139,000 was approved for new aerial and underground cables to care for subscriber growth in Hyattsville. In the Clinton area $16,000 will be spent for new poles and cable to provide for the connection of additional telephones.

The Travelers Aid Society was represented by Mrs. William Lee and Mrs. M. J. Fleming, executive secretary.

The committee has scheduled conferences this afternoon with the Keating Day Nursery and the Salvation Army.

LaVale Zoning Plan Receives County Approval

Group To Confer With Delegation

A plan for zoning regulations in the LaVale Sanitary District last night got the green light from all three members of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners.

William H. Lemmert, James Orr and C. N. Wilkinson all said they had no objection if the zoning committee of the LaVale Civic Improvement Association wishes to confer with State Senator Charles M. See and the six members of the Couny Delegation in the House of Delegates from this county.

Harry Kauffman, co-chairman of the association's zoning committee, was the chief spokesman for a delegation of 10 LaVale residents who met at the Court House with the three commissioners. Others present were Gorman E. Getty, attorney to the commissioners; J. Walker Chapman, county roads supervisor, and J. B. Dowling, state sanitarian.

Controls Are Needed

"It is apparent that a constantly expanding LaVale area is in serious need of zoning controls and regulations," Kauffman wrote in a letter addressed to the county commissioners.

"The most direct and seemingly best approach would apparently be to devise a zoning law for the LaVale Sanitary District. The law could be administered either by the LaVale Sanitary Commission or by an independent group. The simpler method would seem to be to designate an organization already in existence, the LaVale Sanitary Commission, as the zoning board, and I have drawn a suggested act to this effect as a basis for discussion only.

"It is, of course, possible also that the Allegany County Commissioners could implement a zoning law under 66B for the entire county, or that the legislature could pass a zoning law for the county as well as LaVale. This, however, raises problems which we in LaVale cannot propose to answer," Kauffman concluded in his letter.

"Orderly Growth" Law

In his suggested law, Kauffman calls for authority for the LaVale Sanitary Commission to adopt a comprehensive plan of zoning rules, regulations and restrictions affecting the erection, extension and use of land in the LaVale Sanitary District, which roughly corresponds to Election District 29.

The purpose of the zoning law would be promotion of health, safety, moral and general welfare, of enhancing safety from fire, panic and other dangers, of reducing traffic congestion, of providing adequate light and air, of preventing the overcrowding of land and undue concentration of population, of abetting provision of schools, parks and public facilities and to promote the orderly growth of the LaVale Sanitary District.

A fine not to exceed $100 would be imposed for violations of the regulations and appeals could be taken directly to Allegany County Circuit Court.

Kauffman emphasized that LaVale is the fastest growing area in the county. He said the LaVale Sanitary Commission, which had about 500 water users at its inception, now has more than 800 customers.

Existing Business Safe

With the generally residential development of LaVale there has been some business and industrial construction in that suburban area. Kauffman emphasized that any zoning regulations could not affect any existing business and industrial properties which would be allowed to continue as non-conforming uses. They would not be able to expand, however.

There was some discussion of the advisability of establishing county-wide zoning regulations but the LaVale group was primarily interested in its own immediate area.

Two Elementary Schools Will Have New Principals

Two new elementary school principal appointments were announced yesterday afternoon by Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of Allegany County public schools.

Mrs. Eleanor Porter Tennant, 717 Louisiana Avenue, who has been principal at Centre Street School since the fall of 1953, was promoted to the principalship at Gephart School.

At Centre Street Mrs. Tennant had a half day teaching schedule, but at Gephart she will devote her full time to her principalship duties.

Works On Master's

A native of Eckhart, Mrs. Tennant was graduated from Beall High School and from Frostburg State Teachers College. She is completing the requirements this summer for her master's degree at Columbia University in New York City.

Mrs. Tennant taught her first year at the old Swain School and was on the faculty at Virginia Avenue School until she received her promotion to Centre Street as principal in 1953.

She succeeds Miss Elizabeth I. Flake, 445 Baltimore Avenue, who became an elementary school supervisor this summer.

Succeeds Mrs. Tennant

Thomas M. Wagner, 905 Kentucky Avenue, who has taught in South End schools since graduation from Frostburg State Teachers College in 1953, was elevated to the principalship vacated by Mrs. Tennant at Centre Street School.

Wagner was graduated from Fort Hill High School in 1940. After completing his studies at Frostburg State Teachers College he divided his time for the next two years between John Humbird and Virginia Avenue schools. The past year he has taught sixth grade only at Virginia Avenue. He took his master's at Columbia University.

City Approves Social Security

City workers yesterday voted unanimously for Social Security.

Wallace G. Ullery, city clerk, said 119 ballots were cast in the referendum and that all were in favor of the proposal.

Eligible to vote on the issue were the 136 city workers who are enrolled in the state retirement system.

Sixty-nine votes were needed for the sanction of tthe plan.

Adoption means that all city workers will be placed under the federal old age assistance program, retroactive to January 1, 1956.

Bedford Road Man Burned By Kerosene

A 52-year-old area man was burned about the face yesterday afternoon after he threw a lighted match into a pile of brush.

Sacred Heart Hospital said Raymond Drake, RFD 3 Bedford Road, was admitted for observation. Kerosene which was in the pile of brush ignited and exploded, burning Drake in the face.

Two Canadians Remain 'Critical' In Fatal Crash

A Canadian man and his wife were still in critical condition last night at War Memorial Hospital, Berkeley Springs, W. Va., where they were admitted Monday with injuries from a two-car crash in which two residents of Ebensburg, Pa., met death.

A sister of the two victims is reported in "pretty good" condition at the hospital. In semi-conscious condition at the hospital are Joseph Koessl, 51, of Windsor, Ontario, who sustained chest injuries; and his wife, Emily, also 51, who suffered a fractured skull and internal injuries.

Motorist Sees Collision

The accident occurred on Route 522 about eight miles from Berkeley Springs. It was witnessed by Charles N. Wilhelm of Pittsburgh, a Standard Oil Company executive, according to Cpl. Charles F. Burke of the West Virginia State Police detachment at Berkeley Springs.

Wilhelm told police he was following the northbound auto driven by Miss Loretta Prindible when he saw her slowly veer to the left side of the road in the southbound lane of traffic.

The Pittsburgh man said he figured the driver was asleep and blew his horn to try to awaken her, but didn't succeed. He said he knew an accident was imminent and brought his car to a stop.

Cars Hit Headon

The car driven by Koessl was traveling south at a moderate rate of speed and crashed headon into the Prindible car after coming over a slight rise in the highway.

Koessl's car came to a stop 60 feet from the point of impact, and the Pennsylvania car 20 feet from the point of impact.

Cpl. Burke said there were no tire friction marks leading to the point of contact. The accident occurred in the middle of a straight stretch of highway.

The surviving Prindible sister said they had left Roanoke Monday morning. They stopped in Winchester for lunch and a short shopping tour of the business district before continuing their trip home.

Miss Prindible said she fell asleep in the back seat, and when she next awakened she was on the floor.

State Welfare Officials Will See Camp Sites

To Inspect Areas In Garrett County

Five state welfare officials will be in Western Maryland Thursday to inspect the state's first rehabilitation camp for delinquent boys at Green Ridge State Forest and to examine two sites for prospective additional camps in Garrett County.

Thomas J. S. Waxter, director of the State Department of Public Welfare, said in Baltimore last night that the General Assembly has appropriated $100,000 for the organization of two more rehabilitation camps.

He and four of the eight members of the State Board of Public Welfare will come to the Green Ridge State Forest for lunch Thursday and then will proceed to Garrett County in the afternoon.

Conference Scheduled

The State Department of Public Welfare is interested in inspecting prospective camp sites throughout the state before making a decision on the definite locations. Judge Waxter emphasized that before any decistion on location of camps in Garrett County is made, the department will first confer with the Garrett County Board of Commissioners.

Both Garrett County sites were formerly CCC camps during depression days. One is located just two or three miles west of Lonaconing and the other is in the Savage River State Forest and not far from New Germany.

Members of the State Board of Public Welfare who will visit the camp sites are W. Thomas Kemp of Baltimore, Dr. Kenneth Jones of Cambridge, a psychiatrist; Dr. Sanford V. Larkey, a member of the staff of Johns Hopkins Hospital, and Joseph Meyerhoff, a Baltimore builder.

Used For Rehabilitation

The Green Ridge State Forest camp was started in May 1955 with Waynard O. Federline as director. About 20 to 25 boys who have been confined at the State Reformatory are transferred to the camp for the final three months of rehabilitation before they are returned to their homes.

The boys work six hours a day in logging operations under direction of an employe of the State Department of Forests and Parks and are paid 50 cents a day for their efforts.

State Forester H. C. Buckingham and District Forester William H. Johnson will meet with the state welfare officials.

Goldstein Fills Md. Democrat Delegation Post

BALTIMORE, July 31 (AP)—Senate President Louis L. Goldstein (D-Calvert) today was named a delegate to the Democratic National Convention. He filled the vacancy created when Millard E. Tydings dropped out of the delegation because of ill health.

The appointment was announced by T. Barton Harrington, chairman of the Democratic state central committee.

Goldstein was aligned with Tydings last Spring in Tydings' successful campaign for the Democratic nomination to the U. S. Senate. His appointment by Harrington, a member of the rival party faction headed by George P. Mahoney, defeated by Tydings, appeared to be another move to seal the factional rift.

Tydings, senator for 24 years before he was unseated by Republican Sen. John Marshall Butler six years ago, resigned as a convention delegate because of an extended illness, apparently to conserve himself for the general election campaign.

Philip B. Perlman, former U.S. solicitor general in the Truman Administration and another Tydings backer, last week refused to accept the vacant seat in the delegation after diehard members of the Mahoney camp replaced him on the important platform and resolutions committee for the convention with a Mahoney supporter.

In his statement announcing the appointment of Goldstein, Harrington said:

"As presiding officer of the upper house of the General Assembly, Sen. Goldstein is deserving of recognition in party affairs, and I believe that his selection will meet with the approval of his fellow delegates and Maryland Democrats generally."
